CAPTAIN DANCEY ROUTES NEW DEAL

Noted Journalist, Author,
Lecturer Addresses New Republican Club.

TAX BURDEN HEAVY

Heppner's Share of National Debt
Placed at $300,000; Scrapping of Democratic Platform Cited.

Capt. S. N. Dancey, world journalist, author and lecturer, laid a fighting Irish challenge to the voters of the county in an address before the newly organized Morrow County Republican club at the court house Tuesday evening. That challenge was whether Morrow county would vote for Roosevelt, registration and bootlegging, or whether they would back Landon for a return to the sound principles of American constitutional government which secure to everyone the right to life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

In his discourse throughout, based on facts which he himself uncovered as chairman of the republican nationwide fact finding agency, Captain Dancey refused to refer to the present administration as "Democrat." The New Dealers went into office on as fine a democratic platform as was ever written, pledged to governmental economy, less bureaucracy, and a balanced budget. Republicans and democrats alike rallied to the support of the Rooseveltian banner on this platform, evidencing the greatest unanimity of support accorded any president since Washington. It was that support which permitted establishment of NRA. After more than three years in office the New Dealers have scrapped nearly every plank in that platform. They have increased the national debt to the all time peak of 35 billions of dollars. They have loaded the government with bureaus and more bureaus, many of which have payrolls far in excess of the amount of money they take in. Far from balancing the national budget, they have unbalanced it to the point where the widest stretch of the imagination cannot conceive of its being brought into balance in a long long time, and only through the heaviest burden of taxation ever experienced by the American people.

The present national debt amounts to more than $248 for every man, woman and child in the United States. It exceeds the assessed valuation of all the farm lands and farm equipment in the country. If all the people were to join a nudist colony and go without clothes for a year, the money represented would not take care of the New Deal spending for the same length of time.

Heppner's share of the New Deal debt amounts to more than $300,000. And it will have to be paid. The democratic platform promised jobs for the unemployed. At the end of the New Dealers' three years in office, the number of unemployed is 12,300,000, an increase instead of decrease. In place of independent jobs in private industry, the New Deal has given the unemployed a mere subsistence dole with no promise of anything better in the future. It has said there must be a large class of unemployed under the new order.

The only tax offered to compensate for the additional expenditure so far is the corporations' surplus tax. Cited by New Dealers as a "soak the rich" tax, this tax has thrown the biggest scare into private industry of any New Deal act. And it's not the big fellow, who can pay it without blinking, but the little fellow who is caught. Small industries who used up their surplus capital to keep going through the depression and who looked forward to better times in order to make necessary repairs and expand to meet increasing business are the ones who are hit by the tax. This class of industry, by having their surplus capital depleted by the tax route, faces extinction. It cannot carry the burden. Instead of encouraging industry, and thus providing more jobs, this New Deal act is resulting in more and more unemployment.

With his "stream-lined" radio voice Roosevelt said "we are waging a war on entrenched greed." By implication he would have the American people believe that the New Deal is taking the wealth away from the millionaires and giving it to the little fellow. This while he, himself, is listed as a substantial stockholder in one of our greatest and richest corporations. This while immense private fortunes have been made from New Deal acts. If the combined wealth of all the Morgans, Rockefellers, DuPonts, Fords and all the other multimillionaires were taken, it would pay for New Deal spending for only eight months.

This was part of Captain Dancey's summation of facts on the New Deal. He cited instances where government money is being used to maintain the New Dealers in office. He charged them with corrupting at the source news emanating from Washington, a direct threat at the existence of a free press, one of the greatest safeguards of democracy. He credited Rexford G. Tugwell, a Marxian socialist, and not Frank

REPUBLICANS SET FOR CAMPAIGN

County Club Organized, Assisted by State, National Leaders;
Will Boost for Landon.

The first official act of the Morrow County Republican club organized Tuesday evening at dinner at Hotel Heppner, was to wire birthday greetings to Hon. Alfred M. Landon, the republican presidential candidate. Mr. Landon was 43 years old yesterday. The wire read:

"Newly organized Republican Club Morrow County sends birthday felicitations to next President United States."
Dave Eccles of Portland, state chairman First Voters division of the state organization; Herb Jonas of Prineville, state vice-president; and Capt. S. N. Dancey, national campaign speaker, assisted with the organization which resulted in election of the following officers:

Spencer Crawford, president; Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers, vice-president; W. Lawler Parker, secretary; Billy Cocheil, treasurer; advisory committee, S. E. Notson, A. Trooson, Walter Wright, Lawrence Redding, Mrs. Ruth B. Mason, Guy L. Barlow, and Mrs. Elsie M. Beach. Crawford acted as temporary chairman of the meeting.

Eccles outlined the purpose of the organization to establish a militant unit in behalf of the candidacy of Landon for president and a reversion to sound American principles of government. Anyone subscribing to republican principles who is over 18 years of age is eligible to membership.

Organization of republican forces has been progressing like wild-fire in the east, augmented by enrollment of many Jeffersonian democrats under the Landon banner, Captain Dancey told the group. He had just come west from an extensive speaking tour in the east.

Affiliation with the group may be had on payment of $1 membership fee, which includes subscription to "The Trumpeter," national publication of the organization.

The local club plans to have representation at the state convention in Corvallis, September 16, at which Col. Frank Knox, vice-presidential candidate, will be the principal speaker. A number of prominent national speakers are expected to be sponsored here by the local club, including Mrs. Benjamin Franklin of Kansas, considered one of the outstanding woman orators of the nation.

Council Changes Meeting Time; Asks Bills Early

Changing of its monthly meeting from the first Monday to the middle of each month, and asking that all bills be presented by the 5th if they are to be honored, was the principal action of the council at its meeting Tuesday evening. No new developments were reported on the water situation.

The council refused to sign an application for WPA funds to assist in construction of a swimming tank, as asked for by the Lions club committee, until exact figures and specifications are in hand. A sympathetic attitude toward this course was evidenced, however.

Ione Man Breaks Leg In Automobile Accident

C. F. Feldman, Ione wheat raiser, received a fractured leg when his car went over the grade and turned over on the way into Ione last night. He was rushed to Heppner for treatment by a local physician. Mr. Feldman was reported to have been riding alone when the accident happened.

TO HOLD AUCTION.
Lee Slocum was in from the Sand Hollow farm Tuesday, laying plans for an auction sale on the 16th, when he will offer for sale all of his farm stock and equipment. V. R. Runnion has been retained as auctioneer. Mr. and Mrs. Slocum plan to move from the farm. A detailed list of articles to be sold appears in another column.

GIVEN COUNTY POST.
Billy Cocheil has been appointed county chairman of the First Voters division of the Oregon Young Republicans club. Dave Eccles of Portland, state head of the division, made the appointment Tuesday evening. Cocheil's job will be to contact the young voters who will cast their first ballots for president in November.

NEW USE FOR AIR TIRES.
A combine with pneumatic tires? Why not? That's what Leo Gorgor, north Lexington wheat raiser, thought. He put the idea into practice by combining them and reports a big saving in tractor fuel, as well as securing much greater flexibility in machine operation. Mr. Gorgor was in the city Friday.

NEW TEACHER ARRIVES.
Miss Dorothy Peterson arrived Tuesday to accept the position of home economics teacher in the high school, being elected to the place made vacant last Saturday by resignation of Miss Helen Blackaby. Miss Peterson, whose home is Los Angeles, is a graduate of Oregon State college.

ELKS MEET TONIGHT.
Heppner lodge 358, E. P. O. Elks, will hold its first regular fall meeting tonight, and a large attendance of members is desired.

Labor Day Tribute Given; WPA May Aid Swim Tank

Oregon has the distinction of being the first state in the Union to endorse celebration of Labor Day by legislative enactment, S. E. Notson told the Lions club at its Tuesday luncheon, though the date was set for the first Monday in June. Colorado was the first state to set the holiday by legislative enactment on the first Monday in September, and the Oregon law was later amended to make the holiday in this state conform. Now every state in the Union observes the day the first Monday in September.

Notson gave this statistical information in paying tribute to the day originally instituted by organized labor, but which has come to be recognized as a day set apart to honor all labor. The occasion is especially fitting, said the speaker, since the only true wealth is obtained through application of intelligent labor to nature.

Dr. L. D. Tibbles reported for the club's swimming tank committee that a further possibility of obtaining the tank was revealed last week end on the visit of district WPA engineer Hayes to the city. He and Harry Tamblin, county engineer, had gone into the ramifications of the matter and believed that with WPA assistance the tank could be constructed at much less cost to the city than would be called for otherwise. Hayes was also reported as considering that WPA help could be obtained. Whether or not this is the case, Dr. Tibbles said, the city might be justified in levying a bond issue of $5000 which would be sufficient to build the tank in case WPA did not help, and if the government agency did help then the money could be used for installation of filtration plant which could not be included in the WPA assistance. The committee was to confer further with the council that evening.

Morrow on Honor List Of Death Free Counties

Twenty counties of the state scored perfect records in July with no fatalities from automobile accidents, reports Earl Snell, secretary of state. Four of these counties, Crook, Gilliam, Sherman and Wallowa showed a clean slate with no listing of injuries resulting from similar causes. The tabulation has been completed from accident records supplied by county sheriffs and city police officers.

Fatalities numbered four in Multnomah, Malheur and Tillamook counties during the month, while Deschutes and Marion each contributed three to the death score. Columbia, Hood River, and Umatilla had two each, and one fatality occurred in Baker, Grant, Jackson, Lincoln, Linn, Polk, Wasco, and Washington, bringing the total for the state to 32 deaths.

Crook was the only county of the state to report no accidents during the entire month. Car crashes resulted in 729 injuries in July and 3,033 accidents were recorded.

The 20 counties on the honor list are: Benton, Clackamas, Clatsop, Coos, Crook, Curry, Douglas, Gilliam, Harney, Jefferson, Josephine, Klamath, Lake, Lane, Morrow, Sherman, Union, Wallowa, Wheeler, and Yamhill.

Bank Will Entertain Clubbers at Exposition

Two 4-H club members in Morrow county will be given an opportunity to attend the Pacific International fair as guests of the First National Bank of Portland, according to an announcement made public this week by E. L. Morton, manager of the Heppner branch of the Portland bank.

The First National is sponsoring a 4-H club competition in Portland and in Multnomah, Clatsop, Tillamook, Coos, Klamath, Wheeler, Washington, Sherman, Morrow, Marion, Jackson, Linn, Wasco, Lake, Union, Wallowa, Malheur, Deschutes and Gilliam counties. The boy and girl winning in each of these club districts will be brought to Portland, all expenses paid, as guests of The First National for a three-day visit at the Livestock International.

H. C. Seymour, state club director, is working out details for a competition in which one boy and one girl will be selected in this county for their outstanding leadership and achievement in club activities.

Deer Hunting Season To Open September 20

The news is out at last, fellows. The deer hunting season will open at sunrise, Sunday, Sept. 20. The game commission was slow in releasing the opening date this year, and there has been a look of expectancy on many faces which will be greatly relieved by the news.

Hunting of native pheasants and grouse starts today, the release says. Heppner CCC camp will have a holiday tomorrow when four trucks will take 100 men to Pendleton for the Round-Up. The remainder of the men will attend Saturday. It is necessary for 50 men to remain in camp on fire duty.

Chas. W. Smith, former county agent and now assistant state county agent leader, was a visitor in the city today.

FOOTBALL ON SLATE

Coach Tetz Has Squad of Twenty;
To Play Fossil 18th; Smith-
Hughes Work in Demand.

Heppner's youth was smiling and happy as it tramped to school bright and early Tuesday morning for the beginning of the new term. Full of enthusiasm for the year's work, in the grades 199 boys and girls were enrolled, while in the high school there were 127 reports. Aiden Blankenship, superintendent. The number in high school exactly equals the enrollment at the start last year, while the grade enrollment was just five less.

By classes the enrollment figures given are, high school: seniors 29, juniors 28, sophomores 32, freshmen 36, and post graduates 4; grade school, 1st 27, 2nd 26, 3rd 24, 4th 20, 5th 24, 6th 23, 7th 28, and 8th 29.

Exceptional interest was indicated in the newly installed Smith-Hughes work with 31 enrolled in the two classes. Typing was also especially attractive with all machines filled for the regular classes, and some assignments necessary at extra periods.

The full staff of teachers reported at the opening with the exception of Miss Dorothy Peterson, home economics, who reported for the first time today. Miss Lulu Earnhardt of Pendleton substituted for Miss Peterson until her arrival.

Immediate interest was taken in extra-curricular activities of which football now holds the center of the stage. Coach Tetz had a squad of 20 at the first practice which he is busily rounding into shape for the first game slated here on the 18th with Fossil. Only five lettermen are in this year's squad, making much green material to work over. The lettermen are Len Gilman, Riley Munkers, William McCaleb, Norton King and Don Turner. Fred Hoskins, Jr., a transfer from Ione, is reported by the coach to be showing up well.

Senator J. G. Barratt Governor's Fair Guest

Senator J. G. Barratt attended the state fair yesterday as the guest of Governor Charles Martin, being accorded a place in the governor's box during the celebration of Governor's day at the fair. Mr. Barratt left Heppner by car Tuesday evening. He expressed pleasure at the prospect of being the governor's guest, considering the invitation a high honor.

In the last legislative session, Mr. Barratt was loyal to the governor's legislative program. Though he failed to receive endorsement of the republican voters of the district for nomination to the seat he now holds, he is not sorry for the warm place he gained in the heart of the state's executive.

IONE

By MARGARET BLAKE

Plans are being made for a benefit tea for the library on Sept. 19. At the meeting of the Women's Topic club last Saturday afternoon a committee was appointed to arrange for a place which will be announced later. It was also decided to open the library on Tuesday and Friday afternoons from two until five instead of Tuesday and Saturday as formerly.

The topic for the club meeting Saturday was "Caves" and interesting descriptions of Carlsbad and Mammoth caves were given by the committee. The Everglades of Florida were also described. Mrs. Eppa Ward presented a short program of entertainment at the close of the study hour. Refreshments were served. Hostesses were Mrs. Ruth Rietman, Mrs. Vera Rietmann, Mrs. Ruth Mason, and Mrs. Laxton McMurray, at whose home the meeting was held.

Cole E. Smith underwent a major operation at a hospital in Tacoma last week from which he is reported to be recovering satisfactorily. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Christopherson and family returned Saturday from a delightful vacation trip to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Parker and family who have made their home during the past two years on the Mahoney ranch near Morgan have moved to a farm near Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kitching are moving with their family to a farm near Albany. The Kitchings have lived on the Hutchcroft place northwest of Ione for several years but have decided this country is too dusty for them after being in the severe blows of last spring.

A pot luck supper was given at Morgan last Saturday night at the I. O. O. F. hall for the people of that community who are leaving. Mr. and Mrs. Esper Hansen of Portland took advantage of the double holiday to spend the past week end at the home of Mrs. Hansen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Engelman.

Mrs. Helen Long and daughter.

The double-header program, lasting three hours, is expected to attract a much larger crowd to the fair than usual, reports its management. Although the donkeys were there in July a re-arrangement is expected to attract more of those who saw them before and also others from a distance.

The fair proper will feature a grain show, exhibits of livestock, farm crops, 4-H clubs and home economics.

WOULD PROSECUTE TIMBER "THIEVES"

Three Plead Guilty in Justice Court to Cutting Griswold Timber; Mistake Admitted.

The names of a number of prominent Eight Mile men were drawn into the mesh of an investigation being made this week by M. C. Griswold of Portland of alleged theft of timber from his holdings south of Hardman. Caught in the mesh were Carl Leathers, Charley and Kinnard McDaniel of Hardman, who plead guilty in justice court to the charge of simple larceny of timber, and were fined $25 each, $10 of which was paid and the other $15 left on parole.

The Hardman men admitted before Justice Fred Lucas that they had cut timber on Griswold land, though only Leathers admitted he knew the land belonged to the Portland man. Charley McDaniel had assisted Leathers on the saw while on the way to his traps one day.

The Eight Mile men whose names were brought into the case, admitted cutting timber in the vicinity, but believed they had cut it off government land. They had secured permits from the local forester and thought they had followed his directions as to the proper location. One of the men involved accompanied Griswold and party to the place where he cut the timber and showed them the marked stumps. On being shown the corner stone and seeing the line surveyed, he admitted he had made a mistake.

Griswold appeared before the district attorney and demanded the arrest of all those whose names were involved, which the district attorney refused because of insufficient showing of criminal intent. Some of the men involved offered a settlement.

S. E. Notson, district attorney, said the matter would be presented before the next grand jury for investigation.

Griswold alleges theft of timber from his lands has been taking place for several years, and he is determined to stop it. He says that trespass signs put up several times have been removed, and he is offering a reward of $25 to anyone giving information leading to arrest and conviction of the person or persons who have removed them.

Harry Peterson Injured By Accidental Gun Shot

Harry Peterson was brought to Heppner Tuesday morning for treatment for shotgun wounds received when his father accidentally discharged a shotgun in his direction. The two were hunting a hawk on the Peterson farm, and Harry had gone over the creek bank into the brush to scare it out. When the bird arose his father shot at it, not knowing that Harry was in the line of fire.

The shot spattered Harry from the hips up, though none hit a vital spot. After emergency treatment at a doctors' office, he was taken to Morrow General hospital where he is being treated against possible infection.

Water Ditch Altercation Results in Man's Arrest

Jerome O'Connor, Rhea creek rancher, was treated at a local physician's office yesterday evening for head injury, and Lotus Robison, neighbor, was put under $500 bond, as the result of an altercation over a water ditch, in which Robison is alleged to have hit O'Connor on the head with a large rock.

O'Connor said he was in the ditch when Robison struck him with the rock. The scalp lacerations which resulted required several stitches to close.

STAR TO MEET.
Ruth chapter 32, Order of Eastern Star, will meet tomorrow evening at Masonic hall. Mrs. Lena Cox, worthy matron, requests members to please attend and assist with program of vacation reports.

C. A. Carrella, cinematographer from the Bureau of Motion Pictures, United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Bryan G. Schroder, motion picture director, and J. W. Baylor from the SCS regional office, Spokane, were visitors at the local CCC camp last week. These men were here to take motion pictures of SCS work done in the Heppner area and also of the blow land and range in this vicinity. The pictures, made for the U. S. D. A., are to be shown to schools, civic groups and CCC camps for educational information.

Lt. and Mrs. Louis P. Torrey are away on a twenty-one day leave. Lt. Torrey is on a seven day march with the Tenth Field artillery which will take him thru Bend, Klamath Falls, Medford and Eugene. While Lt. Torrey is on this maneuver, Mrs. Torrey will visit her parents in Albany, and later she and Lt. Torrey will visit a few of the Oregon beach resorts.

J. R. Johnson of Wasco was in town today, closing a deal whereby he sold his Boardman land to Elvin L. Ely. Mr. Johnson was accompanied by his son.

$25 REWARD!

I will pay $25 reward for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who destroyed the "No Trespass" signs on our property in Morrow county. M. C. GRISWOLD, Mallory Hotel, Portland, Ore. 27-28

COUNTY CLUBBERS WIN AT STATE FAIR

Ten 4-H Members Attend
With County Agent and Make Good Showing.

SHEEP PRIZES WON

Two Firsts and Other Places Taken with Nine Animals; Delegation
Will Return Tomorrow.

Ten Morrow county 4-H club members and their livestock made the trip to Salem to attend the Oregon state fair. The club members left Sunday with Joe Belanger, county agent, making the trip on Orville Cutsforth's truck.

With the judging completed, Morrow county may well be proud of the showing made by the clubbers. The nine sheep shown won two 1st places, one 2nd place, two 3rd places, two 4th places and one 7th place. The one heifer shown placed 6th in her class.

Opal Cool and Marion Krebs put on an excellent demonstration of the steps in making yarn, starting with a tied fleece and finishing with yarn which they made on a spinning wheel. It is too early to learn how their demonstration placed in competition.

Following is a detailed account of the showing made by the Morrow county club members:

In the fine wool ewe lamb class, Morrow county won the first four places with Gordon O'Brien first, Malcolm O'Brien second, Guy Moore third, and Pat O'Brien fourth. Ellwynne Peck won first with his fine wool yearling ewe. Jack Van Winkle placed third in the Lincoln market lamb class. In the Hampshire class, Ellwynne Peck placed fourth with his yearling ewe and Guy Moore won seventh with his market lamb. Maude Cool won sixth with her Jersey junior yearling heifer.

The club members will leave early Monday morning for Heppner. The following are the names of those making the state fair trip this year: Guy Moore, Malcolm O'Brien, Gordon O'Brien, Pat O'Brien, Ralph Neill, Ellwynne Peck, Jack Van Winkle, Opal Cool, Maude Cool and Marion Krebs.

Adkins Family Tendered Farewell Party by Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Adkins and family and Mrs. Alice Adkins, long-time Morrow county residents, were bid a sad adieu Tuesday evening at the Methodist church parlors when many friends met to bid them God-speed on removal from this city. They left yesterday for Cottage Grove to make their home in the future.

The Adkins family is among pioneer families of this county, having resided for many years in the Rhea creek section, though the home was removed to Heppner some twenty years ago. The large turn-out of friends at Tuesday evening's farewell party was a fitting tribute to the place of love and respect they claimed in the heart of the community. A pot-luck dinner and general get-together featured the party.

BROTHER HERE ON VISIT.
Harry Duncan is enjoying a visit this week with his brother, Walter S. Duncan of Hollywood, who arrived Sunday evening to stay until after the Pendleton Round-Up which he will take in this week end. Walter is an automobile salesman in the movie metropolis where he has been located for a number of years. This is his first visit to Heppner though he has been in Oregon on previous occasions. He was looking forward to the Round-Up for his first view of a real western show, for which attendance at a few of Hoot Gibson's rodeos on his Hollywood rancho had given him an appetite. Harry returned home last week from a ten-day stay at the coast where he recuperated from a recent illness and is now feeling much better.

GOES AFTER WOOD.
Not many men past the 70-year mark go out to the timber to cut their own wood, and W. G. McCarty, former mayor of the city, sets a tough mark for many a younger man to shoot at by doing just that. Mr. McCarty left town Tuesday afternoon for his cabin in the timber, pulling a trailer behind the old Buick, expecting to cut up a supply of wood before he returned. "Mac" is on the shady side of seventy, but he's not willing to quit. He says he feels better when he gets out and works some of the fat off. Occasionally he is assisted by his brother-in-law, R. W. Turner, another of those sturdy pioneers who still have the sand to make things go, even though the weight of many years makes the task a little harder.

ADD-A-STITCH CLUB MEETS.
The Add-A-Stitch club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Ordrie Gentry for their regular business session. Door prizes were won by Irene Padberg and Ordrie Gentry. Present were Nina Snyder, Irene Padberg, Zella Dufault, Elsie Cowins, Jennie Booher and Ordrie Gentry. An all-day quilting party will be held at the Gentry home next Wednesday, with pot-luck dinner at 11:30.
