

HARDMAN

By LUCILLE FARRENS

Lewis Knighten, a pioneer resident of this community, suffered a paralytic stroke at his home here Wednesday. The doctor was called to attend him and at this writing he is slowly improving.

Howard Lane, Clair Ashbaugh and Mrs. Golda Leathers were visiting at the home of Lewis Knighten Friday. Mrs. Leathers remained a few days to assist her sister during the illness of Mr. Knighten.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Batty motored up from Eight Mile Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Knighten. It was the first time they were able to get away from home since the first of the year on account of the drifted snow.

Miss Delsie Bleakman went to Heppner Wednesday to consult an eye specialist. From there she took the train to Salem to be with her aunt, Mrs. Jim McDaniel who is recovering from a serious case of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McDonald entertained friends at a dancing party Saturday evening in honor of Miss Pat Bleakman. Music was furnished by Jim Stevens, Dallas McDaniel, Ed McDaniel and Bert Burnside. Out-of-town guests were Darrell Ham, Walt McKittrick, Bud Cannon, Darrell Farrens and Clarence Rogers.

Donald Robison rode to his mountain home Friday, returning Sunday. Vestetr Hamas and Richard Robison visited in Lonerock Monday.

Mrs. Duff McKittrick went to work at Orrin Wright's Sunday. Mrs. Buck Adams is caring for her small son while she is away.

Sam McDaniel is taking a vacation from his work at Clyde Wrights' sheep ranch this week.

Claud Hastings returned from the Foster Collins ranch. He reports Mrs. Collins as being improved so they are bale to do their own work.

Ed Warren returned to Hardman Monday. He reported had he known it was still snowing he wouldn't have come.

Carl Leathers came back from Arlington Saturday. He reports the weather so bad there that he was unable to continue work.

Mrs. James Brannon is visiting her mother, Mrs. Bill Cunningham, in Heppner.

Owen Leathers, Jr., and Norvin Adams are having a light attack of chickenpox.

Miss Creth Craber, Miss Charlotte Adams, Clarence Rogers and Virgil Crawford attended a show in Heppner Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinnard McDaniel and family moved to the mountains

Monday where they will live during the summer.

Dolly Farrens and Mildred McDaniel visited high school Monday. A Valentine party was held at the grade school Friday afternoon. The upper grade room presented a program in honor of Lincoln's birthday. Refreshments were served by the girls in the upper grades. Those attending report the party as being a success.

Bert Burnside and Tom Brown went to work for Fred Hoskins Monday.

Mrs. Charles McDaniel returned Monday from Arlington where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Bud Fisk, and family.

It doesn't look as though winter is over in our vicinity. There was about four inches of new snow Monday and Tuesday, accompanied by a high wind which succeeded in drifting the roads full of snow again.

Mrs. Floyd Adams came out on the stage Thursday to visit her husband. She was compelled to go the short distance from here by wagon and team on account of the drifted snow.

Mrs. James Hams spent part of last week in Heppner attending to matters of business and visiting her mother, Mrs. Clara Kirk.

Mrs. Lewis Batty and baby daughter and Mrs. Dee Schnitzer and sons motored to Heppner Saturday. Mrs. Schnitzer and sons remained for a few days to visit Mr. Schnitzer who is in a hospital there.

FLOOD DISTRICT MAY BE ORGANIZED UNDER NEW LAW

comply the full purpose, the federal government must be prevailed upon to build the dams. With new appropriations now being made by congress, no delay should occur in making the county's wants known to senators and representatives at Washington. He urged every organization, each group and all interested individuals to get the wires hot to Washington immediately.

"We know what the Heppner flood was, and we know there have been costly cloudbursts at various times. We do not know when another will come. It may come any time, and there is possibility of its being worse than any before. The need for the flood control dams is here. There is no way of estimating the future value they may be to the county. The problem is not local, but one in which every citizen is interested, for heavy loss in one section is reflected in heavier tax bills on other sections. Let's get busy and act now."

Some of the Hood River grangers who have been trying to get legislation at Salem that they believe will protect them from another costly transportation tieup have been asking pointed questions about the presence at hearing there of Charles W. Hope and Conciliator Howard of the National Labor Relations board always in the company of B. A. Green, labor attorney.

"I thought these men were supposed to be open-minded representatives of the public but apparently instead of being umpires, they are out and out labor agitators and at government expense," declared one granger after the hearing last Thursday.

Robert Farrell, young chairman of the Lincoln day banquet in Portland and an ex-member of the legislature, is coming in for a lot of criticism these days. Staunch republicans flocked to the banquet hall to see B. F. Irvine, editor of the Journal and a new deal supporter, seated in a place of honor at the speakers' table. Farrell is the same young candidate who neglected to put the word "Republican" on any of his campaign literature when he sought return to the state house last November. He was defeated.

Potato prices continue to soar. Bakers have been commanding $4.25 a hundred wholesale in Portland. We can expect the usual aftermath—heavy potato planting this summer—ordinary prices as a result next fall. Turkey raisers can give you some figures on this situation. Last year they did well. This year the national crop was twice that of a year ago and with local shippers cut from much of their market by the maritime strike they took real losses. The market was a full 10 cents a pound under the previous year. So that chances next year will be for a lighter turkey crop and good prices and a heavier potato output and reduced returns.

PORTLAND MARKET.

(Oregon News Bureau)

Wheat prices are back to peak as the result of heavy purchases by Germany. Milling prices reached as high as $1.38½ with $1.24 the minimum. Northwest offerings have been going at $1.18½ to $1.20.

Portland wheat traffic has mounted rapidly since the strike ended. Last week saw 143 cars move in. Philippine flour orders placed in the northwest give promise of more heavy movements.

Local egg markets are active with demand continuing strong. Portland storage supplies continue light but Los Angeles and other California centers have started stocking the refrigerators.

Storage butter stocks are well above last year and increasing but the market continues strong and steady.

Dressed meats continue to find good demand and the lull in the mutton offerings has resulted in a sizeable movement of goat meat.
