Where the Teams Play Next Sunday
Heppner vs. CCC at home, Ione at Fossil, Blalock at Condon.

Heppner lost its big opportunity to dump the league-leading Fossilians Sunday at Rodeo field when the invaders came up to bat in the first inning and touched Ray Massey for eight runs. Massey allowed only four safe hits but his wildness gave two safeties on walks and another when he hit a batsman. Rod Thomson took over the chucking in the second inning and gave a nice exhibition. He and Kelsay for the visitors each struck out twelve batsmen. Overcoming the huge Fossil lead proved a hopeless task, however, as the visitors got across three more runs in the remaining innings to equal the total acquired by the home lads. The game ended 11-3.

Sunday's victory gives Fossil undisputed title to first place with no chance of being headed, while Heppner's defeat throws her into a second-place tie with Condon. Only two games remain in the scheduled series, though Heppner and Condon have a postponed game yet to play, as have also Ione and Blalock. The Ione-Blalock game was called off Sunday because of the large exodus of Ione ball players to the Umatilla county pea fields. More than thirty Ione boys are reported as being engaged in the pea harvest in the Athena section. There were enough ball players among them to get together a pick-up team last Sunday and beat an undefeated Athena team 1-0 in a seven-inning game.

Manager Fred Hoskins of the locals announces a ball game scheduled with Pendleton's Blue Mountain league Buckaroos to be played in the Round-Up city next Thursday evening, and the local club has also accepted the invitation of Condon to play there July 4.

Funeral services will be held from the Congregational church in Lexington at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Archdeacon Ralph V. Hinkle officiating. Interment will be in the Lexington cemetery.

Sadie Scott was born at Ottawa, Canada, January 4, 1856, the daughter of James and Emily (Davis) Scott. She died at Heppner hospital at 11:12 a. m., June 17, 1936, aged 80 years, 5 months and 13 days.

When a child of 13 she moved with her parents from Canada to the United States and settled in Iowa where she finished her education and taught school until her marriage to Edgar D. She lived near Dow City, Iowa, until 1882 when she came west, locating at Pendleton and living there for two years. VETERANS SMILE AS BONDS ARRIVE $36,000 Comes to World War Ser- vice Men of County; Cash- ing Safeguarded.

Faces of local World war veterans beamed as they opened the Wednesday morning mail. It contained notice that the bonds had arrived in payment of the balance due on their adjusted compensation certificates for services rendered.

More than $36,000 will come to Morrow county veterans in this manner, it is estimated by Paul M. Gemmill, adjutant of the local post American Legion, who assisted in making out the bond applications. The bonds are in $50 denominations, and odd amounts above that divisible by fifty are paid by government check, accompanying the bonds. Several veterans had their bonds in hand shortly after the distribution window opened at the post office Wednesday morning.

Portland is the nearest pay-station for cashing the bonds, but arrangements for cashing them may be made at the local post office should veterans wish to cash them immediately.

While cashable immediately, the bonds draw interest for ten years at the rate of 3 percent. Principal and interest are free from all forms of taxation except estate, inheritance or gift taxes.

The bonds are cashable only at a United States postoffice or the U. S. treasury by the registered owner, and the request for payment must be signed by him in ink or indelible pencil in the presence of a postmaster and certified to by him. Certain postoffices only are designated as paying offices (the nearest to Heppner being Portland), and postmasters elsewhere are authorized to receive the bonds and transmit them at government risk to a paying office where government checks are issued.

Special arrangements for execution of requests for payment will be provided for registered owners who may be inmates of any institution, information concerning which may be obtained from the treasury department by the head of the institution.

In no case will any payment be made other than to the registered owner or the representative of his estate. If any veteran has any questions concerning the bonds, he should contact the postmaster.

Charles B. Cox, Heppner postmaster, requests that veterans who wish to cash bonds call at post-office between hours of one and six, when special help will be provided. Anyone wishing appointment for filling out application between hours of 7 and 9 are asked to get in touch with the postmaster, Paul M. Gemmill, adjutant of local American Legion post, will be at the postoffice from 1 to 6 during the rush period in making applications to assist the office force.

ASK ROAD MONEY FOR CONDON ROUTE

County Court Makes Rec- ommendation to High- way Commission.

TO OIL LEX-JARMON

State Expects to do Work on Low- er Route; Delegation Visits Milton Pea Cannery.

Morrow county's apportionment of federal and state road money will be placed on the Heppner-Condon and Heppner-Spray roads if recommendation of the county court made before the state highway commission at Pendleton Friday evening is complied with. All members of the commission, engineer and secretary and Governor Martin attended the Pendleton hearing. Those in attendance from here included W. T. Campbell, judge; George N. Peck and Frank S. Parker, commissioners, and Harry Tamblin, county engineer.

Practical assurance was given the local delegation that oiling of the Lexington-Jarmon market road would be proceeded with in the fall with the probability that the state would do the work itself. On the first opening of bids, all bids were rejected. Little possibility was held that the work would be completed in time to be of benefit for wheat hauling this season, however.

A delegation was present from Gilliam county and offered the co-operation of that county in building its end of the Heppner-Condon road but asked that the state take over construction of the Burton Wilson grade.

Definite word was not given as to whether the county's apportionment of the federal-state money would all be used for new construction or whether part of it might go for maintenance.

The local delegation left here early and went on through to Milton in the morning where they were conducted through the pea cannery. The season had not quite reached its peak when it was estimated at least 600 people would be employed in the industry there. They also made a trip through some of the fields where the peas were being harvested, and saw the separators at work.

Speed, they learned, is a prime requisite in handling the peas as not more than 12 hours is permitted to elapse from the time the vines are cut until the peas are in the can.

Judge Campbell has arranged a junket of business men and farmers from this section to make a similar tour of inspection next Saturday and has extended an invitation for all interested to attend.

Young Democrats Plan Roosevelt Day Barbecue

The Young Democratic club of Morrow county will hold a barbecue at the Fair grounds Saturday evening, June 27. A meeting will be held in the afternoon at 2 o'clock with a program of musical and band numbers. The barbecue will be served at 5 o'clock in the evening after which the two-hour broadcast and President Roosevelt's speech will be heard. If possible the Standard Oil loud speaker will be used at this time.

Committees appointed are Chas. B. Cox, entertainment; Walter Eubanks, meat; Albert Adkins, serving; Glenn Hayes, grounds; D. M. Ward, R. B. Rice, Guy Huston and Harry Duval, executive committee; Robert Jones, tickets.

This is for the public. The county court has graciously offered the use of the fair pavilion in case of rain.

KLAMATH MEN VISIT.

Harry D. Bolvin, state legislator, and Harold Olsen, of Klamath Falls, were visitors in this city Saturday on a tour of the state in the interests of Mr. Bolvin's candidacy for speakership of the house. Mr. Bolvin received both the democratic and republican nomination of his district for reelection and feels assured of being returned to Salem this fall. While here he enjoyed a visit with a colleague of the last session, Millard R. Rodman, Crook county representative now manager of the local soil conservation service.

IONE GIRL HONORED.

Miss Linea Troedson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Troedson of Ione, was recently honored by election to presidency of Home Economics Teachers association of Portland high schools. Announcement with Miss Troedson's picture was made in Monday's Oregonian. She has taught home economics for the last two years in Girls' Polytechnic high school.

WANTS HISTORICAL DATA.

Rose Liebrand, with Oregon writers' project of "The American Guide," American historical research, arrived here this week and will spend the next two months in the county working on a history of Morrow county. Ralph Corrigan Dies Suddenly of Pneumonia

Funeral services are being held from the Elks temple at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Ralph Corrigan, 38, well known sheepman of the Butter creek section, who died on Tuesday morning at St. Anthony's hospital, Pendleton, from an attack of pneumonia. Last rites are being conducted by Heppner lodge 358, B. P. O. Elks with arrangements in charge of Phelps Funeral home, and Rev. Joseph Pope delivering the funeral address. Interment is being made in Masonic cemetery.

Mr. Corrigan took suddenly ill on Saturday, June 6, and though he was rushed to the hospital within three hours from the time he took ill, the ravages of the disease proved too great for him to overcome.

He was born February 1, 1898, at the Butter creek home of M. S. and Isabella Corrigan, pioneer residents of that section. His boyhood days were spent on the farm and he attended grade school at the Butter creek school house, later attending high school at Columbia Junior college at Milton. He assisted his father in running the large Corrigan sheep interests until his father's death when he operated independently and assisted in taking care of his mother's interests.

He married Gladys Howell of Hardman in 1930, and for a time the family residence was made at that place, though most of the time was spent on the Butter creek farm. Surviving besides the widow are the mother, Mrs. Isabella Corrigan; three sisters, Mrs. T. J. O'Brien of Echo, Mrs. Fred Hoskins of Ione and Mrs. Wilbur Gorley of Heppner, and a cousin, Herbert Corrigan of Westfall, Ore.

Ralph Corrigan was ever considered a good neighbor, and was of generous nature. He leaves a wide circle of friends who regret his untimely passing.

CONDON BEATS CCC'S, 7-6.

Burns' single in the sixth to tie up the score. McCormack tripled in the seventh with one out but the next two batters could not bring him home. In the last of the ninth Ogilvy tripped to deep center field and Ashenfelter scored him with a clean hit to center.

Red Cross Chapter Aids Christmas Gift Project

Six Christmas packages will help gladden the hearts of ill men in the naval or military service, or those stationed in foreign ports, as a gift from Morrow county chapter American Red Cross, announces Josephine Mahoney, chairman. The packages will be forwarded this week.

Each package contains playing cards, housewife, pocket diary stationery, handkerchiefs, wash cloths, tooth brush, shaving cream, small comb in case, all in cretonne bag. They are tied in Christmas wrappings ready for mailing. The Energetic Ten club is making the housewives, or sewing kits.

The local chapter has participated for several years, and a typical expression of thanks is that recently received by the local chairman from Lt. Col. R. W. Dusenbury, 7th Infantry, commanding Chilkoot Barracks, Alaska. Dusenbury wrote: "I wish to express the deep appreciation of the entire command for the thought and effort that made these gifts possible. This year we have an unusually large number of very young men, many of them spending their first Christmas away from home, and in perhaps the most isolated station garisoned by American troops. Your remembrance was a great factor in preserving the morale of the men."

Mr. Mason was knocked about 20 feet by the force of the kick and was unconscious for about an hour. The blow hit him directly over the heart.

Frank E. Mason was born May 17, 1871, on the home ranch on Rhea creek, the son of Joseph and Augusta Mason. He has followed farming in Morrow county since reaching manhood, the last several years being spent on the old home ranch.

He is survived by one son, Frank, Jr.; four brothers, Bert, Jess, Joe and Harold; and two sisters, Ella Mason and Nettie Lundy Portland; Mrs. J. O. Kincaid, Mrs. M. E. Carter and Mrs. Ed Buschke of Ione.

Reynolds Appointed to Aid Planning Work

Clarence W. Reynolds, for some time assistant on the staff of the state relief committee, has been named special executive assistant in charge of coordination activities for the Oregon State planning board, it was announced by Ormond R. Bean, board chairman.

Work of organizing and coordinating planning work in counties a project begun a year ago by Dr. F. A. Parsons, head of the sociology department of the University of Oregon, will be continued by Mr. Reynolds. Dr. Parsons, a member of the planning board, will continue as chairman of the coordination division of the organization.

A program of cooperation with county planning commissions is regarded as one of the most important functions of the state planning board, Mr. Reynolds stated. Planning groups are given the benefit of the technical and research facilities of the state board, and projects having state-wide significance are also worked out.

Mr. Reynolds has had considerable experience in public service, and is highly qualified for his place with the planning board, Mr. Bean said. Before joining the relief committee, which has granted him a leave of absence of six months to work with the planning board, Mr. Reynolds directed transient relief work in Oregon and worked out the program for this activity.

Survey Looks to Federal Project on Range Water

Data showing the vital need for wells, dams, reservoirs and other water projects that will greatly increase the value of vast areas of range land in eastern Oregon will be included in the water resources survey now under way in Oregon, it was announced by Ormond R. Bean, chairman of the Oregon state planning board.

P. M. Brandt, head of the department of animal husbandry of Oregon State college, is now in eastern Oregon personally conducting the survey. He is already familiar with grazing and other problems of this section of the state, and he will personally designate sites where water developments are badly needed.

Mr. Brandt is secretary of the planning board's eastern Oregon land use committee, which has already taken up study of this project.

Areas to be investigated by Mr. Brandt are located in Lake, Harney, Malheur, Deschutes, Crook, Morrow and Jefferson counties.

The water resources survey of Oregon will be a part of the national project sponsored by the National Resources committee, at the request of President Roosevelt. It is hoped that inclusion of data on water needs of eastern Oregon will eventually lead to development of these projects by the federal government.

At many places range can only be used a part of the year at present, and necessitates expensive movement of stock. Much grazing land often suffers, not only from crowding of stock but by tramping, it is pointed out. If the land could be used the year around, it would not only better conditions for stock raising, but would make administration of the Taylor grazing act more efficient. Mr. Brandt points out. Cooperation of the grazing administration will be enlisted for the work.

JULY 3 DEADLINE FOR A C P WORK SHEETS

July 3 has been announced as the last date for filling out work sheets for the new agricultural conservation program. Everyone, except those living in Boardman and Irri-gon, should fill out their work sheets in the county agent's office. Those at Boardman should see Paul Smith, and those at Irri-gon should contact Don Rutledge.

The filling out of a work sheet does not, in any sense, constitute a contract or an agreement of any sort, but it will, nevertheless, be impossible to take advantage of the new plan unless such a work sheet has been filled out by the closing date. Before the county committee can complete the necessary records it will be necessary that the

Field Day Set June 25 At Pendleton Station

Pendleton.—The annual field day at the Pendleton branch experiment station is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, June 25, announces G. A. Mitchell, superintendent. Mitchell, together with D. E. Stephens, superintendent of the Moro station, and possibly other staff members of the state college, will be at the station that day to explain to farmers the results of the research being carried on. Visitors will be able to view the results of varietal trials with wheat and other grains more smut-resistant, high-yielding sorts.

The station will be at its best at that time just before harvest, and those in charge are preparing much of interest for those who attend. Particular stress will be placed this year on methods of preventing soil erosion and practices which will meet the requirements of the new agricultural conservation program.
