John T. Kirk of Vernonia, pioneer Morrow county resident who has taken a fancy to the wives of Columbia county, visited with old-time friends here the end of the week, taking Thanksgiving dinner at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jepson, near Ione. Mrs. Kirk did not accompany him as she was called to Seattle a short time ago to assist in caring for a brother who is bedfast. Mr. Kirk reports the lumbering industry at Vernonia is being taken on signs of a pick-up, giving promise of more business there. His son-in-law, John Bush, is engaged in the theater and trucking business at Vernonia, and he and Mrs. Kirk are interested in a restaurant and refreshment business.

Orve Rasmus and Jim Cash fell victim to the lure of wild hog hunting last week and were successful in landing two nice specimens of the once domesticated animals which reverted to nature near the head of Skinner creek. The animals originated on the Jerome O'Connor farm. They became a nuisance on turning wild, and open season on them was announced. Their numbers are reported to have increased greatly, but many have been killed, leaving but little evidence of them remaining, according to latest reports.

George N. Peck and family returned the first of the week from a visit of several days with relatives at different points in the Willamette valley. They visited with his mother at Eugene and report that Mrs. Dorman is enjoying good health and is happy at the home for the aged of the Christian church in that city. B. H. Peck accompanied his brother and family on the trip but was called back home by the sudden death of his little grandson, James Peck, buried at Lexington on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Buseick and children of Long Creek spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Buseick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Watsenburger at Pine City, and visited in Heppner on Saturday before going to Portland for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Schwarz. Mr. Buseick, a graduate of Heppner high school with many friends here, now helps supply the general merchandise trade at the Grant county town.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dunlap, accompanied by Albert Geiger, nephew of Mrs. Dunlap, were visitors here over the week end, being guests at the home of Frank S. Parker. Mr. Dunlap is a cousin of Mrs. Parker and Vawter Crawford and is a leading farmer in the Wabburg country. They spent Thanksgiving with friends at Boardman and drove on over to Heppner Friday.

Miss Linea Troedson and brother, Frances, motored to the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johan Troedson in the Ione section, for Thanksgiving. Miss Troedson is teaching in the girls' polytechnic school, Portland, and Frances is a freshman at Oregon State college. They visited in Heppner on Thursday evening, accompanied by their brother, Vernon.

Mrs. Charles Wormell of Mariin, Ohio, aunt of B. H. and Geo. N. Peck of Lexington, arrived recently and has been visiting at the homes of her relatives in this county. The past week she accompanied the Pecks to Eugene where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. T. L. Dorman. Mrs. Wormell expects to spend the winter in Oregon.

Guests from Arlington Thanksgiving evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Barratt included Mr. and Mrs. Art Smythe, Mr. and Mrs. Syd Smythe, Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wheelhouse, and the Misses Alta and Louise Wheelhouse. All enjoyed the dance at the Elks hall that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Corley of Ione had as their house guests for Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. Rex Smith of Vader, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fowler and daughter Maxine of Portland, sisters of Mrs. Corley, and Mrs. L. Sautaire of Portland, a niece. All returned to their respective homes Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Clark, who recently disposed of their farming equipment in the Eight Mile section, have now moved to Eugene where they contemplate locating for the winter, at least. The G. T. will reach them regularly at their new address, 609 E. 16th St., Eugene, Oregon.

The Misses Mary and Kate Mulligan of San Diego, Cal., and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mulligan of Goldendale, Wash., visited over the week end at the home of Miles Mulligan in this city. The Misses Mulligan are sisters and J. M., a brother, of Miles. All departed for their homes Sunday.

Walter Corley, in town Tuesday from Ione, was among the successful nimrods going out for deer and elk the past season. His bag included a nice buck deer and a seven-prong bull elk.

Bluffing is quite a necessity in school life. At least it seems some students think so. They have the idea that by bluffing the teachers they are getting by easily. Who is, after all, getting bluffed—the student or the teacher? After school days are over will it be so easy to bluff employers and friends?

It will then be noticed by yourself and others that by bluffing in school you really did not gain anything. In fact, you lost. You have your diploma and your grades on a card, but they are useless if you do not have the knowledge in your head. No one admires a person who is just a big "bluff," so it is much better to work and really earn your diploma rather than to graduate on bluffs.

And another thing—the Junior Play is a big sensation! That's no "bluff."

Heppner high's "Fighting Irish" won from Pilot Rock in both the first and second team games Friday evening. The score of the second team game was 17-8 in favor of Heppner.

The first team game was closer and the best score the Irish could squeeze from the Rockers was 15-6. At the end of the half the score stood 4-3 for Pilot Rock. The Irish had only two weeks of practice, and at first they showed it. But in the last two periods they got on and began ringing up the points. Both teams played hard, fast ball and showed plenty of stuff.

A girls' preliminary furnished the very small crowd with plenty of laughs and excitement and prepared it for the games to follow. Ethyl Hughes' team won by a lipstick from Jennie Swendig's "Powder Puffs," the final score being 6-4.

Feeding Iodine to Mares Draws Interest to OSC
Widespread interest in the research in feeding iodine to brood mares at Oregon State college has resulted in a request to staff members concerned to present a scientific paper covering the subject. Such a paper by B. W. Rodenwald and Dr. B. T. Simms, of the state college, was presented before the American Society of Animal Production at its annual meeting in Chicago the first week in December.
The Oregon State college workers began experimenting with iodine feeding in 1922, after severe losses through the death of foals had been experienced. Accurate records maintained since that time strongly indicate that the feeding of 15 grains of potassium iodide per week to brood mares during the last half of the gestation period will eliminate a common grotesque condition and bring foals that are stronger, more vigorous and healthy. Five grains of potassium iodide per week was found sufficient to prevent goiter in calves.
The material was fed by mixing a stock solution so that one ounce of the liquid poured on the grain once a week would give the required dosage. The treatment is recommended only for regions where a deficiency of iodine in the regular feed stuffs results in goiter condition of foals and other young livestock.

Fog Light

At the Brown's, you so often find a heart hiding between four diamonds. Or a spade that you thought was a club.
You sat at the wrong side of the table, that's all. The light wasn't as good as it is at other homes where you like to play bridge.
If the Browns knew just what to do about it, you would find their home much more pleasant to visit. Jack and Ellen Brown play a really fine game of bridge, but their lights are all wrong. It isn't worth the eye-headache afterward.
Dim light is proper—in its proper place. Bright light can hurt the eyes. But there is no excuse at all for the in-between kind of light—"Fog Light". Your eyes are slow to complain, and they won't warn you of the strain. Nothing but the Sight Meter can tell you, accurately and scientifically, that the light over your own bridge table or favorite reading chair is the kind of light that causes night-after-night eyestrain.

It is not the fault of the light globes—there are 25-watt, 40, 50, 60, 75 and 100-watt lamps for every purpose. Your eyes are quick enough to find out for themselves, but not quick to tell you in time to prevent serious damage. The Sight Meter tells you. Ask us to show you how.

The difference between an Abstract of Title to real estate and a Title Insurance Policy may be clearly understood by the following comparison:

An Abstract of Title is a mere RECORD of title, extended or compiled as copy from original records—Strictly a clerical document issued under private responsibility without any guarantee of good title. At the very best you can only get an attorney's OPINION that the title concerned in the abstract is good.	A Title Insurance Policy— Is a BOND OF INDEMNITY, founded on record, INSURING "Good and Marketable" title to your real estate, safeguarded by the State of Oregon guarantee fund—There is no loophole; the insurance is absolute and runs on forever on payment of one premium ONLY.

The average premium is 50% less than the cost of an average abstract.
