First of the predicted changes in and Mrs. Claude Hanscom of Uma-the state's official personnel materialized Monday when Otto Hartwig bers from Igo, Lonerock and Mikstepped out as a member of the In- kalo granges in Gilliam and Wheeldustrial Accident commission to be succeeded by J. C. Joy, Portland democrat and labor leader. Specu-Ed Irby, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Boylation to the effect that Hartwig was to be taken care of with a good job in the new unemployment insurance organization does not seein to have been founded on anything substantial. The only position in the new set-up that might appeal to a man of Hartwig's calibre is that of executive secretary which has already been filled by the em-ployment of D. A. Bulmore, former Portland banker.

Appointment of Joy to the accident commission gives the democrats control of this important or-ganization. Albert R. Hunter chairman of the commission, is also a democrat, and T. Morris Dunne, the third member, is a republican. Joy has been a personal friend of Governor Martin's for many years and was active in his behalf during the recent gubernatorial campaign as a member of his campaign committee. The predicted retirement of A. J. Derby of Hood River as a member poned for the time being. Derby tendered his resignation to Govern-or Martin several months ago be-cause of his ill health but it was not accepted and he is said to have been persuaded to retain his place on this highly important board at least until the present extraordinary demand for organization of peoples' utility districts has been disposed of. Political prognosticators had Vernon Williams, editor of the Oregon Democrat, lined up for appointment to the commission in the event | family. of Derby's retirement. Re-appointment of Stanley Jewett of Portland as a member of the Liquor Control commission has dis-pelled any notion of a shake-up in the personnel of that commission. Governor Martin is said by administration spokesmen to be entirely satisfied with the services of A. K. McMahon of Albany and James Burns of Condon. Retirement of far distant future.

Registration of automobiles for 1936 is ahead of that of last year, according to Secretary of State Snell, although to date only a little more than 50 percent of the pas-senger cars in the state have been equipped with the new plates.

Governor Martin appears to have scored at least a technical knock-out in his verbal battle with Robert Sawyer, Bend newspaper man, over the status of PWA funds available for the new capitol program. Replying to the governor's criticism of the legislature for "throwing away $450,000 in federal funds" when the special session limited the cost of the new state house to $2,500,000, Sawyer has repeatedly insisted that the money was not yet lost to the state but could still be retrieved. Word from C. C. Hockley, state PWA administrator, is that a ranged offer just received is that a revised offer just received from Washington limits PWA funds for the capitol to 45 percent of the $2,500,000. The 'other $450,000, Hockley explains, has been absorbed a couple of days in the city.
