

IONE

By MARGARET BLAKE

Willard Farrens, for many years a resident of Ione and of Morrow county, died suddenly last Sunday while assisting with the count of some sheep he was loading at the Oscar Keithley farm. Mr. Farrens had a serious attack of heart trouble several weeks ago from which he had not entirely recovered.

Willard Grant Farrens was born near Salem, Oregon, in October, 1864. He came to Morrow county 65 years ago. He married Minnie Rodman and to them seven children were born, four of whom with their mother survive him. They are Mrs. Nina Van Dusen and Guy Farrens of Oakland, Calif., Zoe Bauernfeind of Morgan, and Rupert of Camas, Wash. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Laura Wood of Portland, and Mrs. Anna Clement of Seattle; two brothers, Glenn and Walter of Hardman, and twelve grand children.

Funeral services for Mr. Farrens were held at the Congregational church on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Young, Methodist minister of Heppner, officiating. Mrs. Walter Roberts sang, "Does Jesus Care?" and other musical numbers were sung by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Balsiger, Mrs. Walter Roberts and E. R. Lundgren. Interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Mrs. Henry Gorgor has received news of the marriage of her brother Forrest McCarthy of Pendleton, to Miss Francis Blum of that city.

At the regular meeting of the city council last Tuesday night it was decided to allow one-way traffic only for the block of the street in front of the school house. This is to try to eliminate the dangers attendant on the loading and unloading of busses in front of the building. The council also decided to assist the school district in the construction of an eight-foot concrete sidewalk in front of the school. This is a much needed improvement.

Mrs. Emma Spegal, who has cared for Mrs. John Louy for the past year, is leaving on Thursday for an extended vacation. Her place is being taken by Mrs. Evelyn Schuler of Walla Walla.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harbke of Portland were here on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mearl Blake returned home to Portland on Sunday after spending a week visiting relatives here.

Alcy Jacobson, automobile salesman of Pendleton, was in town on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Christopherson and family motored to The Dalles on Sunday. There they met Mr. Christopherson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Christopherson of Portland, and visited with them and also with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ball at the hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Thompson and family moved on Tuesday to McMinville where they have rented a small acreage. The Thompsons have made their home near here for nearly twenty years, first in the Ella district north of town and later on the Ralph Akers ranch in Gooseberry. On Sunday afternoon their neighbors gathered at their home to bid them farewell. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time was enjoyed. The good wishes of their many friends go with them to their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterson and family departed on Wednesday for a motor trip to southern Oregon. Mr. Peterson expected to attend the American Legion convention at Roseburg while away.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Engelmann spent last Friday night here at the Frank Engelmann home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bergevin and children, Betty and Denward, drove to Walla Walla on Monday evening to attend funeral services for Mr. Bergevin's brother-in-law, Charles Harmon of that city, who was killed in an automobile accident on Sunday.

German Town Planned

the most up-to-date modernization should go hand in hand with a scrupulous salvaging and restoration of the beauties of the Middle Ages. Its aim was to be made Seest's asset instead of its liability.

It all centered finally in Pastor Clarenbach. The story is too long to tell in detail. The bed of the moat was cleared and made into charming gardens. Prizes were offered for businessmen who conducted their advertising most successfully in the spirit of old Seest. Incidentally, Pastor Clarenbach is pro-advertising and not anti-advertising. Pride was aroused in the householder for the antiquity of his ancient dwelling. The old coats of arms were regilded, the old mottoes furnished and made to appear as they were when Luther came to Seest, streets were made practical for modern traffic in such a way that the medieval beauty of the place was enhanced rather than lessened.

All over Germany now are planning associations that have the same name as Pastor Clarenbach's little group, Heimatpflegerverein, and these are associated with many other powerful groups. The pastor himself is at the head of the movement for all Westphalia—and Westphalia represents the most advanced regional planning in Germany, if not the world, and Seest the most successful plan fully and successfully carried out.

The very business men who were so actively spoiling what was left of Seest thirty years ago are now the strongest supporters of Pastor Clarenbach, because the money is jingling in their pockets that proves that civic beauty has greater possibilities of private profit than letting every man carry out his own sweet will with his own property. The remarkable thing is that every bit of this was carried out without the slightest compulsion. The only force used was moral suasion and public opinion.

Now even the great motor speedways that are being built in every direction across Germany are so laid out as to respect the ideas for which Father Clarenbach fought almost in vain for fifteen years and for which he still fought on with increasing success for the last ten years for which people in Oregon like Robert W. Sawyer and Mrs. Jessie M. Honeyman are now fighting an uphill battle such as Pastor Clarenbach was fighting from a decade to thirty years ago.

TAKE 53 COYOTES.

The State Industrial Accident commission has just closed its biggest year, according to Albert Hunter, chairman, with receipts totaling more than $4,000,000. The annual report of the commission shows $6,632,771.56 set aside in the segregated fund to pay pensions to 3330 beneficiaries including 790 widows, more than 1000 orphans, 223 permanently and totally disabled workmen with 418 dependents and 899 partially disabled workmen. Although industrial activity covered by the workmen's compensation act was much greater last year than for 1928-29 accidents were greatly reduced and only 130 fatalities were reported as compared to 200 for the previous year.

Oregon sold $3,268,000 worth of hard liquor through its state stores and agencies during the first six months of 1936, according to a report of the Liquor Control commission. Profits for the six month period amounted to $1,156,742 from all sources including license fees and privilege taxes.

Romantic Era Ends

who had been employed in trailing settled down to straight herding or other pursuits and one of the picturesque eras of Morrow county history came to an end.

Besides the names mentioned, Lund recalled that Bud Willingham, Ed Stevenson, George, Lee and Uzz French were others who took part in the drives. Jim Thomson states that he "trailed" one summer, so his name is entered upon the roster. Jim went with a band to Idaho about the time the fencing started. His experiences were identical with those of Lund and others but he decided to stick closer home thereafter.

Older residents of the county recall the names of Bunce, Ormsby, Palmer and Owens. They were buyers who bought sheep here and had them trailed to their ranches for winter feeding. Doc Wilson of Platte Valley, Nebraska, was another buyer who was seen frequently in Heppner. A capitalist named Owens lived at Denver and is said to have financed several of the trailing expeditions. He had a fine ranch near Denver, Bijou ranch, which was the mecca of sportsmen of the day. Fine horses were a hobby with him and his stables housed some of the finest stock of the time. L. L. Ormsby is a resident of Boise. He visited Heppner a few years ago but it was not recalled whether he was buying sheep at that time.

Lund's last trip was to the Big Horn country in Wyoming. Returning to Heppner after that trip he followed herding and other pursuits many years.

POWER TO BE SHUT OFF.

It is expected that electric service in Heppner, Lexington and Ione will be shut off next Sunday morning from 4 a. m. until 5:30 a. m. to allow repairs to be made to the high voltage system at the Deschutes river crossing. Strong winds prevail in the river canyon and the constant swing of the wires causes breaking of the wire strands. To eliminate the possibility of a longer interruption to service during business hours it has been decided to make repairs at a time when the least amount of service is being used, and with the least amount of inconvenience to users.
