"No state that has thus far adopted the safety responsibility law has taken a backward step, says the association's manager "The tendency of legislatures has been toward the strengthening of ts provisions from year to year. "After an intensive study by the Dominion government, every pro-vince of Canada, with the exception of Quebec, has enacted the law n entirety. Eighty-five per cent of Canadian motorists are subject to ts provisions. Compulsory automobile insurance, which antidated it, is still confined to Massachusetts alone.

"The safety responsibility lay was primarily conceived as a safety measure. It was directed at the minority of reckless drivers who have demonstrated that they are an actual or a potential menace to the safety of others." Mr. Conway outlined three basic principles as follows:

1. PWA Gives $50,000 For Oregon Liver Fluke War

Corvallis-PWA funds totaling 50,000 have been allotted to Oregon for use here as part of a national campaign against the liver fluke and similar internal parasites of sheep, Dr. Robert Jay, federal veterinarian at O. S. C. has announced. The work is to be car-ried out under a "rush" program designed to accomplish much in the cleanup campaign while giving work to thousands on relief rolls within 21/2 months.

Amounts have been allocated by the government officials to various counties in which relief help can be obtained. Drainage of swampy areas, and spreading of copper sulfate where drainage is not practical, is the program being followed. These control measures, aimed at exterminating the snail host of the flukes, are in accordance with the life history and control worked out first by the OSC veterinary department some years ago.
