NEW POLICE CHIEF. WATER HEAD NAMED

Interlocking Duties Given Orve Rasmus, Homer Hayes, Appointees.

CITY PLANS TALKED

Street Improvement Kept Within Budget; Water Situation Eyed; Officers' Books to be Audited.

Do you need a policeman? Call Main 482.

That's the number listed for City of Heppner Water Department, but under a new arrangement made at Monday evening's council meeting, water headquarters will also be police headquarters.

The arrangement includes the naming of Orve Rasmus as watermaster and assistant police officer, and of Homer Hayes as chief of police and assistant watermaster. The new men took over their duties Tuesday. By interlocking the duties of the two offices it is expected to effect economies in their operation, said Mayor W. W. Smead.

The services of W. E. Pruyn, retiring watermaster, will be retained until July 1, to assist in acquainting the new men with their duties. Mr. Pruyn has managed the department since the city acquired the water service several years ago, and for many years prior thereto was manager of the old Heppner Light & Water company. He and S. P. Devlin, retiring police chief, both expressed relief on retirement from office, and were commended for their faithful, efficient service.

Duties of the newly named officers, besides those of watermaster and police chief, will include those now performed by Mrs. Sadie Sigbee, bookkeeper, and Henry Clark, assistant in the water department. However, it is expected that the new men will obtain help when and where needed, the mayor said.

During the daytime it is expected to have someone at the water office at all times, and whoever is there will take either water or police calls. Discussion of matters pertaining to city finances and the planning program which must be adjusted to such finances consumed much time of the council Monday evening. One of the first concerns of the new administration was shaping up the streets. This improvement work has progressed well, with attention given all the principal thoroughfares, said the mayor. Obtaining of the good power machine at nominal cost from Deschutes county was a windfall in doing the work, which so far has been kept within the budget, he said.

More street work is planned, and should the city obtain public works funds for the purpose, the streets will be permanently improved. The water supply offers another knotty problem which can be successfully attacked only after ascertaining the source of funds. The mayor's program contemplates measuring the water at the wells and again in town to ascertain if the diminishing supply is caused by decreased flow at the wells and to what extent it may be affected by leaks in the pipe line between the wells and town. If the water supplied by the wells is found insufficient, the mayor believes additional supply may be obtained by tapping springs in the vicinity, or if the flow from the wells is found to be adequate and the pipe line at fault, then it is proposed to lay new pipe where it is required.

Tests so far made by the water department indicate that both supply and transportation facilities need attention, but so far the city has not undertaken more expensive tests held to be necessary to determine exactly how much of the fault lies in either place. Under the present financial set-up, funds are lacking to do the necessary work to put the plant in condition, and investigation of the possibility of obtaining public works funds, if and when the large appropriation measure passes congress, is being made. Aent the water supply, the city is concerned itself also with the matter of preserving the natural watershed at the source of Willow creek from which the city's supply is taken. Recognition of receipt of the memorial passed at last month's meeting was received yesterday from Senator McNary who promised to give the matter his attention. Monday evening another petition was ordered prepared showing the stringent need for water on lower Willow creek. It is hoped enough pressure can be brought to bear in Washington to induce the government to take this watershed into the national forest, thus assuring its protection. The matter is of vital interest at present as a large amount of the watershed is contained in lands held by the First National Bank of Heppner, which must be disposed of in liquidating that institution.

The services of Wells & DeLap, Portland accountants, were retained to audit all the city books for the years 1932-33-34.

Erosion Control Meeting Set for Tomorrow Night

The danger from sand blows on both land seeded to wheat and on the summerfallow has reached such proportions that a movement has started among the farmers living to the east of Lexington to start a blow control district. A meeting will be held at the Leach hall at Lexington at 8:00 Friday evening, April 5. E. R. Jackman, extension specialist in crops from the state college at Corvallis, will be at the meeting to discuss cultural practices which should be used to prevent blows and to control the ones that are started.

The wheat men interested in the formation of this district have no idea of forcing anyone to cooperate with the proposed new organization. While nearly everybody recognizes that the danger from blows started on a neighbor's land constitutes a real threat and may result in more monetary losses than that from weeds or rodents, there is no provision in law for the formation of erosion control districts such as there is for the setting up of districts to control weeds or rodents.

The proposed district includes the territory about 19 miles long running east and west and about five miles from north to south.

Providing this district accomplishes the results which its sponsors expect it is quite possible that additional districts will be formed in the county and that this movement started in Morrow county may be extended to take in other counties in the state.

"Family Living" Meeting Set for Tomorrow P. M.

A county-wide conference on Family Living promises to attract a large attendance tomorrow, Friday, April 5, at the Christian church, according to County Agent Belanger. Granges, parent teacher organizations and women's clubs are cooperating in planning for a big day. The program will feature Miss Claribel Nye and Mrs. Azalea Sager, in talks of great interest to homemakers.

Exhibits of house plans, materials and supplies used in housing improvement, shoes for every member of the family, and recent books and other publications will be on display.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Morrow County Lamb and Woolgrowers association will serve a 35c luncheon at noon, proceeds of which will be used for a scholarship to the 4-H club summer school. This organization will also have an exhibit of knitted woolen garments.

FORMER TEACHER PASSES.

The death of Miss Isabel Gray, 70, who taught in the local schools a number of years ago and who was a college mate of S. E. Notson, Morrow county district attorney, was announced in a Corvallis newspaper last week. Funeral services were announced for 2 o'clock last Friday afternoon from the Hollingsworth funeral home in Corvallis, with interment in Pleasant Valley cemetery near the old home town.

The clipping was handed this paper by Mrs. Mary Bartholomew, old-time friend of the deceased, and from it is taken the following:

"Miss Gray was born in Benton county at the country home of her parents, October 2, 1864. She attended the Benton county schools and Philmont college and taught almost 45 years in schools in practically every county in Oregon and in Minnesota and California. Ten years ago she retired and returned to make her home on her farm south of Philmont, a portion of the old donation land claim taken by her parents. She was aged 70 years, five months and 23 days. Miss Gray was the last surviving member of her family including her parents and several brothers and sisters. She is survived only by a nephew, Joe Gray, of Waldport, and several grand nieces and nephews. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Corvallis and of the Rebekah lodge at Fresno, Calif."

REMEMBERS SPRING BLOW.

Burton H. Peck, south Lexington wheatraiser, says the dust storm of a week ago Sunday was not the first such storm he has seen in this country in March. Along about 1909-10 when he lived in Clark's canyon, he said such a storm visited his place, drifting dirt in quantities against the house. His brother George now lives on the place, and has a bearing orchard on what was then a gravel bar, this bar having been covered with dirt from a blow. Mr. Peck cited his experience with spring blows when in the city Friday. Often after a blow the wind will shift and drift the dirt back in the direction from which it came.

IONE PITCHER INJURED.

Larry Ritchie, the lanky right-handed chucker who is looked to by the Ione ball club to do their pitching for the coming Wheatland league play, met with an unfortunate accident at the farm of Bert Johnson north of Ione last Saturday afternoon. When chopping wood, he unwittingly got his left hand under the descending axe, badly slashing that member. Mr. Johnson, in Heppner at the time, responded to the hurry-up call and got Mr. Ritchie to the doctor in record time. Seven stitches were required to close the wound, and it was held doubtful that he would be able to enter the first league game a week from Sunday.

SCHOOL TO BE HOST TOMORROW NIGHT

Public Invited to See Exhibits and Hear Program Arranged for "Open House" Event.

All the folks of Heppner and community are invited to trek their way to the schoolhouse tomorrow evening for "Open House." The invitation is cordially extended by Edward F. Bloom, superintendent, who desires all patrons and friends of the school to see the exhibits on display in all the rooms, to meet the teachers and otherwise to enjoy the school's hospitality.

The main building will be open from 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening for the examination of exhibits and meeting of teachers. From 8 to 9 this building will be closed and everyone is invited to attend the program in the gym-auditorium. This program has been arranged not as a star entertainment attraction, but rather as a showing of various work accomplished in the school year.

Featuring the program will be the band who will play the numbers to be presented in the state contest at Eugene.

Again from 9 to 9:30 the main building will be open so those who missed seeing the exhibits at the earlier hour may have opportunity to inspect them.

"The whole idea behind 'Open House' is to promulgate friendly relations between the school and community, and to better inform the public generally of the work being carried on in the school. We sincerely believe that everyone will find much of interest in the exhibits and other features of the evening, and that the time will prove profitable to all who attend," said Mr. Bloom in extending the invitation.

"Those who have social engagements for the evening are urged to at least come to observe the exhibits and meet the teachers between 7 and 8 o'clock though they can't stay for the program," he added.

Everyone interested in the school is urged to attend, and admission will be free.

The Morrow county court has received official notification from Earl W. Snell, secretary of state, of a meeting next Thursday at the Umatilla county court house for the election of a successor to Jack Allen, resigned, as joint senator from Morrow, Umatilla and Union counties. Senator Allen resigned to accept a position as state liquor administrator.

Filling a senate vacancy under a law passed at the recent legislative session is left in the hands of the county courts from the counties comprising the district in which vacancy occurs. R. E. Bean, defeated in the last election by Allen, has been recognized as a candidate by the local court.

Wilbur F. Brock of Summerville, boyhood friend of Walter Crawford, Gazette Times editor, worked with the late J. W. Redington at Walla Walla and on the Portland Oregonian, 1897-1902. In a recent card he wrote, "RED (in red-ink-ton) as he often signed himself. Everything impressed his sensibilities in the humorous or ridiculous. If he had been an artist, he must have become one of the nation's great cartoonists. He was a born crusader and natural campaigner. Always he carried his lance and was ready for a charge."

Redington Chased Copy For Lowell, Longfellow

San Francisco Chronicle, March 28, 1935.

Friends in military and civil life will gather at the Sawtelle National Military Home and Hospital tomorrow to attend rites for Colonel John W. Redington, 76, former Berkeley resident, who once "chased copy" for the poets, Longfellow and Lowell, at Cambridge, Mass., who died during the past week.

Colonel Redington, former Berkeley resident, was a prominent Pacific Coast newspaper man for many years. He was born in Cambridge and learned the printing business there. As a printer's devil at the age of 12 years he called at the homes of Longfellow and Lowell for copy for the printers.

In 1877 he came West and founded the Gazette at Heppner, Or. Later he owned the Puyallup Commerce and the Tacoma Sun. He was on the staff of the Portland Oregonian for several years and then engaged in real estate business in Reno, Nev., and San Diego.

He wrote a story of his life, which included experiences as scout and courier in three Indian wars, in recent years. He was assistant adjutant general of the Oregon militia in 1879-83. For the past three years he had been at Sawtelle.

He made his home in Berkeley in recent years with his daughter, Mrs. H. T. Abbott, 1215 Carliotta avenue. In addition to Mrs. Abbott he is survived by three other daughters, Margaret Reid, associate editor of the Shafter Progress and Wasco News; Bernice Redington, associated with the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, and Mrs. Arthur A. Stewart of Vancouver, Wash., as well as five grandchildren.

J. W. REDINGTON RITES HELD AT NATIONAL MILITARY HOME

By GARFIELD CRAWFORD

HE RIDES

Come, gather about me, comrades of old,
The battle is over, my story is told,
Camp fires slowly dimming,
Our ranks are fast thinning,
Bugler, my ears dinning
With taps—the rest call.

Joseph, Cut Mouth, Grey Wolf and all
Have made their last raid, answered
of old,
Braves, stalwart, unbending,
Great Chiefstain sending
All to last "Hunting Ground."

Camp fires fast fading to embers
Red glow,
Old Baldy saddled and rearing to go;
Let's mount and be ready,
Reins taut and steady,
The captain shouts, "READY,"
"Tis taps—the last call.

Four grey caskets were trucked into the little chapel of the National Military Home, Sawtelle, Calif., Friday afternoon, March 28, at 3 o'clock. The pipe organ intoned solemn hymns and with the last fading note of "Nearer My God to Thee" the Chaplain rose to the dais and began reading the names. One was a comrade of the Spanish American war, two were veterans of the World war and the fourth was John W. Redington, veteran of Northwest Indian wars. There were loved ones and a sprinkling of friends to pay their last tribute to the memory of "all" for the sake of the Union.

When the last prayer had been uttered the mourners passed from the portals of the chapel on to the greensward and the caskets were picked up and loaded upon caissons for their last trek to the cemetery, a few blocks distant, where rests the remains of more than 12,000 men who have carried the colors of this nation.

John W. Redington who died in the hospital of the Military Home just a week prior, was mourned by near relatives and a half dozen personal friends. For the World war

$170 RAISED FOR BAND'S EXPENSES

Entrance of School Musicians in State Contest at Eugene on April 14th Assured.

Expenses of the Heppner school band for their appearance in the state contest at Eugene, April 14, were assured by the net receipts of $170 from the community benefit Saturday afternoon and evening. Liberal response was made on every hand to the sale of benefit tickets for the dance at the Elks hall in the evening besides many donations.

R. C. Phelps, chairman of the Elks cooperating committee which handled the ticket sale and dance details, expresses warm commendation to the committee members and the community generally for their generous cooperation.

Featuring the drive was the appearance of the band itself and Harold Buhman, director, who played Swiss on Main street in the afternoon and again in the evening at the Elks hall. At the latter appearance they played the numbers to be presented in the contest. The Elks donated their hall for the evening entertainment and Becket's orchestra played music for dancing.

At Eugene the band will enter class D division, comprising schools with 150 or less high school enrollment. This division contest is slated to begin at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, the 14th. Members of the band will be transported in automobiles of various citizens of the community.

Applications Coming In For Crop and Seed Loans

Field Supervisor E. J. Davis of the Emergency Crop and Seed Loan office at Spokane, states that applications for emergency crop loans and feed loans are now being received by the Morrow county loan committee, with offices located at Heppner and Irrigon.

In accordance with the act of congress authorizing the loans, and regulations issued by Governor W. I. Myers of the Farm Credit administration, loans will be made only to farmers who are unable to obtain elsewhere seed, fertilizers, supplies, feed or the necessary credit to purchase such items. Loans will not be made to applicants who can obtain credit in the amount needed from any other source, including the production credit association.

Any farmer who has the necessary security should apply to the production credit association first. If the association is unable to make him a loan in the amount needed the farmer will receive a statement to that effect and will be considered eligible to apply for a loan from the emergency fund.

The regulations provide that the largest loan to one farmer this year is $500 and the minimum $10, but no loan may be made in an amount greater than is actually needed to cover the cash cost of purchasing seed, fertilizers, supplies, feed, etc. Loans will be made for the purpose of growing and harvesting crops, for summer fallowing, for purchasing feed for livestock, but not for the purpose of purchasing livestock or machinery, or for the payment of debts or taxes.

Loans will be made only to applicants who are cooperating with the production control program of the AAA.

As in the past, the security for an emergency crop or feed loan will consist of a first lien on the crop or on the livestock to be fed. A tenant must also give a first lien by getting the landowner to waive his claim in favor of the crop lien; but the landowner is in no way obligated for repayment of his tenant's loan.

ANTI-CRIME WORK TOLD BY NOTSON

Reports Governor's Conference to Lions; Noted Speakers Heard.

O. S. C. DEMOCRATIC

Francis Nickerson Says State College No Place for Snobs; Open House, Show Results Cited.

Major developments and trends in combatting crime were told the Lions club Monday by S. E. Notson, district attorney, in reporting Governor Martin's anti-crime conference which he attended in Portland last week end with C. J. D. Bauman, sheriff.

That guests at the state penitentiary may expect little leniency from Governor Martin was gleaned from the governor's address which opened the conference. Mr. Notson highly commended the efforts of Carl C. Donagh, U. S. district attorney, whose efforts resulted in a highly educational program led by many well-informed speakers representing the several departments of law enforcement work.

One of the headline addresses was given by Hon. Justin Miller, dean of law at Duke university, and a member of the national anti-crime advisory board, who reviewed some of the work accomplished by the federal government in subduing kidnapping and racketeering. While the federal government has been justifiably active in battling crime, it has no intention of supplanting local enforcement agencies and should not be looked upon to do so. Most crimes are local in character and call for local corrective measures, was his theme reported.

Establishment of a national crime institute for training men to take up law enforcement as a life's work, and separating that work from political influences, was another theory advocated. Canada already has established a system whereby sheriffs are appointed and serve for life unless they resign or are removed for cause. It was believed such a system of appointing law enforcement officers who have been properly trained for the work would do away with many evils which political pressure now brings about.

Judge Alger Fee, former circuit judge of this district now a federal judge at Portland, mildly though effectively condemned third degree methods as being contrary to constitutional rights of the individual, Mr. Notson reported.

Mayor Carson of Portland termed the law-abiding citizen as the "forgotten man" in discussing the manner in which crime is glorified in the metropolitan press. Claude E. Ingals, editor Corvallis Gazette Times, also discussed pro and con the manner of handling news by the large dailies.

Especially interesting was the part of the program presented by a group of prominent doctors who touched on the psychopathic side of criminals and endorsed permanent treatment of criminals who are found to be habitual because of psychopathic traits. It was cited that the percentage of juvenile delinquents sent to the state training school from Multnomah county had been lessened from four to one percent through the establishment of a clinic in Portland which revealed psychopathic tendencies in delinquents calling for medical rather than training school methods for correction and cure. Though poorly supported, this clinic shows need for more work of the kind, it was said.

One speaker whose work in penitentiaries for many years backed his judgment, said that educational reform rather than penitentiary reform is needed if crime is to be permanently subdued. Other speakers touched upon crime detection and the improvement in identification systems, woman's part in anti-crime work, and other pertinent, up-to-the-minute topics.

Addressing the club also was Francis Nickerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Nickerson, recently returned from Oregon State college, who expounded the ideal democracy of that institution. "Those who seek to be exclusive are excluded," he said of the college social life.

As indicative of the manner in
