CAMP HEPPNER NEWS

Millard D. Rodman, camp superintendent, has just returned from a two-weeks' annual leave. He says he had a splendid time and went as far east as St. Paul, Minn.

Earl Victor, assistant to A. W. Middleton of the regional office at Spokane, visited the camp. He and Mr. Rodman made a tour of inspection of the different work projects.

A. H. Wahgren, with headquarters at the county agent's office at Heppner, spent the past week in Camp Heppner securing information from Mr. Frandsen and Mr. Tullar.

Lawrence P. Doherty, student assistant to technicians, will be leaving us soon. Doherty is taking leave September 20. He plans to take a short rest, then he intends to resume his educational work at Oregon State college.

Erling K. J. Thoen arrived at Camp Heppner from Beulah, Ore., last week. Mr. Thoen is taking over the position as camp mechanic, vacated by Bert Brown of The Dalles. He plans to build up the mechanical equipment of Camp Heppner to a much higher standard of efficiency.

INTERIOR IMPROVED

The local Safeway store has taken on new appearance inside, having recently been kalsomined, repainted and cleaned. A spirit of light and cheer is thus added to the interior.

Our puff paste patties are a real delight,
They're tender, flaky, and taste just right;
Eat them once—make this test
And you'll agree they're the best

Our puff paste patties fairly melt in your mouth. When filled with creamed chicken, peas, shrimp or fruit they make a quickly prepared and tasty adjunct for any meal. Order a dozen today.

OSC Religious Workers Organize for New Year

Corvallis—Three full-time workers in Corvallis churches, together with Dr. E. W. Warrington, head of the religious education department at the state college, will head the religious activities among students on the campus for the coming year. This staff remains the same as last year with the exception of the addition of Miss Sybil Tucker, formerly of Portland, who is the new director of student activities in the Wesley Foundation of the First Methodist church.

Mrs. John McCormick is continuing in charge of Westminster Foundation, which serves the Presbyterian and Congregational students, while Rev. Wm. Schoeler continues as Lutheran student pastor.

Working with these full-time leaders is a religious workers' council of 15 students including presidents of the young peoples organizations in the various Corvallis churches and the heads of the campus YMCA and YWCA organizations.

Orchard Cover Crops Protect Bank Account

"Save the surface and you save all," a paint company slogan, certainly applies to soils.

"When an owner allows his top soil to wash away he has literally sold his farm down the river."

"The practice of close pasturing of sod orchards may be fine for the livestock, but it doesn't help to fill boxes in the packing shed."

These are a few of the pungent observations included in a new extension bulletin entitled, "Orchard Soil Covers," which discusses the why and how of maintaining soil fertility in Oregon orchards through the use of cover or green manure crops. The bulletin is a joint production of O. T. McWhorter, E. R. Jackman and Arthur King, O. S. C.

THE STAR Reporter

"Servant of the People," a two-reel subject dramatizing the story of the United States Constitution and hailed as a feature in everything but length, is a special added attraction, Friday and Saturday. We are especially happy to have this subject for showing on the 150th anniversary of the signing of our Constitution.

The double feature program consists of "Rustlers Valley," a Hop-along Cassidy story, and "Pick a Star," a daffy, ding-dong musical with Patsy Kelly, Jack Haley, Rosina Lawrence, Mischa Auer, Lyda Roberti, Laurel and Hardy.

Sunday-Monday:

Rudyard Kipling's "WEE WILLIE WINKIE," starring SHIRLEY TEMPLE with Victor McLaglen, C. Aubrey Smith, June Lang, Michael Whalen and Cesar Romero.

Tuesday: The Big Night:

"You Can't Beat Love" with Preston Foster and Joan Fontaine; also, episode 2 of "Jungle Menace" and "Community Sing."

Wed.-Thu., Sept. 22-23:

"NIGHT MUST FALL," co-starring Rosalind Russell with Robert Montgomery, in a daring departure from his previous comedy roles.

Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 22-23 are Pal Nights: 2 adults 35c; 2 children 10c.

"The fertility of the soil underneath the tree in an orchard may be regarded as the owner's bank account," the authors point out. "Every time a crop of fruit is taken off, a check is drawn on that account. When a cover crop is turned down or manures are added, a deposit is made. In many orchards the checks are more numerous than the deposits. Nature spent some millions of years in building up the fertility account. Twenty years of poor management will bankrupt it."

The bulletin tells why orchards require a steady return of organic matter if they are to remain profitable, and then lists many different kinds of crops which are suitable under the varying soil and climatic conditions where orchards are grown in Oregon. The double purpose of a cover crop is adding fertility and protecting the soil against erosion is emphasized. Use of fertilizers with cover crops is advised in many cases.

Sod orchards are experimental only for non irrigated conditions, but a permanent cover crop in irrigated orchards is now strongly endorsed by many of the most successful growers, say the specialists.

"I make money and save money by treating seed wheat and barley with NEW IMPROVED CERESAN"

Experiment Stations of most important grain states have proved it pays to use New Improved CERESAN. Reduces seedling blight, stinking smut of wheat, covered and black loose smuts and stripe of barley. Average yield increase in tests, 6%. Easily dusted on as directed. May be applied as long as 3 months before sowing. No dust in drilling, no drill injury, no change in seeding rate. And only about half the cost of other dust treatments!
