Senior Play Success

The play, "The White Phantom," a farce mystery, was presented by the Senior class last Friday evening and was well received by an appreciative crowd. Each character portrayed his part well. Arlene Morton as the colored house maid furnished many laughs.

Let's Cooperate

There seems to be a slight tendency for us to be down-hearted, due to the one-sided score against Heppner last Friday. Even the team has been criticized as to their ability. Someone must win, and only a perfect team can have an undefeated season. As there is no perfect team, one loss out of four games is still something to be proud of. Therefore, a defeat is not something to be moaned about, but should give rise to a renewed spirit of enthusiasm; for if there is any team which needs backing, it is a losing team. Let's all make it a point to prove to the squad that we're still with them, whether they win or lose. Let's also make the coming game with Hermiston a test of our support, even though the odds seem to be against us.

Alumni Snatches

Irene Beamer, who is attending Pacific university, spent the week end visiting friends and relatives in Heppner.

Lois Ashbaugh is doing secretarial work for Mrs. Lucy Rodgers.

Len Gilman, gridster at Pacific university, starred for his team against Albany college Friday by scoring two touchdowns.

Game at Fossil This Friday

Next Friday's game with Fossil, at Fossil, will surely be no easy task for the local Mustangs. Two weeks ago Condon beat them only by one point, the final score being 7-6. Fossil seems to have improved a great deal since the first of the year and are looking forward to the Heppner game.

Eighth Grade News

Kathryn Nys, a former pupil of Heppner grade school and now going to St. Mary's Cathedral in Portland, visited the eighth grade Monday morning.

The eighth grade has begun to assemble material for its school newspaper. They hope to publish it soon.

Cranium Breaker

A and B make a wager as to the distance a car, traveling on a level road at 50 miles an hour, will coast if the gas is cut off and the clutch released simultaneously. In the test, the car ran on-half as far in the second minute after the power was cut off as in the first; one half as far in the third minute as in the second, continued to coast 180 feet and then stopped. If the car ran one-half the entire distance that it coasted during the first minute, who won the bet? A, who bet that it would not coast more than 1,200 feet; and B, that it would coast nearly 1,500 feet? The answer to this problem will appear in this column next week.

HUMOR

Ruth Green: "How did you like my speech before the class yesterday?"

Maxine Mc.: "Now you're fishing for a compliment."

Ruth: "No, I never fish in shallow water."

Van Marter (boasting): "Boy, when I hit a man, he knows it."

Harold A.: "That's nothing, Bif Boy. When I hit a man, he doesn't know it until a week later."

Cora S.: "Do you play an instrument of any kind, Laura?"

Laura (sadly): "Only second fiddle at home."

Emery C.: "What do you call a man who drives a car?"

Art Mc.: "It all depends on how close he comes to me."

Joe A.: "Do girls really like conceited men better than the other kind?"

Irena Mc.: "What other kind?"

Norval: "Gee, there's an awful lot of girls stuck on me."

Buddy: "Yea! They must be an awful lot."

Harry: "Thinking of me, Dearest?"

Jeanette: "Was I laughing? I'm sorry."

Mr. Knox: "Now, since we have learned about triangles, circles, and squares, I wonder if anyone can tell me what a rhombus is?"

Austin Mc.: "Yes, Coach, I can. A rhombus is a square, only it's sort of pushed over."

Don Ed.: "Who is student body treasurer?"

Paul Mc.: "Scott is; why?"

Don: "I wanted to borrow a dollar."

Porter (cheerfully): "Yo miss yo train, huh?"

Marvin: "Naw, I was just chasing it out of the station cause I didn't like its looks."

Jerry Casteel: "This is a very small steak you gave me."

Lloyd: "I know it, but it will take you a long time to eat it."

Shirley Wilson: "Bill, why do you wear such loud socks?"

Bill B: "To keep my feet from falling asleep."

Mrs. Clark: "It gives me much pleasure to give you 85 in English."

Rufus: "Gee, wouldn't it be thrilling to give me 100!"

Customer: "This soup sure tastes funny."

Jack Merrill: "Well, why don't you laugh?"

When I first heard these jokes, I laughed so much I kicked the slats out of the cradle.

Jean Hays (calling Guy from across the street): "Guy, come here."

Guy: "What do you want?"

Jean: "Will you put my mail in the post office?"

Guy: "Aw, shucks."
