May They Come Again.

HEPPNER was fortunate to have the district 13, class B high school basketball tournament play-ed here last week end. It was an outstanding sports event participated in by schools from 13 counties. Staging of the event here made Heppner the focal center of attention of sportslovers of the district.

That local patronage of the event fell far short of what might be ex-marked finis to the last unbroken stipulation of the treaty of Ver-Sailles, as well as junking the Locarno pact. In effect the act was an open violation of diplomatic relations between Germany and France. The world, agog, has looked askance whether well as the sail of the sail Imminent.

Informed observers say war will not come soon. Germany for the moment has made her coup. The other countries do not have the means of financia. means of financing a war, and besides France and England have another interest bothering them on the Mediterranean. Now as poilu and Fritz look at each other through rifle sights across the Rhine, and airplanes reconnoiter back and forth, diplomats of the nations involved have retired to London to attempt new pacts to preserve peace.

Germany would come back into the League of Nations on her own terms. And Italy has been given a way to be relieved of economic sanctions threatened by the League. Europe for the moment is a powder keg. The slightest spark might start the conflagration to again set the world on fire.

Uncle Sam, with pockets filled with IOU's from the last war, seems safely aloof. But how many times he will stand busting in the nose before going into action remains to be seen, in case the fireworks are set off. "M. U. " Building Use Observed Corvallis.—Completion of seven years use of the big Memorial Uncollege campus was observed last week end with members of the gov-ion building on the Oregon State erning boards of the Union holding 'open house" and meeting with embers of the state board of higher education which was on the cam pus for a regular session March 8 The building, now the center of student, faculty and alumni activities, was built as a memorial to OSC men who served in the World war. It was financed without state money. The student dally The Barometer, issued a special edition featuring the double event of the first regular meeting of the state board on the campus and the Memorial Union celebration.

Heppner the focal center of attention of sportslovers of the district. That local patronage of the event fell far short of what might be expected for such an event is to be lamented. It will probably reflect unfavorably upon this citys' being chosen as tournament host in the future. Sub-district tournaments were reported to have been better attended, and had it not been for subsidies taken from these, amounthere would have fallen far short of paying expenses. As it was it just about broke even.

The tournament itself was no disappointment to those who attended was of high caliber. All the teams showed the result of good coaching, Good sportsmanship was displayed on every hand.

Very noticeable is the progressively better brand of basketball played in the smaller schools of the district, due largely to better coaching, improved officialing and generially increased interest abetted by tournament play.

Members of the visiting teams were a clean bunch of youths, reflecting the type of character that sportsmanship as learned in hard competition builds. It is to be hoped that they enjoyed Heppner's hospitality and that they will want to come again.
