• Pension Fund.
• TB Elimination.

Salem, Ore.—Early signs point to a bumper crop of primary candidates. With nearly six weeks remaining in which to file for a place on the May ballot...

In the first Oregon district Sam Brown, the Gervais farmer, and Walter Norblad, youthful Clatsop county legislator, both admit that they are giving serious consideration to suggestions that they enter the lists against James W. Mott...

Walter M. Pierce of La Grande already has competition for the democratic nomination for Congress in the second Oregon district in the person of V. S. Howard of Madras who has already filed his formal declaration with the secretary of state...

Oregon's formal request for a share of Uncle Sam's old age pension fund will be in the hands of the National Security board within the week. This will put the state's old age pension set-up squarely before the federal board for acceptance or rejection...

Carl F. Gould, consulting architect employed by the capitol reconstruction commission, expects the new state house to be completed and ready for occupancy by April, 1938.

Governor Martin frowns on the proposal of the city of Salem to turn Willson park over to the state for capitol purposes.

Securities in which funds of the World War Veterans State Aid commission has invested its sinking fund have increased in value by approximately $250,000 since the dark days of 1932...

Tuberculosis, the white plague, can be entirely eliminated, in the opinion of Dr. G. C. Bellinger, superintendent of the state tuberculosis hospital.

Two things are needed to attain this end, Bellinger points out in a report to State Treasurer Uguis C. Holman, member of the state board of control. One of these involves increased field work in the prevention of tuberculosis and the home care of tuberculosis patients...

Ballinger recommends the expenditure of between $500,000 and $600,000 on new hospital facilities in this state as follows:

Another 50-bed hospital unit at the Salem institution to cost approximately $125,000.

Construction of a 60-bed tuberculosis unit in connection with the medical center at Portland at a cost of between $175,000 and $240,000.

Bellinger's recommendations will probably be placed before the next state legislature for consideration. A total of 216 drunken drivers had their automobile operators' licenses revoked in the seven month period between July 1, last, and February 1, according to Secretary of State Shell.

Intended as a concession to small farm and home owners a proposed constitutional amendment sponsored by 20 members of Portland post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, would limit taxes on property up to an assessed valuation of $2500 to $10 a year.

Every rural school in the state will be visited by a deputy state fire marshal in a state-wide home fire prevention campaign just launched by Hugh H. Earle, state fire marshal, and C. A. Howard, superintendent of public instruction.

Income tax payers are being urged by the state tax commission to file their returns early and avoid the last minute rush. Last year, the commission points out, more than 3000 persons filed their returns on the final day in the Portland office alone...

Orville S. Gamble, superintendent of the state school for adult blind in Portland was exonerated of charges of extravagance and insubordination at a hearing before the board of control last week.

BRING ON YOUR AMENDMENT. New Dealers hotly debate disputed questions; they vigorously assert that the people have a right to amend their fundamental law, and that conditions exist today which the founding fathers could not have had in mind when they framed the Constitution.

Two Per. of People Don't Own 80 Per. of the Wealth

Washington—Henry Ford thinks he seldom speaks. Sitting at his right hand is W. J. Cameron, accepted generally as Mr. Ford's spokesman.

In a recent broadcast Mr. Cameron tore to shreds the argument frequently advanced during the past two years by New Deal spokesmen whose aim has been to array "those who have not" against "those who have."

"Who owns the United States?" Answering his own question, in his own way, he continued: "Who owns the homes and farms and personal property, the stores and factories, the money stock and the debts of the United States?"

To all of which the reply is, Bring on the proposed amendments; submit them in the manner provided by the Constitution, itself; but until those changes are regularly submitted and adopted, guide your conduct by the law as it is written.

of wealth, 22 per cent of the whole was dwellings, the homes of the people, valued at 192 billion dollars. Who owns them? Next in volume of wealth were the farms at 58 billion dollars, or 12 per cent of the whole.

"Of the 25 million houses and lots in this country, 17 million are owned by their occupants, most of the others are the small investments of the same individuals. In cities, 70 per cent of this property is free of mortgage, and banks hold only one-fifth of such mortgages as exist.

"Again: Personal property of nearly 50 billion dollars' value is almost completely owned by its users. Take the 25,000,000 automobiles for example. About 38 per cent of them are paid for when bought; 96 1-2 per cent of installment purchases result in full ownership.

"Then we come to what is called corporate wealth. Take public utilities and transportation; together they account for 14 per cent of the wealth, normally 63 billion dollars. Their ownership is distributed among 12 million people—45 per cent of them women—so widely distributed that government has based a policy on that fact.

"The Ford Motor Co. alone deals with 5,300 other concerns, more than half of which are capitalized for less than $75,000. Conservatively computing the private individual share in all these things, we have this—about 72 per cent of the nation's wealth is held by ordinary individual owners.

"That disposes of the falsehood that while our people were working and rearing their families and minding their own business, this country was stolen from them. The wealth of the country is not owned by a handful of people."

IRRIGON By MRS. W. C. ISOM J. O. Swearingen, who has been ill with a severe cold, is improving. Patsy Markham is quite ill from complications after an attack of measles. Dr. Belt of Hermiston was called to attend her Friday night. The high school basketball team motored to Heppner Saturday night playing the high school team there. The score was 25-17 in Irrigon's favor.

Revival services at the Pentecostal church will continue during the coming week, with closing services next Sunday evening. Miss Avery, a Cuban missionary, gave a very interesting address at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Root of Boardman were at the Sunday afternoon services. Mr. and Mrs. Will Grabil were in town a short time Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Isom were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Isom Friday. George Rand and Ben Vincent were business visitors in Hermiston Monday. Marshal Markham is with the home folks for a few days. Would like to know whereabouts of Tracie Lichtenhal, Lizzie Lichtenhal, and Mrs. George Blahm as they are heirs to insurance of Robert Wall, formerly Andy Lichtenhal, of 2625 East Stauson Ave., Huntington Park, Cal.
