Official Paper for Morrow County

Director May Visit.

HEPPNER may enjoy a visit in the near future from C. C. Hockley, acting director of PWA for Oregon. A form letter received by the Gazette Times this week announces his intention of making a flying trip over the state with as many stops as possible to familiarize people, where it is desired, with the new government set-up for public works construction.

Mr. Hockley's office recently had puzzling questions concerning the new set-up answered by an assistant director and staff from Washington, an is now prepared to give help wherever possible. This PWA program is to result in permanent structures, financed in part by sponsoring bodies while assisted to the extent of 45 per cent by a grant or gift from the federal government.

The letter says, "In instances where the communities prize such local improvements to the extent that they are willing to bear their share of the cost by putting up the other 55 per cent of the money required, PWA stands ready to assist. In the event a community does not have its share of the financing immediately available or does not find it advantageous to borrow the 55 per cent required from private sources, PWA will loan the needed funds on qualified security. The type of project and its nature may be determined by the community and the prevailing wage scales in that community will be paid to those given employment."

Relations with WPA are such that there is no conflict, and with the desire on the part of both offices to be of assistance to the state.

A Good Project.

A leading citizen of the city has suggested a needed improvement for inclusion in the PWA program for Heppner—an improvement that would add much to the beauty and safety of Heppner's Main street.

He suggested the removal of telephone and light poles from Main street to alleys in the rear of buildings, and installation of an ornamental curia lighting system with adequate light to properly illuminate the principal thoroughfare.

The step has already been taken by many progressive towns no larger than Heppner, at costs entirely within reason.

Properly, light and telephone service should be given from the rear of buildings. The installation of poles on Main street curbs is a hangover from early days when the prominent display of such poles indicated pride of the people in obtaining such services as an earmark of progressiveness. Now the poles in such lighting systems are unsightly and a nuisance.

Too, the present street lighting system jeopardizes lives of citizens through failure to give enough light for good vision. There is just light enough to nullify car headlights and to make night driving on the street hazardous.

This improvement calls for serious thought on the part of everyone.

CANNING NEEDS PATTERN. The year's canning program, like Milady's gown, must follow an accurate pattern or it may turn out too large in some places and too small in others, says Miss Lucy A. Case, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at O. S. C.

A garment pattern must fit the individual and the canning pattern must fit the family, she says. Otherwise there may be too many jars of corn and too few of peas and greens, or some similar situation.
