Heppner Tossers Beat Hermiston

After Keller's smashing double on the first pitched ball resulted in a run, it looked as if the Hermiston team was going to have things their way, but Heppner retaliated with a five-run spree in the second inning. The final score: Heppner 8, Hermiston 3.

The entire team went to bat in the inning, pounding out four hits and gaining a walk. Munkers, Stone and Van Marter were chalked up with singles, and Gilman a double.

This Friday the Mustangs will entertain the strong Arlington squad. Heppner has an early season victory over the Honkers, but won by only a one-run margin. After two weeks of practice, the river team should be at full strength for the undefeated Heppner team.

Open House Friday

Many students are very busy this week working on exhibits for Open House. Each class will have some kind of exhibit in the class room. There is also going to be a program in the gymnasium. The main doors of the school will be opened Friday night at 7:00 at which time the parents and friends are invited to enjoy the exhibits and meet the various teachers. At 8:00 the doors will be closed, and everyone will go over to the gymnasium for the program. After the program the school will be opened again for a short time if there are still some people who haven't had an opportunity to see all the exhibits.

Elks Entertain Band

The Elks gave a banquet last Friday night in honor of the Heppner school band for their success at the contest at Corvallis. Many people think that this banquet was a farewell to the band for this year, but it was only the beginning. The band plans to give three or four more street concerts before school is out. They are going to play a number or so at the "open house" this Friday night; then there is the May Day music festival in which the band has a part, on April 30. Probably during the last, or next to last, week of school there will be a date set for the annual band concert, which will be for the benefit of everyone.

F.F.A. Has Part in Program

At the Open House Friday, April 23, the Future Farmers will show the results of their year's work. Shopwork will be done in the basement, where the workshop is located. For the program at the gymnasium, a meeting illustrating parliamentary procedure will be held.

The F. F. A. are now preparing for the convention at Corvallis, which will be held April 29, 30, and May 1.

Have You Ever—

Seen Len and Mickey going to the court house? (Can it be the spring?)
 Seen Miss Peterson jumping the hurdles?

Seen Mr. Grimes trying to get his car out of the mud hole?

Seen the Girls' League delegates on the way to Yakima?

Heard Andy Shoun speak before he thinks?

Heard Van Marter telling about his nightmare? (He kicked the back of his head.)

Seen the book entitled "Ends of the World?"

Heard Marge McCFerrin telling about the time she was "kicked out" of a class?

Heard about the enormous crowds at the baseball games?

Mr. Grimes and Mr. Blankenship were traveling toward Condon one time, and they lost their way. Mr. Grimes stopped to inquire the way of a small boy of the road to take at a cross road. The small boy replied, "I don't know the way to Condon."

"Which way does that road go," asked Mr. Grimes.

"I don't know," replied the boy.

Mr. Grimes said, "You don't know much of anything, do you?"

The boy replied rather sharply, "Well, anyhow, I'm not lost."

Our Student Body President

Don Turner was born in Heppner. He has lived here all of his life, with the exception of a few years when he resided in Salem. He has had a very outstanding grade and high school career. He has taken part in football, basketball and baseball for several seasons, playing halfback, forward and shortstop respectively. Due to a shoulder injury, he never played a full football season. In his junior year, he took a comical part in the junior play, "The Patsy." Also, during this year, he filled the office of student body treasurer. In his senior year he filled the highest office of the student body, student body president. Don plans to attend college and prepare for dentistry.

Ten Years Ago This Week

Ellis Thomson wrote the jokes for the Heppnerian.

In two baseball games played during the week, Ione beat Heppner 8-0, and Lexington 13-0.

Ten new members were added to the "H" club. A "Hi Jinks" was being planned for the near future to entertain the "H" club members.

The seniors received their announcements and were pleased with them.

PINTO-POINTS

The athletically inclined representatives of Hermiston high school, living partially up to that famous historical adage, came and saw, but were conquered, twice in fact, losing the baseball game in the afternoon by a score of 8 to 3, and the smoker in the evening, winning one bout to Heppner's four, one match being called a draw.

Gunning for them in order to make up for the defeats in basketball, the Mustangs practically changed the Hermiston pitcher's curve ball into a smashing "fence-ball." On the mound for the river team, Crampton, whose odd style of delivery remained no problem for the local sluggers, was nicked for four hits in the second inning, three singles and a double, and in addition a walk. Heppner put across five runs in their half of this frame, holding the visitors to four scattered hits in seven innings, three of which were converted into scores.

In the best smoker seen here in many a moon, the Heppner leather tossers had a little too much on the ball, or rather the fist, for the pugilists from Hermiston. All six of the inter-school bouts were slug-fests from start to finish, with the fans clamoring for the always desired "slumberland" punch. The boys whose last names sound the same but are spelled differently (Hayes and Hays) proved the outstanding winners in their respective divisions, each winning by decisive margins. The main event was one in every respect, as the heavier boys hold some unexplainable attraction for the fight fans; and when the light-heavyweights paired off for the final round, action, and plenty of it, was witnessed.

Of course, there is always the inevitable complaint, so here it is. In the fourth bout of the evening, after piling up an early lead and staving off his opponent's last round onslaught, Earl Crissman's arm was not even raised in recognition of his being awarded a draw with his foe. Tsk! Tsk!

The only wrestling bout of the evening was quite comical, as are mist matches of that nature. Masked, as their box-office attraction would probably drop considerably were their identity made public, a Red Shadow and a Masked Marvel put on a show but the spectators made it known that the time should be shortened, and so it was.

An entertaining incident occurred during the week, concerning the wrestling match. It seems that a certain woman on the "party line" got wind of the fact that the Red Shadow was to show his wares in Heppner against another masked ruffian. As she had been following his ventures as a wrestler in Portland by the radio, she naturally was interested; so to the telephone she went. After calling several friends and being unable to find out the actual facts, one of them suggested that she call the local printing office. The publishing concern answered the woman's question that as far as they knew two boys of the competing schools were putting on an exhibition. Upon hearing this, her hopes of seeing the Shadow in action hit rock-bottom, and it was said her disappointment was hard to hide, even over the mouthpiece and earphone.

Round and about . . . Latest rumor has it that a barn was the scene of a Braddock-Louis fight (on April Fool's Day) with 500 millionaires paying $1000 each to see the Irishman win the decision. Bill Britton, northwest representative in the National Golden Gloves championships, kayoed his first opponent in the first round . . . later he was eliminated. Bob Feller, sensational 18-year-old Cleveland hurler, while pitching for his home town team in a five-inning game, walked thirteen men . . . and the opposing team scored no runs . . . he struck out fourteen . . . which brings up Gilman's strike-out record . . . 39 of them in 23 innings. Bill McKenna is not a candidate for reelection as athletic director at Condon. The boy answering to the name of Roger Conner, who fought in a preliminary to the "H" club socking party, wants to don the gloves at the next gathering of the kind. Plans are being made for an extensive physical education program, with baseball, track, and horseshoe pitching on the menu.

Fence Constructed

Undoubtedly most of the townspeople have noticed the black and white fence on the curve of the state highway adjacent to the school building, which has been erected, to protect the lives of the youngsters playing on the school grounds.

This has been a much needed improvement for some time. Although the improvement has been some time coming, we want to express our appreciation to the state highway department for it.
