Personality

Miss Neva Neill was brought up in Heppner and went to high school and grade school at Pine City. She attended the Eastern Oregon Normal school; then came to Heppner where she is teaching the first grade. She has taught here only one year.

Junior Play Cast Party

The junior play cast assembled Wednesday, March 31, at the Hager residence to celebrate their recent success. Ice cream and cake were served for the refreshments, and for entertainment games of monopoly and rummy were played. Mr. Peavy was presented an electric table-lamp by La Verne Van Marter in behalf of the class. Mr. Peavy thanked them and expressed his appreciation for their fine cooperation. He also favored the play cast with a few popular selections on the piano.

Answer to last week's: One of the coins wasn't a dime, but the other one was.
 An Irish American was refused enlistment in the U. S. army on the sixteenth of March. The next day he was beaten up for waving a red flag. Why?

Band Dance Successful

The annual band dance was held Saturday, April 3, for the purpose of raising funds to send the local school band to Corvallis. The dance proved a great success, clearing $76.30. Everyone enjoyed the dance to the greatest extent.
 At ten-thirty, the band played the three numbers they will play at the contest in Corvallis. These included Stars and Stripes, Carnival Overture, and Festival Overture, the latter being the required selection. Hugh Crawford, who is to be the solo representative, played his selection, Corinthian Polka.

The entire community wishes the Heppner school band the best of luck, and hope that they are rated in the first group.

Have You Ever:

Seen anyone sorry that school will soon be out?
 Heard Willie Stone pronounce shift correctly?
 Wondered why so many of the junior cast members were absent last Thursday morning?
 Wondered why Mr. Peavy seemed under the weather Thursday morning? (Could it have been that "morning after" feeling?)
 Wondered why Miss Mitchell was blushing so much last Thursday?
 Wondered how come Billy Irwin got lost Saturday night?
 Wondered why John Crawford is working so hard to make the baseball team? (Could it be a girl friend?)
 Seen Van taking some grade school boys to a cleaning in a game of marbles? (Was it for keeps, Van?)

Support the Baseball Team

Baseball season is here again! Now is a good time to show just what Heppner High really can do. If we get behind the team and show them we are for them, they will fight much harder. The boys do their best, but they would do better if the town people were backing them up. Although we forfeited the opening game here Saturday with Umatilla because of having to use an ineligible player, we won the game 13 to 3 and stand a very good chance of winning from Hermiston when we play them there April 16.

Guess Who?

She's high, she's low, she's gay, she's sad;
 She's short, she's tall, she's good, she's bad;
 She's fat, she's thin, she's dull, she's bright;
 She's large, she's small, she's dark, she's light;
 Her hair is black, blonde, red, or brown;
 It's straight and inclined to curl.
 It's easy—why the frown?
 She's just the High School Girl.

Heppner Wins But Loses

Last Saturday, in the opening game of the season, the Mustang baseballers knocked in 13 runs, 10 more than did Umatilla, who chalked up 3 to their credit, but still the Vikings had the satisfaction of journeying home with a victory over the strong Heppner team. Minus the services of their regular catcher, the locals had to substitute a player who was ineligible for high school competition, and the result was the forfeiting of the game to the visitors.

Heppner started the scoring in their half of the opening inning, when Gilman, after clouting a triple off the right field fence, was knocked in by Van Marter's double. Heppner scored again in the 5th, 7th, 8th, and 9th innings, making 6 runs in the fifth. Umatilla's big inning came in the 7th, three players crossing home plate.

Gilman fanned 15 Umatilla men, with Van Marter, relief pitcher in the ninth inning, adding two more, for a total of 17 strike-outs.

Heppner's next game will be with Arlington on Saturday, April 10, being played on the river team's home field. The Honkers have a veteran ball club, and promise to make it tough going for Heppner.

Ten Years Ago This Week

The grade school game with Lexington, which was to have been played last Friday, will be played on the home field Thursday at 3 o'clock. Last Saturday about eighteen sophomores journeyed a short distance up Skinner creek and enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon.

The seniors have ordered their announcements and expect to receive them by the first of May. Each announcement will be headed with the senior class emblem worked in the class colors—coral and silver.

The students of the typing class will test their skill at thumping the keys Thursday. Miss Peterson has received some new tests and the students will try for the typing certificates given for writing 30 words a minute, with a maximum of 15 errors.

But Six Weeks Left

Now that all of the six weeks' examinations are over and only six weeks of school left, it would be profitable for each and every student to get down to work and show the teachers of our school that we can really do something.
 The end of school is not something to look forward to, as it will mean a parting of a great many of our friends, especially the seniors.
 —H.H.S.—

PINTO-POINTS

Umatilla, the shut-out conqueror of Arlington, was set back 10 runs by the Heppner team; but as many good games go this game went, traveling via the forfeit route to the Vikings. As the Mustang backstop failed to appear in uniform, it was necessary to find a fill-in, and finding no experienced substitute, Willie McRoberts, a graduate, was placed in the catcher's position. The game already being forfeited, Don Turner, an ineligible, donned a glove and played the left field position. Although the locals garnered 13 tallies to the Umatilla's 3, they lost the right to claim their victory, because they were forced to use players who according to the state high school eligibility rules, had already had their limited fling at baseball. Perhaps the next game will see an eligible team in action.

The Hermiston outfit look to be a tough one, at least if scores indicate a team's strength. Playing on the home field, the Bulldogs walloped Stanfield 22 to 1. The Hermiston battery, of Crampton and Rankon, totaled five runs between them, with the infield crossing the plate nine times to the outfield's eight. They seem to size up as a very formidable foe, and will no doubt provide real competition when they tangle with Heppner April 16.

When Physical Ed is held outside, it is quite interesting to note the number of boys wearing gym suits . . . the first day of outside gym, probably 90% of the class has on regular gym togs, but each day this number is decreased until one period last week, exactly four boys in a class of 36 had on gym suits . . . the next step for those who desire not to wear a gym outfit is to drop their Physical Ed altogether; but that is an example set by the feminine side of the school, and not a commendable one, so let's not follow suit.

Texas leaguers . . . Tennis is rapidly becoming a popular sport at Hermiston . . . the petition concerning the swimming pool, which was recently signed by students of the Heppner school, should prove to the "downtowners" that, when it was made known that a plunge was our desire, we were not talking just to hear ourselves do so . . . It will be the New York Yankees and the New York Giants again in the 1937 World Series, according to the managers of 15 major league ball clubs. Vic Adams, present coach at North Bend, formerly held that position at Ione. Goliath had his David, Louis his Schmeling, and Dave had his Britton when Bill Britton, Pacific university, clipped Dave Johnston of Boardman on the whiskers for a one-round knockout, dethroning the Morrow county lad as the Northwest Diamond Belt heavyweight champ . . . Britton also scored a first-round kayo over Jack Brandis of Oregon State in the semi-finals. With no games chalked up for either win or loss, Heppner will try to put one in the "won" column when they take on the Arlington team, down there. So far, their seasonal play has not been outstanding, but last week's practice session revealed decided improvement in the hitting department . . . a hit in the park is better than two strike-outs while swinging for the fence!

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Bailey were called to Newberg Friday afternoon by the death of Mrs. Bailey's mother, Mrs. Sherlock.
