HENRY C. GAY GAVE LAW STARTING CITY

of land and 2200 head of sheep, while establishing one of the best kept and most prosperous farms in the county. Morrow was still a part of Umatilla county when he shipped the first alfalfa seed into the county and thus assisted in introducing what has become the most successful irrigated hay crop in this region. The fact that he was the first to plant alfalfa seed in Umatilla county was established while he resided at Hermiston in later years.

Politics claimed his interest as a conscientious citizen and he was first induced to make the race for representative in the legislature in 1884. He lost that race to "Uncle Jack" Morrow, the county's godfather, but two years later he was successful in defeating J. B. Sperry, founder of the first store on Rhea creek and of the flouring mill at Heppner. It was while serving in the ensuing session that he introduced the bill which resulted in the incorporation of the city of Heppner. He also had an active part in other important legislation, some of which is reputed to have saved Morrow county thousands of dollars.

F. D. McCully, fellow legislator, was credited with saying that Mr. Gay helped largely in putting across the bill for establishment of Walla Walla county, a move to which Mr. McCully was committed. The Morrow county man also was said to have defeated, single-handed, a move on the part of the counties to the west to annex the north end of Morrow county. He was the first representative elected after Morrow county was organized.

For many years Mr. Gay was a leading member of the Methodist church, South, taking an active interest in the work. He attended several general conferences of the church, among them one held in Texas in 1906.

While in California he married Miss Florence Bennett, daughter of Albert and Bittridge V. (Little) Bennett, at Main Prairie near Marysville, on October 30, 1873. Mrs. Gay being his constant companion and helpmate since that time. To them were born six children: Albert B., Arthur M., Lester E., Walter H., Henry L. and Florence M., twins.

The family home was made on Rhea creek continuously until 1922, when Mr. and Mrs. Gay moved to a small farm near Hermiston. They resided there for eight years, and returned to Heppner in 1930 to make their home.

Besides his widow, Mr. Gay is survived by all the children, Albert, Lester, Walter and Florence (Mrs. William French) reside at Heppner, Arthur of Jefferson, and Henry L. at Pendleton.

Mr. Gay's father was a man of achievement in his day, having engaged in the contracting and lumber business. He contracted for and built the canal from Chicago to Joliet. As president of one of the largest lumber companies in Michigan, he also operated much of that state. To his father, grandfather of Henry C. Gay, is given credit for turning the first sod in connection with construction of the first railroad out of Boston, one of the earliest railroads in the country.

Arthur Gay, Henry's brother, served with the Nineteenth Illinois in the Civil war. They came of English extraction, nine brothers of their ancestors having come to America at the same time.

To this useful and constructive life, Morrow county owes a debt of gratitude.

LEXINGTON

By BEULAH NICHOLS

At the meeting Saturday evening Lexington grange decided to sponsor a 4-H club scholarship to the 4-H club summer school at Corvallis. The agricultural committee reported that they are ready to cooperate with the committee from the North Lexington Erosion Control district and will aid them with their work in every way possible. Mrs. R. B. Rice was elected as alternate delegate to the State Grange meeting at McMinnville in June. Seven names were proposed for membership in the order. The grange decided to start a membership contest. J. O. Turner and Clarence Bauman are captains of one team and Kenneth Smouse and Norman Nelson are captains of the other team. Following the business meeting work was done on the silverware cases and on the quilt. The guests included Laura Rice, Vashli Saling, Nellis Palmer, Trina Parker, Nancy McWaters, Geneva Palmer, Pearl Gentry, Bertha Dinges, Muriel Palmer, Mary Smith, Alta Cutsforth, Beulah Nichols, Anne Miller, Tena Scott, Shirlee Smith, Myrtle Schriever, Grace Burchell, Margaret Miller and Tempa Johnson.

An Easter program will be given at the Christian church on Sunday morning. A basket dinner will be served in the church parlors at noon and in the afternoon, beginning at two o'clock. Rev. Alvin Kleinfeldt, pastor of the Christian church at Heppner, will preach.

On Sunday evening Laurel Beach sang the tenor solo role in the cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," at the Congregational church in Portland.

All the folks of Lexington and community are invited to come to the school house next Wednesday evening, April 24, for "Open House" which has been arranged to show the various work accomplished during the school year. This will be in connection with the regular P. T. A. meeting. Election of officers will be held at this time. Following the business meeting a program will be presented in the auditorium. Admission to the program will be one "white elephant" package; one package will admit the entire family. Later in the evening these packages will be sold and the proceeds used to help defray the expenses of the hot lunch project.

Boy Scout News
Reporter, Danny Dinges
The Lexington Scout troop No. 62 met Tuesday, April 9, at 7:30. The business meeting was called to order by Scoutmaster Gillis. It was decided that Danny Dinges should give a weekly report of the affairs of troop 62 to Beulah Nichols, Lexington correspondent, to be published in the Heppner Gazette Times.

Two Scouts' birthdays fell on the date of the meeting. These boys, Henry Rauch, Jr., and Virgil Smith, were run through the "spanking machine." Later cakes which their mothers had been so kind to bake, were brought in and immediately devoured by all. Visitors who helped to consume the cake were Laurel Beach and Galey Johnson.

After the cakes had been eaten tests were passed by the scouts.

The meeting adjourned and all scouts went to the basement of the school house to participate in wrestling and boxing bouts.

The cup which the Lexington grange is going to give to the scout who passes the highest number of requirements in a period of nine months, has been received and was on display at the last scout meeting. Boys who have the highest number of points at the present time are Ellwynne Peck, Lyle Allyn, Keith Gentry, Kenneth Jackson and Danny Dinges.

At nine o'clock the meeting was dismissed by the scouts saying the scout prayer.
