County Superintendent Explains School Laws

By MRS. LUCY E. RODGERS, County School Superintendent

Each time the State Legislature meets many new laws are made and many of the old ones are amended. School laws are no exception to the rule and it is no mean task for school board members and school clerks to keep correctly informed upon these changes. Some of the more recent laws seem to be quite generally misinterpreted and especially so are those pertaining to the suspension of a school district and the transportation of pupils.

A district school board of any legally organized school district, when authorized by a majority vote of the legal voters present at any legally called school meeting, shall suspend the district school for such time as they may have been authorized and arrange with any adjoining district or districts, during the time the school shall be suspended, for the instruction of the pupils of such district; and shall also provide for the transportation or board of any or all pupils residing in the district to and from the school with which arrangements for instruction have been made. District school boards are authorized to pay for tuition and transportation of board of pupils out of the school funds of their district and when authorized by a majority vote of the legal voters of the district, shall levy a tax for the purpose of paying for such tuition and transportation or board. (Section 35-1125, Oregon School Laws.)

From and after July 1, 1933, no district shall be entitled to its apportionment from the county school fund and the elementary school fund whose average daily attendance for the preceding year was less than six, unless such district suspends school under Section 35-1125 of the Oregon School Law. But, however, if the District Boundary Board, upon petition of the school board of any such district filed with the county school superintendent not later than July 5, determines that because of its remoteness from other schools it is for the best interests of the pupils to allow a full apportionment to such district, it may by its order direct the county school superintendent to make the payment of the apportionment from the county school fund and the elementary school fund to such district, which order must be made not later than July 15. (Section 35-1803.)

If a district fails to suspend school, and decides to maintain a separate school, it may do so through levying a special tax. Generally when a district is confronted with the proposition of either suspending school in order to secure its apportionment funds, or to maintain the school by special district tax sufficient to pay all expenses, it chooses the suspending of the school. The Attorney General holds that a suspended district is required to provide tuition and transportation or board to all pupils of the district. (Oct. 8, 1934.)

The County School Superintendent shall require teachers before beginning to teach in any district in his county to register in his office, their teachers' certificates, contracts and reading circle certificates. Teachers who fail to do this shall forfeit to the district the full amount of salary for the time taught before said certificates, contracts and reading circle certificates were so filed. The county superintendent shall notify the clerk of said district of the amount of such forfeiture and shall deduct the amount of said forfeiture from the next apportionment due the district. (Section 35-419 and Section 35-2532 Oregon School Laws.)

It is the intent of this law that reading circle work for the next year be done during the present school year. In its present form this law is designed to promote and encourage vital professional activity among the teachers. The State Superintendent of Public Instruction in shaping plans whereby the requirements of this law may be met, has made an effort to avoid the necessity for mere compliance with the law by including in the six ways in which Reading Circle Credit may be earned a wide range of activities. It is highly desirable that groups of teachers form study clubs for the study of educational problems pertinent to their situations.

The first meeting of the Rural Teachers' club was held in the dining room of Hotel Heppner Saturday afternoon, Sept. 28. Officers elected for the year are: President, Mrs. Lena Kelly, teaching at Eight Mile Center; vice-president, Mrs. Lillian C. Turner, teaching at Harman; secretary-treasurer, Miss Norma Gibbons, teaching at Pine City. Wallace Lundell entertained the group with a piano solo.

The next meeting of the organization will be held at the Pine City school on Saturday, November 2.

The annual teachers' institute will be held at Pendleton on Friday, Oct. 4. This is a joint institute of Umatilla and Morrow counties.

Bill Hanley's Outfit Given to OSC Museum

Corvallis—The late Bill Hanley's range outfit is "headin' for its last round-up." Through arrangements he made just before his death his long-used saddle, bridle, spurs and lariar are to be placed in the Oregon State college museum for permanent preservation.

The outfit, not yet received, is said to be a simple one as the "Sage of Harney" was not given to ostentation or display. Its historic value is great, however, and widespread interest was expressed as soon as Mrs. Hanley announced the plan her husband had for these personal effects.

NEW RESIDUE BULLETIN Aids Small Orchardist

Latest information on removal of fruit spray residues by Oregon orchardists and fruit packers is contained in a new station bulletin, No. 341, by R. M. Robinson and M. B. Hatch, chemists of the O. S. C. experiment station. With the constant lowering of the lead tolerance, which now stands at .018 grains per pound, the problem of spray residue is still an important one.

Most of the difficulty in removing spray residues comes from following unrecommended spray schedules during the growing season, the authors point out. Hence the time to make first preparations for washing is in the spring when the spray program starts. Ways to avoid difficulties as well as methods of overcoming them are discussed.

Much of the new bulletin is devoted to the problem of the small orchardist who cannot afford one of the large commercial washing machines but who desires to sell his fruit direct rather than through a commercial packer who may have growers the use of the home made Oregon apple washer, designed soon after the spray residue problem arose, is still recommended. Specifications and detailed drawings for making this washer may be obtained by sending for circular No. 92. A complete machine may be inspected at any time on the college campus.

Bend—Preliminary work toward taking advantage of the new federal rural electrification program has been started in Deschutes county, with a committee appointed to study the needs and possibilities for development of this nature in the county. The committee, appointed by the Pomona Grange, consists of Fred C. Shepard, Tumalo, chairman; Marion Taylor, Redmond; William Crow, Deschutes and Eugene Ackley, Bend, with County Agent Gus Hagglund as an advisory member.

THE CROSS. By MARY ALBEE.

And may I see this wondrous Cross Whereon the Prince of Glory died; The Holy Cross and only Cross Before which hosts have knelt and cried.

And see the Saviour on it there And hear His searching plea: Won't you receive this life I give To thee, my child, to thee?

Dear Lord, I long would drink of this. Oh veil not now my eyes But let me in his agonies Nor shield me from the awful cries.

Lo, in the halo of is gaze I'll crave His favors deeply: His tears to make my heart be meek, His blood of ill conscience wash me. And while I plead Thee for this grace, Make rich my soul with heaven's That I can rise and sing His praise Within the Cross, within the Cross.

Alfalfa Proves Soil Builder
Dallas—After more than 70 years of cropping, a field on the old Senator Nesmith farm east of Rickreall produced a wheat crop that would be a credit to any rich virgin soil, reports County Agent J. R. Beck. Nine years of cropping to alfalfa prepared the way for a 56-bushel yield of spring wheat for R. D. Pence this year, he says. A part ordered that all state owned cars be pooled in the interest of economy and efficiency. The order followed a report by Dan Fry, secretary to the board, which revealed the ownership of 163 by all state activities. Of this number 131 cars are allotted to individual officials or employees and stand idle when not needed by these individuals. A check on the use of state owned cars revealed that cars stood idle in their garages under the present system a total of 183 days during August. Under the proposed pool it is believed the state can either dispose of a number of cars or eliminate the practice of using private cars on state business at a charge of five cents a mile.

The school fund stands to lose at least $300,000 through mad loans on Oregon farm property, in the opinion of the appraisers. On the 660 farms which the land board has had to take over through foreclosure proceedings the appraisers estimate the state's loss, based on present values of farm properties, at $228,952. Losses on 567 other delinquent loans are estimated by the appraisers at $74,455. Heaviest losses will be experienced in eastern Oregon, particularly Harney, Lake, Wheeler and Willowa counties. Padded appraisals by attorneys for the land board previous to 1921 are blamed for the threatened losses by George G. Brown, secretary to the land board. Since 1921 when the land

Rape Pasture Proves Value

Gold Beach—Rape has been providing good pasture for hogs and lambs in Curry county this year, County Agent R. M. Knox reports. A 1½ acre planting on the farm of W. V. Pedro of Gold Beach, which had not had a rain since planted, carried seven brood sows and 45 pigs for 40 days with no supplemental feed. The sows were in good shape and the pigs thrifty and growing rapidly at the end of that time. Rape planted this year with barley as a nurse crop is carrying both lambs and hogs on the farm of R. G. McKenzie of Port Orford. This planting also never had rain until this fall and will carry more hogs later in the season, Knox says.
