It is a noble gesture of Editor Aldrich with one fell swoop of the band to blams all the demosphere on faw of the first team men were left ple made homeless by the holocaust. The news of this terrible calam-ity is distressing. While calling for neighbors to respond with money and supplies to bridge the emergen-cy, it tells of a bleak future for the near verticant and attractive const once verdant and attractive coast land. It tells of a whole city thrown face to face with destiny. Many families who have lost their homes and property may never re-cover the loss. In time, the copious rainfall of the region will again make the burned-over areas ver-iant, and there will be opportunity for those who survived to get a new start. The homes and buildings may be rebuilt, and even better than they were before. But the life that was lost can never be replaced, the wounds in the hearts of loved ones will never completely heal.

If, as the probability supposes, the distressing fire was of incen-diary origin, the criminal or crim-inals should be brought to quick justice. At least there should be eft no stone unturned to determine if possible, where the cause lies. The coast people have taken the low with their chins up. They are fighting to a man to subdue the flames, and already plans are being made to rebuild. They are entitled to all the help and encouragement possible to give them.

THE SECOND BATTLE OF THE "LITTLE BIG HORN."

A number of years ago, General

as intimated by a recently pub-lished wire from Representative Pierce to Secretary Wallace is that 'private interests" are manipulating the price-the same sort of dema-goguery that surrounds other New Deal tactics. (And in reference to this, if Representative Pierce, Secretary Wallace, or any other gov-ernment official has evidence that "private interests" are manipulating the grain price, these same of-ficials should be impeached for not bringing the offenders to justice, This week James N. Peek, first

AAA administrator who was defeated in his plans to administer the act according to the dictate of farm leaders and subsequently resigned, came out in open endorsement of Landon and the republican farm plank. Peek before supported both Smith and Roosevelt. This veteran in the battle to put across the McNary-Haugen bill and other measures having the endorsement of American agriculture, said following an interview with Landon that the republcian nominee stands four-square on the desires of American agriculture. Peek is probably the best informed man on this subject in the United States.

Bandon Laid Low.

SAD news comes from Bandon where at least eleven lives were lost and the entire city laid in ruin by fire. It was an unleashed forest which laid the city low, killing the eleven known dead and how many more that may yet be uncov ered, a forest fire estimated to have swept a 6000-acre area, and this only one of many fires burning over a wide front and threatening towns all the way from Gold Beach to Yachata. Untold damage to the rich timber resources of the region has resulted.

Last reports bring news of checkcleas reports oring news of cherk-ing of the flames, and relief agen-cleas on the job taking care of the distress. The Red Cross, national guard, CCC crews and other agencles responded rapidly and are taking care of the estimated 2000 peo-
