Ten Years Ago This Week

Honor Roll: Nolan Turner, Fletcher Walker, 3 A's and 1 B; Katherine Bisbee, Ellen Morgan, 2 A's and 2 B's; Mary Beamer, Evelyn Swendig, 1 A and 3 B's.

The Civics class, under the supervision of Miss Fishel, visited the court house last Thursday afternoon. They were invited by Mr. Notson to attend a state public service commission meeting which was being held at that time.

The Heppner high school baseball team was shut out by the Lexington nine last Friday afternoon by a score of 12-0. Ralph Jackson umpired.

The fifth and sixth grades have been writing to school children in the southern states for descriptions of their states. Samples of tobacco and cotton, newspapers, magazines, and postcards have been received from New Mexico, Florida, North Carolina, and Georgia.

Personality

Norbert E. Peavy was born at Corvallis in 1910, where he graduated from high school. He attended Oregon State college, receiving his Bachelor of Science degree in 1932 and the following year the Master of Science degree. He spent two years teaching English and music at Halfway, Oregon, before coming to teach English, public speaking, and music in Heppner high school.

Smoker, Heppner vs. Hermiston.

The "H" club is very low on funds and in order to buy letters for the athletes, they decided to entertain the public with a good card of boxing and wrestling. Hermiston has consented to indulge in glove throwing with the Mustangs, and it is likely that several fast bouts will result.

There will be six bouts of three 2-minute rounds, the weights ranging from 115 to 175 pounds.

As the main event of the evening, a "Masked Marvel" has consented to fight the "Red Shadow" to a finish. This promises to be a very wild and rough affair, so it is almost certain that everyone will be pleased.

Let's have a full house and help the "H" club. The admission will be 25c for adults and 15c for students.

Track Difficult Sport

Every spring, after the heavy snow has gone, the track season starts. This is also the time when one feels an urge to answer nature's call.

As one already knows, track is one of the athlete's hardest sports. One has to train in order to be prepared for the coming events. It makes no difference whether he runs or jumps. If an athlete weathers the numerous practice sessions, he is, or should be, in the pink of condition when real competition starts.

Since the dawn of civilization, man has prided himself on his ability to do great things. The Greeks were a healthy race and prided themselves on their athletic ability. As a result we have the many events that they originated. These events were known as the Greek Olympic Games, but today they are entered by most of the important countries of the world and are now called the World's Olympic Games.

Heppner Registers Win

After journeying to Arlington last Tuesday to play the Honkers Heppner returned home with a 4 to 3 victory resting on their shoulders, their first of the season (technically speaking) since they forfeited the game they won from Umatilla by using an ineligible player when the catcher failed to put in his appearance.

The Mustangs started the scoring with a run in the first inning, and after scoring two more in the sixth. Arlington, in their half of the same inning, capitalized on a break and scored three tallies. Heppner put another score across in the ninth, defeating Arlington by a one-run margin.

Brain Buster

Answer to last week's puzzle: He was color blind and was rejected by the army. The day following March 16 is March 17, St. Patrick's day. His infuriated compatriots beat him up because he was waving a communist flag which he thought was green.

Help! Help!

An unlikely bathroom has only one door which has a spring lock that cannot be opened from the inside when sprung. There is a barred skylight that cannot be reached, and the room has no window. A man (not over bright) turns on the water to take a bath, finds that something had gone wrong with the faucets and he cannot turn the water off. If he yells, no one can hear him because of sound-proof walls.

How can he keep from drowning?

Girls' League Assembly Program

The Girls' league gave a program for the enjoyment of the assembly Friday afternoon, April 8. They are giving another program Friday, April 16th.

The F. F. A. will hold its regular meeting on April 14 after school. They have been giving away trees to the members for home improvement. At present the members are working on their project books.

Guess Who?

She's a junior;
 She's clever;
 She's nice;
 If you wish to guess her name,
 Think twice.
 She's blonde;
 She's comely;
 She's very neat;
 She's the type of girl that is hard to beat.
 She can sing;
 She can dance;
 She can play;
 Her initials are H. H., I would say.

Did You Know That—

It is almost impossible to say too little?

If all the college men who sleep in class were put end to end, they would be much more comfortable?

While the modern college man is getting a liberal education, his dad is getting an education in liberality? Photographers at the British Coronation are to be hidden in pillars and disguised as statues

PINTO-POINTS

Sports fans of Heppner will be provided with a double-header of sports this Friday, when Hermiston comes over here to take on the local high school baseball team in the afternoon and the pugilists of the Mustang institute of learning in the evening. Sponsored by the "H" club, there will be 18 rounds of boxing, and as no smoker is complete without the muscle-benders, in a special event the "Masked Marvel" will meet the "Red Shadow." A half-hour time limit has been placed on this bout.

The local athletic teams are even up with the Arlington sportsters, dividing a home-and-home football series, and winning in baseball, but losing in basketball. Heppner has a perfect record as far as its games are concerned, but not in the league standings, as it forfeited its first game to Umatilla, after winning the game, but through the use of two ineligible players. Riley Munkers tied Arlington's score, crossing home plate three times himself, Stone making the other tally.

Round and about . . . A fellow named La Verne Van Marter has joined the ranks of the unofficial world's champions, claiming his eligibility to this "club" by virtue of his running the 440-yard dash in the smashing time of 47 seconds, but lacking witnesses and the proper officials, all his efforts were in vain.

As he held the stop watch in his hands during this race against time, the continual juggling received by the time piece no doubt had a little bit, mind you, I say a little bit. to do with the astounding results of this feat. The captain of the University of Washington track team performed an iron-man stunt the other day in a track meet against Stanford university; after coming in last in the mile run, he brought forth all his reserve energy for the two-mile race and finished in first position. An effort is being made to revive the boxing game in Portland, the American Legion having hired Steve McPherson as promoter. McPherson also handles the wrestling at the civic auditorium, and because of his success with the grunt and groaners, he was given a second promoting position. He has a real job ahead of him, as boxing is as dead in the Rose City as were all form of sports in this city about two years ago . . . several of the band boys took in the Oregon-Oregon State boxing and wrestling championships during their two-day sojourn in Corvallis . . . some of the bouts provided real entertainment. If Gilman keeps up his strike-out average he will wind up the season with some kind of a record on his hands, having fanned 28 players in two games.

Heppner Alumni in New York

Among the many people in New York are a few of Heppner's graduates who were prominent in school activities a few years ago.

Ellis Thomson is now taking a business course, so he will be able to do secretarial work. He was studying art, and by all reports received, he was doing well. He is planning to take up Art later.

Mrs. Gordon Ridings, nee Marjorie Clark, is teaching in Riverside kindergarten, and is working for her M. A. degree at Columbia university in New York.

Mrs. David Moser, nee Margaret Notson, who graduated from Willamette university, is now private secretary to the head of the legal department of Stone & Webster. Orrin Bisbee, who graduated from Stanford university, formerly resided in New York while working for the Standard Oil company, but as he did not like New York City, he was transferred again to San Francisco, and is now in Avenal, California doing field work for the big oil company.

Grade School News

The fourth grade has been studying the kind of kites which are made in Japan and have been making pictures of kites similar to them.

The eighth grade held an election of officers Monday. The officers are as follows: President, Patricia Doolley; vice-president, Lowell Ashbaugh; secretary, Donald Bennett; reported, Hugh Crawford; librarian, Frances Wilkinson; patrolman, Anna Marie Johnston.

Humor

Have you ever—
 Seen R. G. and F. H. flower picking? (In spring a young man's fancies . . .)

Watched a band member demonstrate the technique used by college students in Corvallis? (Some members of the band did more than just help win a contest.)

Wondered why B. H. and L. C. were put on the panel discussion for Thursday?

Heard of a nitwit or a nuthatch? Wondered why a few baseball fans didn't get to go to Arlington?

Seen Joe Aiken's new spring outfit?

Found how hard it is to get current events units in on time?

Seen Billy I. talking to a blond sophomore girl in the hall?

Heard M. P. and C. C. discussing the merits of the Ford?

The Band Repeats

We must give a hearty cheer to the Heppner band's fine showing at Corvallis where it walked away with high honors in its class. The broadcast over the radio was very creditable. Many Heppner people listened to the band and were greatly pleased by their performance.

Mr. Buhman and all the members are to be highly commended, and special credit should go to Hugh Crawford for his fine performance, which won him first place in the baritone solo contest.

Soil Saving Program to Increase Farm Returns

Condon—Participation in the program of the Soil Conservation Service is expected to mean the difference between the increased valuation of Scott Brown's 2486 acre stock ranch near Condon and its inevitable eventual abandonment due to erosion and overgrazing. In addition, Brown is convinced, that the practices involved will pay for themselves within the next five years.

Brown has divided the ranch into three units and started a deferred and rotational grazing program, made possible by the development of five springs. Forty acres of the upland cultivated area have been seeded to crested wheat grass and the rest will be fallowed and seeded to rye on alternate years, and eventually planted to grass. He is also planning to reseed 200 acres already abandoned.

Several rock and wire dams are to be constructed in a large gully 30 to 50 feet wide and 15 feet deep in places to protect the bottom land and farmstead from complete destruction. The dams will collect silt, raise the water table, furnish irrigation water, protect spring development and provide tree planting sites.
