NLESS a little caution is used in voting on the state measures, the voter may be tricked into voting as he does not expect to vote. This is true on two measures, one the so-called "Advertising Truth" bill, and the other the "Noncompulsory Military Training" bill.

The trick in the advertising bill is that it isn't just exactly what it seems. If it were a bill to compet telling nothing but the truth in advertising, this would be commend-able, if possible. It purposes, how-their return home Mr. Cason acever, to change the state constitu-tion so that no advertising can be barred by statute as long as it tells the truth. While we have no conscience against the so-called "advertising dentists," sponsors of the one, we believe the enactment of this constitutional amendment would be dangerous as opening the way for tising dentists," sponsors of the bill, advertising many quacks and nos-trums against the general public who might not have otherwise re-ceived it, while a vote against the has been very ill and just returned bill is a vote in favor of retaining the present system. man, and you must admit it was a bad move in a business way.

Second, you say our government played a trick on the soldier when they allowed them to borrow fifty per cent of their bonus. If my memory serves me right it was by a very insistent American Legion lobby in congress the bill was pass-The veteran was not forced by the bill to borrow on his bonus certificate.

Third, you say that the veterans, when the cash payment bill was passed, had the interest deducted when the bonus was given them. This is not true. The interest on the loans was forgiven and now the veteran has his bonds drawing three per cent until 1945 which is just that ich more than he would have had if the bonus had been left as originally passed.

I am an ex-soldler and know just exactly how this matter was handled. To my mind an editorial writer loses his value to the community entirely if he writes mis-statements either intentionally or otherwise.

In fairness to our administration I wish you would set the public right on this matter, as I am sure it will make a vast difference in the outcome of the election.

ELMER GRIFFITH.

Thank you, Mr. Griffith, for correcting an unintentional misstatement on government collecting interest on veterans' loans against their adjusted service certificates. Veterans were required to pay interest only to October 31, 1931, were not charged interest for full time of loans. We called Mr. Roosevelt for in any way assuming credit for an act he did his best to prevent. We do not view payment of soldiers' bonus poor business in light of other government spending measures. Insofar as the soldier is concerned the debt has been dis-charged; but insofar as the tax-payer is concerned the debt is yet to be paid.
