

FARMERS' PICNIC

producing varieties of wheat developed at the experiment stations which have increased the return of wheat farmers by several hundred thousand dollars annually.

Professor Hyslop cited soil erosion and weeds as the two ever-present enemies of agriculture, and told something of the work that has been done to battle these enemies. He stressed the recent passage of weed control legislation as a major step of progress and urged united action among farmers in obtaining help from federal agencies. The federal government has authorized assistance in exterminating morning glory, and he believed the same type of assistance is available for other obnoxious weeds, of which Russian knap and white top are now giving trouble, if strong enough demand is shown. So far, the bureau to which this type of control has been assigned has been reluctant in pushing it, and Professor Hyslop believed a little prodding would not be amiss.

Mr. Adams spoke also on the transportation theme, stressing existing inequalities that work against wheatmen's interests, and urging action on the part of growers.

Mr. White discussed some of the recent state legislation affecting the wheat industry, with stress on weed control measures, and offered assistance of his department in making such legislation effective. He told of organization work in his department that has greatly increased efficiency from standpoint of administration as well as giving the public better service. Having hailed from Sherman county originally, and having been reared on a wheat farm, he believed himself to be in a position to sympathize with the needs of eastern Oregon wheat growers. Stressed was the point of availability to farmers of wheat grading facilities in his department. Many times farmers have received increased returns by ascertaining the protein content of their wheat before marketing it, he said.

The league executive committee met in the afternoon and decided to leave the matter of cooperation with the Tri-State Transportation league in the hands of each individual county. E. H. Miller, one of the transportation league directors for Oregon, represented Morrow county at the meeting.

Among attendants from Morrow county were E. H. Miller, O. W. Cutsforth, T. W. Cutsforth, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McElligott, J. J. Wightman, Dick Wightman, Howard Evans, Judge Bert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Belanger, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Crawford.

tingill bill, which recently was passed in the lower house of Congress.

"The immediate objective of the council," continues Mr. Edwards, "will be to arrange for adequate representation of the wheat growers' interests at approaching freight rate hearings.

"Recent increases and proposed increases in freight rates face Inland Empire wheat growers. Prospective profits from their 1937 crop are threatened. Railroad, ocean and highway carriers would divert from wheat growers money needed to pay their delinquent taxes and mortgages.

"The threatened inroads on the 1937 crop returns already amount to over five million dollars.

"Details are confusing but starting with June 11th at Washington, D. C., hearings are scheduled including at Portland, June 15th, and Seattle about July 15th, at which the wheat growers will have opportunity to be heard.

"The wheat growers are willing to pay their fair share of transportation charges but no longer should be asked to pay more.

"Among the long-time objectives of the council will be to obtain the same level of rail freight rates upon wheat and flour to North Pacific ports that is in effect to North Atlantic ports. Much Canadian wheat annually moves over American railroads to North Atlantic ports at 4 mills per ton mile while our Inland Empire wheat is charged 14 to 16 mills per ton mile for movement to North Pacific American ports.

"Also the council will seek intra-coastal and intercoastal ocean freight rates upon wheat and flour that are no higher than the rates applicable to and from our ports upon Canadian and other foreign ships. A condition precedent to the granting of subsidy by the newly organized Maritime commission should be publication of freight rates on a level that places the American shipper on a competitive freight rate basis with his foreign competitor.

"The board consists of, for Wash-wheat grower to subscribe 1½ mills per bushel from his 1937, 1938 and 1939 crops, and committees will shortly be at work collecting the needed funds. Business men interested in protecting the buying power of wheat growers will be invited to subscribe additional funds.

"The board consists of, for Washington: B. F. Druffel, Colton; H. F. Beckley, Benge; S. F. Ganders, Bickelton; Roy Perring, Belmont, and J. J. Edwards, Dayton. For Oregon:

E. H. Miller, Lexington; Clyde Kiddle, La Grande; J. B. Adams, Moro; John Withycombe, Arlington, and Mac Hoke, Pendleton. For Idaho: J. W. Shepard, Lewiston; Peter Peterson, Moscow; A. C. Lenihan, Genesee."

John Turner Takes Pendleton Agency

John W. Turner, for several years local agent for Union Oil company, was transferred as agent for the company at Pendleton this week. With Mrs. Turner he left yesterday to take over his new duties, while Dallas Jacobson of La Grande arrived on Tuesday to assume the duties of agent here. H. J. McDowell, district sales agent from Walla Walla, was here Tuesday to make the local transfer.

The position at Pendleton comes as a promotion to Mr. Turner in recognition of his valuable services in the several years he has been with the company. Both he and Mrs. Turner have a wide circle of friends who join in wishing them Godspeed in their new location, while offering regrets at their leaving. Notice of the transfer came to Mr. Turner last week end, leaving little time to complete moving arrangements, and on leaving they did not know exactly where they would reside in Pendleton. They contemplated disposing of their local residence property.
