

Local Happenings

B. A. McDowell was treated at a local doctor's office Tuesday for a dislocated left shoulder received at the C. A. Warren ranch on Dry Fork where he was working. The injury was sustained when he reached up to protect himself against a telephone wire under which he was driving a tractor, the wire jerking the arm out of place. An internal hemorrhage was also suffered. He was taken to the home of Mrs. Phil Griffin in this city.

M. E. Duran was among farmers of the Lexington district transacting business in the city Tuesday. He reported having been busy burning straw on his fields preparatory to fall seeding which he expected to start soon. His section of Blackhorse was favored by recent rains which visited the county, although more moisture would be welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bleakney from Boardman spent several hours in the county seat Monday on business. Mr. Bleakney called at the judge's office to find out about the new weed control set-up and reported the noxious weed situation to be quite bad on the project.

Viola Herm of Yakima county, Wash., and William F. Botts of Morrow county, were united in marriage at the courthouse Tuesday by J. O. Hager, justice of the peace, following issuance of license at the clerk's office.

For the dance at Ione, Nov. 20, Willows grange dance committee, sponsors, promise all members of the orchestra will be on hand. They express regrets that this was not the case at a recent dance sponsored by them.

Lyle Tilden, turkey grader from Hermiston, spent several days in this vicinity this week looking over local birds. Several flocks here-about will turn out some fine birds this year, he says.

Margaret O'Conner Glavey was transacting business in town Tuesday from the Rhea creek ranch. Favorable growing conditions on the range are prevailing at present, she reported.

James Carsner was here Tuesday on business from the ranch near Spray. He got his buck deer this season as is his annual custom with good hunting grounds close at hand.

Bill Greener came in from the ranch south of Hardman Saturday, being interested, among other things, in securing information from the county agent on killing gophers.

Mrs. Mary Lindsey was transacting business in the city Tuesday from the Morgan vicinity, being interested in a number of social events scheduled by Willows grange.

Donald Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Peterson of Ione, underwent an emergency operation for ruptured appendix at Heppner hospital Tuesday evening.

American Legion Auxiliary will hold the regular business meeting Monday evening, Nov. 8, at the home of Mrs. Harold Cohn. All members are urged to attend.

W. Dixon has returned to his home in Seattle after a two-months sojourn with his son, Marvin Dixon, CCC educational adviser, and family.

Mrs. Frank Alfred spent the week end with Mr. Alfred, coming up from The Dalles where she is assisting in state relief work.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet in the basement of the church Tuesday, Nov. 9, at 2:30 p. m.

Ervin Anderson was a business visitor in the city from the Ione vicinity Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Marquardt were visiting friends in town Sunday from the north Lexington farm.

Harold French, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hughes of the Lena district were callers in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pruyn and Mrs. Mary Thomson spent a few days in Pendleton this week.

Mrs. Archie Padberg was a business visitor in the city Saturday from Lexington.

W. H. French was in town Tuesday from Blue Mountain farm south of Hardman.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Ball left this week for a week's vacation in Portland.

C. A. MINOR VISITS

C. A. Minor of Mt. Vernon, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brady, son-in-law and daughter, of Mitchell, were visitors in the city Friday. Mr. Minor consulted a physician while in the city, having received injuries from a fall while hunting a few days before that contributed to his feeling of illness. He reported that he is starting a new industry with the assistance of two grandsons, Minor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brady, and the other the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Minor. This industry is the making of pottery for which locally acquired materials are used. He foresees a bright future for this industry. While visiting at the home of his son, Ellis, in the Ozark region of Missouri recently, Mr. Minor was granted an audience with Grace O'Neill, artist, at her castle on the bank of a nearby lake, who asked to see him after reading one of his poems. The artist's castle was a veritable museum of antiques, worthy of several days' time for thorough inspection, said Mr. Minor. A chair in which he was privileged to sit was valued at $5000. Miss O'Neill herself was a very gracious and charming hostess and the visit proved enjoyable and profitable.

U. S. Geological Survey Director Lived Here as Boy

Another Heppner boy who has risen to high place was revealed in the current issue of Pacific Power & Light Company Bulletin, which reported:

Dr. W. C. Mendenhall, director of the U. S. Geological survey, visited the Portland office September 28 to confer with Lewis A. McArthur on problems in connection with the topographic mapping program of the United States. Also present at the meetings were Messrs. Canfield and Piper of the Portland office of the geological survey.

Dr. Mendenhall, whose headquarters are in Washington, D. C., is a former Oregonian. He lived in Heppner as a very small boy and later attended the old Portland high school on Southwest Morrison street.

HEARING OF PUPILS GOOD IN COUNTY

More Handicapped by Poor Eyesight; Work on Typhoid Promised at Boardman

Hearing of Morrow county school pupils was revealed to be generally good, with a larger number handicapped by poor vision than by poor hearing, reports Miss Althea Stoneman at the completion of two months of special health work in the county under sponsorship of Morrow County Public Health association and the county court.

In determining those pupils of poor hearing, audiometer tests were given all pupils in the county from the fourth grade through the high school. Loss of hearing above 6 percent in one or both ears was revealed in but 18 cases, while only five were placed in the handicapped class where loss of hearing in one or both ears was 20 percent or more.

Following up the local tuberculosis clinics, Drs. Odell and Newmeyer at the Eastern Oregon Tuberculosis hospital flouroscooped fifty individuals of whom three were x-rayed. No active lung involvement was found. Some had made a complete healing of infected glands and with one exception others were making satisfactory progress.

Miss Stoneman reports that the state board of health through Dr. Bostrum has promised to clear up the typhoid situation at Boardman.

He has been doing this work for years, in fact all kinds of public health work. He recently attended a parent-teachers meeting at Boardman where he was invited to speak on typhoid, and cited that 25 cases of typhoid had been known in Boardman in the last 25 years, resulting in three known deaths.

NO DEVASTATING COLD STARTING with the The "CAT"

These cold mornings make Caterpillar owners appreciate its independent starting system, making possible a Diesel engine designed for minimum wear and fuel economy.

See a footballer trotting on the side lines; horses practicing before the race; airplanes "revving" their engines before the take-off.

—It's the conditioning period known as "warming up." "Caterpillar" Diesel engines use it. The starting engine (strictly independent) turns the big engine over to break the oil film, runs it against compression, but without fuel until it is warm.

Thus is the "Caterpillar" Diesel conditioned for starting—cylinder temperatures are sufficient—oil is flowing to vital parts—before the engine starts.
