Editorial

Some day you're going to be looking for a job. So you might as well start preparing yourself for one now. Employers, these days, want men willing to start at the bottom, to make themselves immediately useful. If you can typewrite you're a whole lot more likely to get a job quickly. If, in addition, you have a working knowledge of other office equipment—adding machines, for instance—you'll be that much more welcome, and once you get a foothold, your advancement is up to you.

First of all, an employer wants a young man who has character. He should have a good education and be willing to work hard. He should, if possible, know how to use a typewriter. You probably aren't looking for a job right now, but you can make sure of it by preparing yourself for it. Learn typewriting. You can use a typewriter for letter writing, for themes at school. Many a boy has gone through college on a typewriter. A typewriter will save you, in the next few years, hundreds of hours of time.

Debate Team Goes to Pendleton

The Heppner high school debate team will go to Pendleton this Saturday to compete in the district debate tournament. The state high school debate question is, "Resolved That the Federal government should adopt the policy of equalizing public elementary and secondary education throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states." The affirmative will be upheld by Lorena Wilson and Ed Dick; the negative by Francis Rugg and Irvin Periberg. With the exception of Francis Rugg, none of the team has had previous debating experience, though all have had experience in public speaking. Last year Heppner was beaten in the finals by a polished Hermiston team. However, last year was the first time since 1928 that Heppner sponsored a debate club.

Senior Dress-Up Day

Thursday was a memorable day for the senior class when its members appeared at school in a variety of costumes representing other people. The class was introduced to the assembly as the following: Ervin Periberg, the Devil who had nothing to say concerning himself; Donald Drake, "Marrying Sam," and Bill Schwarz, his fiancé; Joe Green, Bing Crosby in "We're Not Dressing"; Hene Kilkenny as Bill Schwarz; and Hene Kenny as Sacajewes; Barnacle Bill (Andy Van Scholack) and his girl friend (Matt Kenny); Ed Dick, a crooked lawyer who is so crooked he couldn't get through the revolving door—and is going to get Howard Bryant a divorce; Little Abner going to his wedding (Louis Gilliam); Jesse French, a miss "Born 30 Years too Soon"; Lorena Wilson, a

Inter-Class Basketball

Inter-class basketball is being played between the classes and thus far the sophomores are leading with four wins and no defeats. The seniors are close behind with 2 wins and 2 defeats and are followed by the juniors and freshmen with 2 wins and 2 defeats and 4 defeats respectively. The scores of last week's games are as follows: Wednesday: Sophomores 18, frosh 0; seniors 10, juniors 3. Thursday: Juniors 12, frosh 3; sophomores 18, seniors 10. Friday: Sophomores 18, juniors 17; seniors 13, frosh 8. Monday: Juniors 7, seniors 2; sophomores 10, frosh 5. As there are only two games left it looks as if the sophomores have the championship in the basket.

Feature Story

This week let us take a visit to the English VI class on journalism day. The hour begins with a few words from the teacher urging neatness, last minute bursts to search for news, and a continual hum of voices mingled with frequent clattering of falling pens, pencils, ink bottles, etc., and merry peals of laughter. Frequently is heard the voice of the teacher, trying to make himself heard above the din of the news room, asking for more work and less noise.

As you look at the faces of the "News Hounds," you see the clouded face of the editor, the twinkling serious faces of the feature story writers, mingled with the carefree faces of those who have no news to write up, or are of those shiftless persons who have not bothered themselves to search for any news.

The Benzine Ring met on last Thursday night, March 7. Don Drake gave an interesting talk on "Halogens." Appointments were made for the experiments to be given for open house.

Class News

The students of the junior class are busy making arrangements for the junior-senior banquet, which is to be given May 17. The students of the sophomore English class are writing a novel, which is to be on display at the open house, April 5.

You may wonder why the students of the public speaking class go around with an expression on their faces as if they were worried or trying to think. If you were to approach them and wanted an explanation it wouldn't be long before you found out that Mr. Evans has divided the class into two sections and they take turns giving each of the five different kinds of speeches he has assigned them. After this strenuous drill is completed each student must write and deliver an oration. Those who survive (if any) ought to be real speakers.

Style Show

No one will want to miss the style show which is to be given April 5. It is one of the main features of the open house. Members of the home economics class will participate, wearing the garments they have made this year. The girls have made skirts, blouses, dresses, suits and various other wearing apparel, which are of wool, cotton, rayon, and silk of every kind. All the girls are doing their best to make this style show a worthwhile project. Don't miss it!

Cooking School

The Standard Oil company and the Crown Flour company will hold a cooking school, under the instruction of Mrs. Humphrey, in the Heppner gym Thursday and Friday, March 14 and 15. The school will start at 1:30 both afternoons. The public is invited and all girls who are interested in home economics will be excused from school.

Grade News

Doris Shaeffer returned to school after being absent with whooping cough.

The first and second grades made up the following poem: I do believe it's almost spring, In spring the birds begin to sing; The flowers are beginning to bloom, Boys and girls are buying balloons, The trees are turning green Gardens being planted, Boys are playing marbles, Girls are jumping rope, It's spring.

Earl Thomson High Gun In Duck Rifle Shooting

University of Oregon, Eugene, March 13.—A Heppner youth, Earl Thomson, who finished in second place in last year's national rifle shooting individual competition, scored 385 points out of a possible 400 in this season's rivalry to establish a new Oregon team record. Thomson was also included on the list of ten men selected to receive sweater awards for performing with the Duck marksmen.

Thomson's brilliant showing won him a place on Oregon's five-man team which fired scores in the National Hearst Trophy meet this week. Results have not been received from the Ninth Corps area shoot in which Oregon submitted their score of two weeks ago. In the event of the Webfoot team's placing in the top five, Thomson will shoot for the Lemon-Green aggregation which will be represented in the National R. O. T. C. ten-man team championship competition next term.
