Skinner's selection was announced immediately upon the return of the banking board from a flying trip to Pendleton. Accompanying the announcement was the explan-ation that the choice had been unanimous. Report about the capital, however, has it that the unanmity on the part of the board was not accompanied by any great enthus-iasm. In fact it is understood that State Treasurer Holman had prepared a statement in explanation of his vote fo Skinner but had cond thought.

Skinner's candidacy was sponsored by Governor Martin. Holman had supported Clarence Sewell of Portland while Snell was apparently content to leave well enough alone and leave A. A. Schramm on JUDGE C. L. SWEEK, master of the job. This was the situation when the board took off from Salem for Pendleton last Thursday. The change in sentiment occurred some where en route.

CATTLE INDUSTRY BRINGS EASTERN OREGON WORLD-WIDE FAME

Next week the Pendleton Round-Up will once more attract world-wide attention to the great cattle industry of this area. The 26th annual frontier show will symbolize all the colorful side of pioneer life on the Western ranges.

The First National Bank of Portland takes this opportunity to comment on the rapid and sound development Eastern Oregon has shown during the past quarter century. Since pioneer days of 1865, when The First National Bank of Portland was the ONLY national bank in the Northwest, we have been actively interested in the development of this great Eastern Oregon industry. Today we serve these interests directly from our Branch, which is conveniently located right in your own community.
