The O. I. S. S.

WE PROPOSE a new order of which there would be a local lodge. And for honorary membership in that lodge, we propose the names of many worthy citizens.

They have labored diligently daily (or almost so) for several weeks now, adding to the safety, comfort and convenience of everyone. The scraping and clicking of their shovels has made sweet music, to which dull thud after dull thud has beat a rhythmic staccato of progress as shovelful after shovelful of snow and slush from roof and sidewalk took its place on the ever increasing heaps along the curbs.

This order we would have known as the Order of Inveterate Snow Shovellers. And for No. 1 shoveller we place in nomination the name of H. D. McCurdy, who, not content to keep the way cleared in front of his office next door, has many times removed the snow from in front of the editor's sanctum sanctorum. But there are many others up and down the street, the boys from the stores who have had a ready chit for the passerby as they smilingly swung into their work, making the music of scraping and clicking, and beating the staccato notes of progress.

Snow, Beautiful Snow.

(By Mrs. Editor)

WE SHOULD like in no uncertain terms to give our opinion of whoever said, "Spring Came On Forever." In our immediate vicinity the bitter opposite seems to be coming on for that interminable length of time. Of course we always say we like variety, and we never know what we may find upon arising from the one comfortably warm spot in our world. It may be fifteen below zero or it may be a simply tropical ten above. We may awaken with snow in our face or again it may be hail.

But you take the wind (yes, do—to the North Pole would be fine)—there we find real pleasure. It is of course a bit difficult to retain all of one's wearing apparel not sewed on while out in it, but think of the compensation in ruddy complexion, especially nose.

The only thing we seem to be missing is a nice wet flood—but, cheer up, spring will come.

Morrow county, wrapped in the arms of Boreas, is favored. Devastating floods rage through the Ohio river valley, while inhabitants of the "Dust Bowl" on the great plains strive to conserve rainfall against another season of drouth.

Another mountain is turned into the proverbial molehill as Budget Director Wharton explains away the "million dollar error" and saves the governor's face. It is good to know that Old Man Oregon will have a little pocket change for Peiperheidsick in 1937-38.

To Heppner lodge of Elks greetings on their 40th birthday.

A busy week end is on for county agriculturists and stockmen. Today the compliance committee under 1937 AAA program is attending a regional meeting at Arlington. Tomorrow a regional meeting on soil conservation holds sway at Lexington grange hall. And Saturday landholders and grazing permit seekers of the North Morrow County Grazing Control district get together in Heppner. All meetings will evolve plans vital to the future of the county's basic industries.

Chelan's test of the old age revolving pension plan has struck a snag as souvenir hunters have taken much of the marked money out of circulation. Just another case of nosy people taking the joy out of life.

Then, as the lucky pensioner reaches the half month with only $30 in his jeans, some folks are worried for fear his family will be on relief before the month is over.

All of which goes to show Brewster lived in the wrong generation.

Oregon's milk control law holds as the legislature floored the repeal bill. At least we in Heppner may be thankful that our leading dairy leaves enough cream to skim for breakfast coffee. Aside from the best climate this side of the sunny southland, Heppner is served with the best milk, cream and butter to be had any place.

To D. O. Justus credit for telling the best story of the week:

After he had consumed the second piece of pumpkin pie, little Johnny's mother was discouraging him in his demand for more. Every tack taken by the mother was met with irrefutable argument, until, in final desperation, she ejaculated:

"But, Johnny, if you eat another bite you'll burst!"

To which Johnny imperturbably gave answer: "Well, just pass the pie and get out of the way."

H. O. Ely was a visitor in the city Saturday from Ione.

BOARDMAN

By LA VERN BAKER

Mrs. W. A. Baker and Willard Baker are spending a short vacation visiting friends and relatives this week in Longview and Seattle, Wash.

A glorious victory was made by the Boardman basketball team last Wednesday evening when they defeated Hermiston on Boardman's floor. It was the first time Hermiston high had been beaten and the game was very thrilling. The score ended with 33 to 22. The second teams also played with Boardman winning by a one point lead.

CHANGE SUPERVISORS.

Transfer of John F. Irwin from supervisor of the Umatilla national forest to supervisor of the Wallowa national forest was announced this week by regional headquarters at Portland. Irwin's headquarters will be at Enterprise. Arthur D. Moir, Jr., supervisor of the Colville national forest, Republic, Wash., will succeed Irwin in the Pendleton office. Irwin has been at the head of the Umatilla forest since 1924.

Moir, who has been in the position at Republic since 1931, served first in the Absaroka national forest of Wyoming in 1913, subsequently engaging in the sheep and cattle business and later taking a forest ranger course at University of Montana. From assistant forest supervisor of the Lewis and Clark forest, Montana, he came first to this region as assistant forest supervisor of the Chelan national forest of Washington in 1930.

Crippled Child Learning to Dance

Last year 10-year-old Shirley Peknay, of Brooklyn, went to the Roosevelt Birthday Ball in braces which she wore on a leg semi-paralyzed as the result of infantile paralysis. This year Shirley, after an operation made possible by funds raised through the Roosevelt Birthday Celebrations for aid of infantile paralysis sufferers, is essaying her first dance steps with the assistance of Arthur Murray, noted New York ballroom dance expert. Mr. Murray has originated a new waltz, the Washington, which is being introduced at the New York celebration in honor of President Roosevelt.
