FACING POISON ATTACK. Corvallis.—In 34 counties organized campaigns against the depredations of gray diggers and other squirrels are being carried on this spring under the direction of county agents. Last year close to 100,000 pounds of poison bait was supplied at cost to some 8000 farmers, saving probably $75,000 worth of crops, it is estimated. This year the program appears to be even more extensive. Other effective poisoning campaigns are carried out in connection with gopher, jackrabbit, rat, mouse and woodchuck control, reports W. L. Teutsch, assistant county agent leader.

PROMOTING COOPERATION. Corvallis.—Perhaps harmony promotes harmony. At any rate, musical organizations seem to be promoting more and more cooperative effort between students at University of Oregon and Oregon State college. At the final symphony orchestra concert here 15 students from the university joined the local organization, as has been done in the last few years. In a forthcoming production of the oratorio, "Elijah," the state college chorus will join with the university orchestra for a concert on both campuses. Now the aesthetic dancers have joined in unifying the system, coeds from both campuses joining in a recital here.

CALL FOR WARRANTS. Outstanding warrants of School District No. 34, Morrow County, Oregon, numbered 200 to 221 inclusive, will be paid on presentation at First National Bank of Portland, Heppner Branch. Interest ceases April 19, 1935.

Editorial
It seems as if spring has come at last, and with it a general feeling of contentment among the students. I believe it was Tennyson who said, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." This accounts for the dreamy look found on the faces of many of the students of Heppner High.

But instead of turning all your thoughts to love, why not set to work in your studies with renewed vigor which the spring sunshine will give you, instead of being content with things the way they are? Why not wind up this last six weeks with a good record?

Band Trip
Monday morning Mr. Buhman and the band students were back to their usual work after their trip to Eugene, where they competed in the State Band contest.

Although they did not win first prize, their efforts were awarded by third place. The entire student body feels that they did their best, and are proud that our school band could compete in the contest.

The students who did not go feel that they share a part in the trip, for the band members gave very interesting talks on the things that impressed them most. It seems as though the college life has aroused a new interest in many of the students; they are setting their goals farther in advance and hope to achieve them by attending college.

The band members and Mr. Buhman wish to extend their sincere appreciation to the community for the money which was contributed. We hope that next year our band will come home the winner of the contest.

Visits School
Miss Bertha Kolhagen, head of the Home Economics department of the state of Oregon, visited Heppner high school Friday and inspected the home economics department. It is the hope of the school administration to place the high school Home Ec department under Smith-Hughes supervision. This would make it possible to secure Federal aid for the maintenance of the department. It would make it possible to add to and replace some of the present equipment and would help in enlarging and improving the department.

Grade School News
The first grade boys are decorating their room with Easter bunnies. The first grade class has made a moving picture of "Little Black Sambo." It will be held this afternoon at their theater.

Alberta McFerrin visited the birdbill canyon Friday. She brought enough birdbills for the whole class. The Campfire girls gave a doughnut sale Saturday.

Humor
Mr. Buhman (at band practice): Why don't you pause, don't you see it is marked "rest."
Joe Green: That's all right, I'm not tired.

Katherine Healy: Oh, Eddie, is it really a diamond?
Ed Burchell: By gosh, if it ain't I'm out four bits.

Bill Schwarz: Why did Norton put Gladys's picture in his watch?
Norma Becket: Because he thinks she will love him in time.
