In This Age of Civilization

MANY pages of history have been turned since that first boatload of Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock to establish a colony where they might practice their religious beliefs after the dictates of their own conscience, and thus to set a new precedent for religious tolerance in the world. They, and those who followed them, of whatever sect or cult, found in America the opportunity for religious freedom which they desired; and so firmly did they establish the custom that the right was written into the constitution when the United States government was organized. Hence, we of America today can little realize that such a thing as religious persecution still exists upon the face of the globe.

Only when the fact is brought close to home, as it was this week in letters received by Mayor Jones from relatives of the late Henry Heppner, the city's godfather, is there aroused more than a superficial interest in what often appears to be nothing more than sensational news mongering.

The appeals contained in the letters (in this issue) of Adolph Heppner and Luise Hepner reveal an unbelievable plight among the orthodox Jews in Germany. Faced with expulsion from the German business world, they must look elsewhere for a home. That they look to Heppner as a land of promise is undoubtedly explained by the impressions left through the city's godfather whose success here is attested by the monument left him in the city's name.

Such an appeal seems altogether out of place in this era of civilization. It seems almost fantastic to those of us in America who live unfettered by autocratic rule. Yet there is no denying it. In America good citizens of whatever creed are honored. Those who have equipped themselves to contribute to the good of society by attaining to the high professions of pharmacy and medicine would be a benefit to any community. Though the opportunity hoped for may be lacking here, there is no doubt that the German Heppners would be a welcome asset to the city founded by their relative.

Education for Young People

From Hehisch

Public schools throughout the United States are making a determined effort to supply the student with a store of knowledge that will be of use to him throughout his life. This Education Week, heads of school departments everywhere are studying the best methods of bringing about the most useful and helpful education that is possible. Throughout many such efforts, the schools have come to a high place in the growth of the country. To continue to develop, this Democracy must strive to build up the character and ability of those who are to take over the power of government.

A student needs more than a knowledge of intrinsic values to succeed in life. A strong character must be built up. The high school pupils of today should take advantage of the opportunity afforded them to advance in their powers of doing for themselves. The school is a home for high ideals. It provides opportunity for outstanding progress in literature, science, art, or music. Anyone who is interested and puts forth effort is highly rewarded in the resulting knowledge and ability. The fundamentals are given as a requirement, while advanced work may be taken up as desired. This creates a chance for the student to find a field that interests him and to develop a working knowledge of it. Music has advanced greatly through the organization of school bands. A band member may be regarded as one already making a place for himself in the world.

The improvement of social conditions is brought about by the associations of the young people, and their ability to understand one another is developed. It is a preparation for a life of working and living together for the common good.

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood
YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities that poison the system when retained.
Then you may suffer nagging backache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, puffiness under the eyes; feel nervous, miserable—all upset.

Don't Guess But Know
Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?
Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations
THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.
He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.
Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.
You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this — and see that you get what you want.

Women should take only liquid laxatives
MORE people could feel fine, be fit and regular, if they would only follow the rule of doctors and hospitals in relieving constipation.
Never take any laxative that is harsh in action. Or one, the dose of which can't be exactly measured. Doctors know the danger if this rule is violated. They use a liquid laxative, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.
Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why it should be a liquid like Syrup Pepsin.
Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if it doesn't give you absolute relief, if it isn't a joy and comfort in the way it overcomes any sluggishness or biliousness, your money back.
