Guess Who?

(Iambic taximeter)
 Among the students of our dear school
 Dwells there a lass, and fair is she;
 And all of us she tries to fool,
 With that old gag "Footloose and fancy-free."

Of in this column appears her name,
 Put there by foul means or by fair;
 But what's the diff? It's all the same—

Such crusty acts are hard to bear.
 If this your brain doth over tax
 To guess this fair-haired Heppner gal—

Just in your easy chair relax
 And think you of her dark-haired pal!

Mustangs Play Two Games

Last Friday night in one of the fastest games of the season, the Heppner high school Mustangs defeated the local town team by a score of 45 to 38. Van Marter led the high school with 22 points. Jimmy Furlong was high point man for the town team with a total of 12 points.

The second team played the local CCC camp and was defeated by a margin of 21 points, the score being 35-14. Stone was high point man for the high school team with a total of twelve points.

Both of these games proved to be a great advantage to the team and much experience was gained from them. It is urged that the town people turn out better for games after this. There is nothing so disheartening to a team as to look at empty seats. If there is a crowd there and a lot of rooting at every game, the team will go places this year.

—H.H.S.—

Support the Team

For quite some time it was believed that if a winning team was produced larger crowds would attend games. But this belief has obviously been disproved, as we had a winning football team and now have a winning basketball team, which has played seven games and won six. This is quite an impressive early season record, and still we have no crowds at the games.

We, of the high school, are at a loss to know what more to do to get people to come to the games. What more than a winning team do you want? That alone should bring you to the games.

Heppner, next to Pendleton, is the largest city in this territory, yet the smaller towns have a larger attendance at their games than we do at ours. This is the main reason why we cannot get the larger tournaments here because we cannot support it, and consequently some smaller town gets it.

It is partly the high school's fault, too, for this lack of support. A great many of the students fail to attend the games even though it costs them nothing. Another thing is that they don't talk about the games at home to create interest. The major fault, however, is the lack of efficient advertising for the games. An advertising campaign must be started immediately.

The public should realize that quite some expense is involved in having basketball games here, and for this reason more support is needed. Heppner plays Mac Hi HERE Saturday night. Let's turn over a new leaf and fill the gym with rooters. This year is a good time for us to beat the Mac Hi team.

By the way, that "Its too cold" excuse doesn't go, because the gym will be heated so as to be comfort-

—H.H.S.—

Band Number Chosen

The band has not been holding its regular practices this week due to the cold weather, which makes it difficult to heat the gymnasium.

The required number to be played by the class D bands at the state band contest for this year has been chosen. It will be "Festival Overture" by Taylor. The piece which the local band will choose to play has not yet been selected.

Good Reputation?

Has the Heppner high school a good reputation? This question has always been answered, "Yes." However, this year a certain practice has begun in the school which casts a cloud on the good reputation of all students.

From the beginning of this school year, different pupils have been missing money, basketball equipment, pens, pencils, and many other things of value to them. There may be several persons, or just one, responsible for the disappearance of these articles, but whoever they may be, they are a disgrace to the name of the school.

It is terrible to have valuables stolen from the Heppner students, but this does not seem to be the limit. Two of the players on the Boardman basketball team had money stolen from their clothes. From now on they will believe that they have to have their personal belongings under careful guard when they play Heppner. That should not be true. Whoever this person is, he should refrain from going further. Even in an organization as small as the Heppner school, "CRIME DOES NOT PAY."

Pep Assembly

A very short and snappy pep assembly was held Wednesday evening after school. At this time Mr. Blankenship informed the student body of the name chosen for the athletic teams, which was the Mustangs. Mr. Blankenship presented Len Gilman, basketball captain, the pennant bearing this insignia. Afterwards a few yells were given to boost the basketball boys on to victory in playing the game with Boardman that night.

Class News

Most all of the classes in Heppner high school have started to review for the semester exams, which start Thursday morning at 8:45 and end at 4 Friday afternoon.

The boys' health class has been studying how to care for colds and ways to keep from getting them.

The minimum essentials in English test was held Wednesday morning for all students.

The public speaking class has started studying debating and parliamentary procedure.

Mustangs Take Boardman

Last Wednesday in a hard fought battle the Mustangs of Heppner overcame another obstacle in their march for basketball honors by defeating the highly favored Yellow Jackets of Boardman, 30-23. Boardman, a highly favored team for district honors this year, could not cope with the speed and accuracy of the Heppner squad.

Heppner Topples Irrigon

Displaying its greatest scoring drive of the season, the Mustangs rolled over the Irrigon team Tuesday night on the local court by a score of 58 to 23.

Despite the high scoring in the game, the raggedness of the local team showed that they have yet to reach their peak. Heppner's lead was never in danger of being passed, the score at half time being 28-12. Van Marter and Turner led the locals with 16 and 10 points each.

In the preliminary, a higher total score was reached than in the last game, the local town team taking the Irrigon town representatives 44-41. Henry Tetz, local high school coach, paced the teams with 20 points.

Humor

Have you ever wondered—
 About the way Frances has been acting lately. Is it romance in the air?

Why some of the students have the big head?—it is simply terrific.
 Why two girls in the English V

class like to write about each other in the Hehisch section whenever it is possible?

In whom Betty Bergevin is interested? (She has us guessing.)

Why some of the girls try to gain popularity in school by throwing the same old line and putting on the airs of princesses?

Who parked Sunday evening at the culvert below the railroad station?

How much Miss Peterson and Miss Mitchell appreciated Mr. Grimes' car during the cold wave—when it was out of commission?

Why Joe feels so important?

Thompson Re-elected To P.P.C.A. Board

R. A. Thompson, director of the Pendleton Production Credit association, together with other Morrow county people, attended the third annual business meeting of the association at Pendleton Saturday. Reports made at the meeting showed another year of sound growth and beneficial service to farmer-stockholders and plans were made for even greater progress during the coming year.

Mr. Thompson and E. T. Jaco of Enterprise were elected by member-stockholders to serve on the board of directors for three year terms. Hold-over members of the board were James Hill, Pendleton; A. R. Coppock, Adams, and H. H. Weatherspoon, Elgin.

The board elected James Hill president and re-elected W. E. Moore as secretary-treasurer, and R. B. McCormach as assistant secretary-treasurer.

Using illustrated charts to show the association's financial progress, President Hill and Secretary-Treasurer Moore reported that this cooperatively owned financing organization made $442,000 in loans last year to its 136 stockholder-members, helping them to finance their operations on a cash, business basis and saving a substantial sum by following a budget and obtaining funds at 5 percent interest.

Through good management and careful appraisal of loans the association again made a profit in 1936, adding to its reserve account and increasing the book value of class "B" voting stock held by members. Its legal reserve and capital now amounts to $168,535.

A. B. Robertson, vice-president of the Production Credit Corporation of Spokane congratulated the association upon the success it is making and explained how farmers are now able to obtain financing for every sound purpose on a money-saving cooperative basis through institutions of the Farm Credit administration.

He emphasized, however, that a continuation of low interest rate is largely conditional on the making of only sound loans that are promptly repaid when due.

James Johns, secretary of the Umatilla County National Farm Loan association, spoke briefly on the long term mortgage financing and service performed by the Federal Land bank of Spokane.

John W. Crow, a prominent farmer of Umatilla county, outlined the satisfactory experience of growers securing loans from the association.

Resettlement Under Secretary Wallace

Official word of transfer of the Resettlement administration to the U. S. department of agriculture by executive order effective January 1, was received by Walter A. Duffy, regional director, Portland.

"Activities of the resettlement administration in Oregon, Idaho and Washington will continue on the present basis until complete incorporation in the department of agriculture and adjustment on the basis of a permanent and long-time program to meet the land utilization, rehabilitation and resettlement needs," said Duffy.
