- New Building
- New Relief Law
- 6800 Refused

By A. L. LINDBECK

SALEM.—The new building which the state will erect on a property being acquired just north of the capitol site will be combined office and library building. This was decided at a meeting of the Capitol Reconstruction commission with the Board of Control here Saturday. The new structure which will be approximately 100 by 200 feet and three stories high will cost approximately $739,000. It will be finished in marble to match the capitol building if that material can be had at the architect's estimate. Otherwise Indiana limestone will be substituted.

While the plans for the new structure will make provision for the accommodation of a number of other state departments it will be so arranged that the entire building may be converted into library uses in the future if necessary. Provision will be made in the immediate plans to take care of library expansion for at least 12 years.

Whitehouse & Church, Portland architects, who are designing the new structure, expressed doubts as to their ability to complete the plans by November 1, the deadline set by the Public Works administration which is contributing $450,000 toward the construction cost to supplement the $550,000 appropriation voted by the last legislature.

The board also gave its approval to the Capitol commission's plans for the construction of a power and heating plant to serve the entire capitol group and for the landscaping of the newly acquired property according to plans submitted by the designers of the new capitol. These plans include widening of Summer street to provide a more dignified approach to the capitol, construction of mirror pools and the planting of shrubs and trees in the parkings and on the building sites. Governor Martin told the Capitol commission that the State Highway department would take over most of the proposed landscaping program, thus saving most of the $57,000 estimated cost of this program which will thus be available for expenditure on the new building.

The Capitol commission at Saturday's meeting revealed that it plans to not only purchase the entire block of property north of the capitol site and west of Summer street on which the new building is to be located but the half block bordering on Summer street just east of that property and the corner lots on the two blocks to the north. This will permit of immediate widening of the capitol approach, it was explained.

Oregon's relief roll hit a new low in the five-year history of the state relief committee during August, according to a report submitted to Governor Martin by Elmer Goudy, relief administrator. Only 6418 persons were on direct relief throughout the state in August, the report shows. That is a decrease of 1141 from July and 429 fewer than were on relief in August, 1936. Goudy said that he expected little if any change in the relief situation for September.

More than 6800 Oregon motorists have been refused operator's permits this year, according to Secretary of State Snell. Examiners for the motor vehicle operator's division have rejected 2217 because they did not know how to drive, 2121 were turned down because of ignorance of the traffic laws, 1540 applicants were found to have defective vision and 512 had other physical or mental handicaps. Twenty-three applicants were found to be epileptics. Twenty-two could not interpret road signs.

Numerous improvements at the state fair grounds will be made possible as a result of the financial success of the fair this year, according to Leo Spitzbart, manager. One of the improvements to be undertaken immediately will be the construction of an extension to the new livestock pavilion. Cash receipts at the fair this year exceeded $80,000, topping 1936 receipts by more than $10,-

000. More than 95,000 persons paid their way into the grounds during the week and the wagering on the horse races, totalling $93,776, far exceeded any previous year's record since the pari-mutuals were installed at the fair.

It takes the average motorist three-fourths of a second to react to an emergency, according to "reactometer" tests made at the state fair under the direction of Secretary of State Snell. In that three-fourths of a second an automobile travelling at a speed of 40 miles an hour will cover a distance of 44 feet, plus an additional 88 feet after the motorist has reacted to the emergency and applied the brakes.

Adventure Is Coming In The American Boy

Readers who like adventure and the lure of far places will find plenty to please them in coming issues of THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. They'll read, for instance, of seamen and sabotage and San Francisco water-front trouble; of daring adventure in the world of pseudo-science, and of a fued aboard a plunging, rolling battleship.

They'll read, too, of excitement aboard a transport plane blaring over jungled Mexican mountains, and of stranger planes that are not bound to earth but swing through the noiselessness of space. Readers can follow a young ex-Mountie as he searches for clues in the wild northlands, and Tierney, the pie-eating detective, on the trail of city criminals.

A new feature of THE AMERICAN BOY is picture pages that tell stories. Pictures, for instance, that vividly show a day in the life of a coast guardsman, and how an Eskimo husky sled dog does his work. They transmit the thrill of battling a hundred pound, water-churning tarpon. Tips on how it's done are also given pictorially—ranging from how to run a broken field to how to be correct in a ballroom!

NOTE: Subscription prices of THE AMERICAN BOY will be raised in the near future. Send your subscription order at once to take advantage of the bargain rates now in effect: one year at $1.00 or three years at $2.00. Foreign subscriptions 50c a year extra. Send your name, address and remittance to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. On newsstands the price is 15c a copy.

ing. Lt. Donnelly drew "attack" and graduated with a class of 27, out of the 135 beginners with whom he started, indicating the student mortality. The mortality, however, was through failure in studies rather than by death.

When his class started at Kelly they were informed that under the law of averages which had so far prevailed two of their number would lose their lives in training ship flights. Fortunate, not one life was lost in his class, though to date since graduation six classmates had succumbed to the hazards of flying.

His narrowest escape he cited as one time while flying across the desert of New Mexico he ran out of gas and had to make a forced landing in dangerous country. The ship went over on its back and he was two days without food or water before a cowboy arrived on the scene to help him out. He escaped serious injury, though was cut and bruised considerably.

The lieutenant's story was related without show of egotism, and his winning manner of speech kept his audience tense as they received the picture of making an army aviator. There was much more reference to different parts of the training, and anecdotes of experience, more or less serious.

One of the lighter stories classic at Kelly was anent two Chinese students who had finished a few years before he arrived. They were sent on a flying mission northwest of the field. They were not heard of for several days when a telegram arrived from Corpus Christi, far to the south, which read: "Lost, but know where we are."

Lions were specially honored at the luncheon by being privileged to partake of the blue-ribbon watermelon exhibited at North Morrow County fair at Irrigon last week end. It was brought from the fair by Sheriff C. J. D. Bauman as a gift from the grower, Frank Leicht. Weighing 51 pounds, the melon provided more than enough for everyone to eat, though the manner in which it disappeared paid high tribute to its excellent quality.

Robert Knox, physical education director, and Kenneth McKenzie, assistant physical education director for the grades, were introduced as guests from the school. The club voted its support to the petition asking for improved mail service for Heppner.
