Mustangs Fall Before Pioneers

Last Saturday night the Heppner Mustangs met defeat at the hands of the highly-touted Mac-Hi Pioneers, in what proved to be the best game seen on the local court for some time. The crowd was the largest to witness a game here for several years.

Despite the fact that the Pioneers are rated as one of the best teams in the state, the Mustangs gave little ground and provided them with some of the stiffest competition they have had this season.

The first quarter was nip and tuck with the crowd in a frenzy before Mac-Hi finally took the lead, 5 to 4. Throughout the second quarter they further increased their lead, until it stood 15 to 8 at halftime. Starting the second half they increased their margin to 29 to 16. The last quarter was even with both teams scoring six points each.

The illness of several members of the squad handicapped the Mustangs somewhat, and therefore the starting team was forced to play throughout the whole game, while the Pioneers used several reserves. The lack of reserves made it difficult for the Mustangs to hold the Pioneers in check during the last stages of the game.

Even though they lost, the Heppner team made a good showing and has promise of being victorious in many games during the rest of the season. Next Friday night the Mustangs tangle with the Arlington Honkers in what has every indication of being a thrilling struggle, with the Mustangs out to avenge last year's defeats.

The lineup for the Mac-Hi game was as follows: Heppner—forwards, Turner (5), Gilman (3); center, Van Marter (8); guards, Munkers, Hoskins (6). Mac-Hi—forwards, Kolberg (6); Ireland (8); center, Morris (7); guards Rinker, Fisk (10). Substitutes: Mac-Hi—Preston (4), Roloff. Referee: Edwin Ingles, Boardman.

New Semester Results in Changes

With the beginning of the second semester, the English classes will devote most of their time to literature, but ten minutes of each class period will be spent in drill on the principles of English. In this way the students will gain knowledge valuable for the Minimum Essentials test.

"Occupations" is being offered this semester, with Mr. Blankenship as instructor. This course teaches students facts about the various occupations and the advantages offered by them for development and advancement, as well as surveying the personal requirements for success in any field.

The state vocational director has allowed Heppner high school full time Smith-Hughes work. This makes a division of these classes possible, and in the future Mr. Grimes will teach nothing but agriculture. Mrs. Ed Clark has been engaged to teach biology and geometry, the two subjects which Mr. Grimes formerly taught. Mrs. Clark is also the instructor of a new course called English Essentials, taught for those who are weak in fundamentals.

The two general science classes have been combined into one class, with Miss Peterson as the teacher.

Junior Play Selected

This year a hilarious three-act comedy has been chosen for the junior play. The play, "Crashing Society," is the story of a farmer who inherited a large amount of money, and with it troubles with his family. His family, with the exception of his son and himself, is set on crashing New York society. In the play many humorous and embarrassing situations exist which will hold one's interest throughout the presentation.

The cast consists of the following: Adam Dunnigan, the husband who prefers the farm; Elsie Dunnigan, the wife who wants to crash society; Marguerite, the oldest daughter; George, the son; Christabel, the youngest daughter; Scruples-Scruples, the butler; Miss Gadgett, the tutor; Mr. Van Witherspoon, a leader in New York society; Mrs. Van Witherspoon, his wife; Cyril Van Witherspoon, their son; Agatha Mulrooney, virtuoso, and Miss Louise Miller, the reporter.

The play promises to be a great success. Everyone is urged to attend and have the time of his life. The date set is March 19.

Here's to the Class of '38

Here's to the Junior Class, The class of the third long year.

Here's to the members who managed to pass

With trembling and with fear.

Here's to the honors they have won, To the teachers and officers true, Who've labored when there was no fun,

Through the weeks and the Mondays blue.

Here's to the years they've put behind,

With their share of the cuffs and aches.

Here's to the ties that long will bind Our love for old '38.

IT SEEMS AS THOUGH—

Len and Riley were hunting for two valuable possessions Sunday night. Where and how did you find them?

The new schedule is quite distressing to the students. What schedule isn't?

A certain junior girl has a special interest in a tall center on the basketball team. Here's wishing her good luck.

The new boy has a special attraction for freshman girls. Well, why not?

Riley: "What's the matter, Andy? You look mad."

Andy Shoun (holding up his examination papers): "I am. I'm seeing red, I'm so mad."

Still Room for Improvement

Even though our basketball team did lose last Saturday night to Mac Hi, a much bigger school, we have nothing to be ashamed of because they made a very good showing against a team ranked high in this state.

One of the reasons for the good playing of our team was that they received a large amount of encouragement from the numerous townspeople who were at the game. This had a decided effect on the morale of the team, as it showed the boys that you were behind them.

For some time it seemed as though all the efforts being made to try to get you to come to the games were in vain, but we certainly appreciated the turn-out Saturday evening. There is still a great deal of room for improvement, however, because the gymnasium was far from full last Saturday night.

The major part of the season is yet to come, so don't quit coming now. We have promise of a championship team, and with tournament time looming up in the near future, we must all get behind our boys.

Next Friday we play Arlington here, so lets all go and get in on the shelling they are going to get for last year's defeat.

Remember now! You've got to be there.

Guess Who?

Dark and handsome with coal-black hair,

Flashing smile and olive cheek, Witty, gay and debonair

Is this chivalrous sophomore shiek. What! You think it hard to guess

Just who this "guy" can be? His initials alone I will confess—

'Tis the one and only A. J. D.

Testimonial Would Honor Governor

Morrow county has been allotted a quota of $30 by The Governor Charles A. Martin Testimonial, an organization which proposes to place a large bronze bust of the governor in the new state capitol, according to word received by Judge Bert Johnson from J. C. Ainsworth of Portland, president of the testimonial organization.

Governor Martin's large part in obtaining the new capitol entitles him to this special recognition, the organization believes. Contributions of $1 to $5 are solicited, which may be left with Judge Johnson.

ALL CITY OFFICERS

money be turned back to cities' general funds was approved.

The PWA street surfacing project being prepared by Frank Hayes, Pendleton engineer, will be ready for presentation to the council at its February 1st meeting, Mayor Jones reported following a telephone conversation with Hayes a few minutes before.

Payment of current expense bills completed work of the council at the meeting.

Returning from Pendleton Saturday evening on his local stage run, Marion Oviatt hit driving conditions the worst he had found them any time up to then. A heavy wind was fast drifting a blinding snow in og Hollow and on top of Franklin hill. Though he made it across without chains, he doubted if the feat could have been accomplished a few minutes later.

Leslie L. Matlock was reported sufficiently recovered in his fight against an attack of pneumonia to be able to sit up at Heppner hospital the end of the week.

J. O. Rasmus, city water superintendent, was reported as quite ill at his home last night, suffering an attack of the flu.

Mrs. P. W. Mahoney was confined at home by an attack of influenza for several days this week.

AT THE LEGISLATURE

Members of the senate committee on alcoholic control at a meeting Tuesday morning predicted that Oregon would soon again be a dry state unless steps were taken to clean up conditions existing in many beer parlors and to enforce the law more strictly. Senator Franciscovich suggested that enforcement of the provisions of the Knox act be centered in the Liquor Control commission instead of leaving it to city and county officials as at present with its innumerable opportunities for buck passing.

Newspapermen covering the session whose wives or other relatives are holding down legislative jobs were made the target of a House resolution this week condemning the practice as depriving many needy persons of a chance for employment.
