Verner Troedson Ships First Wheat

By MARGARET BLAKE

The vacation bible school is still in progress this week. On Friday evening the members of the staff and the children who have attended will give a program at the Congregational church. The public is invited to attend and see what the school has been doing.

Miss Dorothy Simonson spent a part of last week in Heppner visiting Bethal Blake.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wright and family of Baker arrived on the train Tuesday morning for a short visit with Mrs. Wright's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Grabill. Mr. Wright is on his annual vacation. Before returning home they will spend a few days at the coast.

A carload of wheat for Verner Troedson was the first of this year's crop to be shipped from Ione station. This went out Monday night. Though not many farmers have started harvest the general opinion is that the yields so far are holding to or exceeding expectations.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Rietmann spent the week end at The Dalles.

Ted Smith has returned from Portland where he has been spending a short time under medical care.

Mrs. Carles Nord who has been visiting the family of her son, Ray Barnett, has returned to her home in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Page of Iowa City, Iowa, are spending a part of Mr. Page's vacation with his mother, Mrs. Jennie McMurray.

Virgil Esteb, who is spending the summer here, says that he has accepted a position in Marshfield high school for the coming year.

Mrs. M. D. Farrens has returned from Portland where she has been with her daughter, Mrs. Martin Bauernfeind.

Elmer Ball with his children, Freda, Leon and Jackie, was here from Hardman last Saturday. Mr. Ball has recently been discharged from the hospital at The Dalles.

Mrs. Holmes Gabbert and children and Florence Burroughs of Portland were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mankin. On Monday they drove to Thornton, Wash., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Misner.

A new shipment of books from the state library has been received by the local library and placed on the shelves.

The family of M. R. Morgan gave a dinner in his honor Sunday, the occasion being his seventy-ninth birthday. All of his children were present.

The automobile of Fred Pettyjohn was badly damaged last Sunday morning when it failed to clear another car it was passing on the highway. The car was driven by his son Ellis and the other car by Lee Pettyjohn. Both cars were traveling in the same direction. No one was injured and the Lee Pettyjohn car was not badly damaged.

Mrs. Zoe Bauernfeind who raises Rock Alpine goats which are an unusual strain in this country, received an order for one of them from the Hawaiian islands, recently.

Mrs. Harry Yarnell entertained Sunday with a dinner in honor of her son, Clifford, whose birthday was on that day. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Crider and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Yarnell with their son and daughter, George and Lou Yarnell, all of Bickleton, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Ross White of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Schlevoight, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Peterson and sons, Elmer and Henry, Dorothy and Melvin Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ledbetter and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ball and children. Mrs. P. C. Peterson baked the birthday cake which graced the table. It was a huge one and beautifully decorated.

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Ross White returned to Portland, accompanied by Clifford Yarnell who will enjoy fleet week with them.

The July Topic club party was given at the home of Mrs. C. W. Swanson with Mrs. Swanson, Mrs. Inez Freeland, Mrs. D. M. Ward and Mrs. Ture Peterson as hostesses. Four tables of bridge were at play, prizes going to Mrs. Earl Blake and Mrs. E. R. Lundell. Ice cream, cake and punch were served.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Rankin and sons were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heliker. Stewart remained to work on the Heliker farm during harvest.

Willows Grange Home Economics club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Ledbetter last Friday. The meeting was an all day one with a pot luck dinner at noon. A committee was appointed to prepare plans for a float to be entered in the Rodeo parade.

The Women's Topic club gave a tea on the Masonic hall lawn on Tuesday afternoon to raise funds to pay the freight on the recent shipment of books received from the state library, and other expenses.

FEMALE PHEASANT BANNED

No hens will be permitted in the bag of pheasant hunters when the season opens in October, according to a ruling announced by the state game commission this week. Ruffed and native grouse are also placed on the taboo list.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Barratt departed Sunday evening for Montana where Mr. Barratt went to look after his sheep on summer range near Browning. They expected to enjoy a vacation in the Glacier national park district before returning home.

Oregon Traffic Deaths

A series of weekly articles on the problem of Highway Safety by Earl Snell, Secretary of State.

Two out of every five victims of traffic accidents are pedestrians. Of the 37,800 fatalities in 1936, pedestrians made up 15,100. Clearly no safety campaign can be complete that does not include consideration of the pedestrian.

This is especially true on account of the fact that such a large number of the pedestrian victims are little children and elderly people. Intelligent driving and proper care by the motor car operator will naturally solve a considerable part of this problem, but many, many accidents, especially in the cities, can be avoided by proper use of the streets by the people "on foot."

Most of these fatalities occurred in cities, the greater part at intersections. The deaths among people walking along the highways in rural sections totaled 2,450, and the toll among children playing on the roadways was a serious matter. These are accidents that are especially tragic on account of the fact that they could be so easily avoided.

Schools are doing a fine work in training children to be constantly aware of the hazards of traffic. But it is a work that must be carried on constantly, that requires repeated instruction and warning.

Do not walk on the highway at night dressed in dark clothes. Be sure of a clear right of way when crossing the streets. Do not cross between intersections. Obey the rules of common sense at all times, and help eliminate Oregon's traffic deaths.

RETURNS FROM TAHOE

Jackson Gilliam returned this week from Lake Tahoe where he attended an annual regional Episcopal conclave. He attended as president of Eastern Oregon Association of Young Peoples Fellowships.

Thomas Gonty Named In Model Contest

Thomas Gonty, 16, son of E. N. Gonty of Heppner, was named second state junior winner with a $75 cash award in a competition sponsored by Fisher Body Craftsman's guild, winners of which were announced for the Pacific northwest region at Portland this week. Contestants carved out miniature automobiles to the scale of one inch to one foot, painted and polished them to perfection and sent them to Portland to be judged.

Ronald Miller, 17, of Portland won a free trip to Detroit and a $100 cash award as first prize for the region, and William Lyons, Jr., 15, of Portland, won a $100 award as first junior winner in the state.

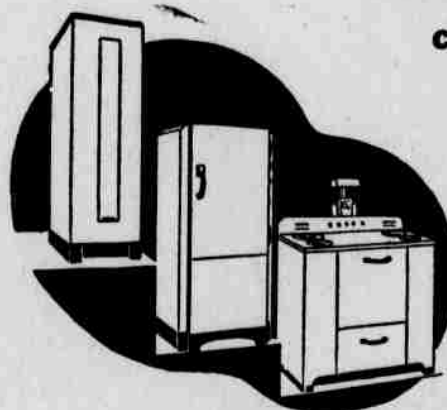

Clarence Braden, senior member of Braden-Bell Tractor and Implement company, from Walla Walla, was a visitor at the company's local office Tuesday.
