Lex Man Injured
In Unusual Accident

By BEULAH NICHOLS

E. D. McMillan was the victim of an unusual accident Friday morning at his farm near here. He was riding a horse down a hill near his home when the animal fell dead, pinning him beneath it. Being unable to extricate himself, he called for help but was unable to make himself heard. After about half an hour some neighbors working in a nearby field heard him and went to his assistance. He received a broken arm in the fall. His son Ted took him to Heppner where a doctor set the broken bone.

The first and second degrees were conferred upon a class of five at the meeting of Lexington grange Saturday evening. The dance committee reported a balance on hand in the dance fund sufficient to complete the payment on the building debt. Speaking for the agricultural committee, Orville Cutsforth said that approximately $10,000 would be required to exterminate all noxious weeds, such as wild morning glory, white top and Russian knapweed, in Morrow county. This would necessitate an additional tax levy of about 1½ mills. The committee was asked to investigate the matter. A representative of the state grange fire insurance committee was present and spoke of the advantages of the Grange Mutual Fire Insurance company. Following the meeting refreshments of ice cream, wafers and punch were served.
