Thanksgiving

Many of us get down upon the world sometimes in our lives. We think that everything is wrong and can't see any good in anything. On the whole, it is not all our fault; perhaps something does go wrong, then everything seems that way.

Thanksgiving will be here Thursday; so regardless of our troubles let's forget them and think of everything we have to be thankful for.

Just sit down to that dinner with our thoughts upon the brighter side of life and make an impression upon the dinner.

Let's draw all the little glooms out of the week and fill it with happiness and joys. We hope everyone has a very happy Thanksgiving.

Football Banquet Ends Season

Taps were blown upon Heppner High's football season at a banquet given last Saturday evening at the Parish house. It was prepared by the Home Economics club, supervised by Miss Nordstrom.

Coach Knox, acting as toastmaster, requested each boy to make a speech. Mr. Blankenship congratulated the team and the six football players who are graduating this year, on what they did throughout their football careers.

Basketball Season Opens

Heppner high school's basketball season will officially open next Tuesday against Ione at the local gymnasium. Ione is reported to have the strongest team in years, while Heppner's ranks are greatly depleted by graduation last year.

No starting line-up has been given due to the few practices. Following this game, will be one with Adams, coached by Mr. Tetz, former Heppner coach.

Here and There

Emery Coxen, Wilfred Stone, Milton Morgan and Jackson Gilliam were among Heppner visitors in Pendleton Saturday.

A group of Heppner young people were seen at the dance at Hardman, Saturday evening.

Richard Hayes spent the week end in Corvallis.

Pep Club Gives Program

An assembly was given last week by the five new members of the Pep club, as part of their initiation. The new members are Scott McMurdo, Bethal Blake, Carolyn Vaughn, Buddy Blakely and Paul Doolittle. Their program consisted of a debate, Resolved: "That mosquitoes should be given government rights." The negative speakers were Bethal Blake and Buddy Blakely. The affirmative speakers were Scott McMurdo and Carolyn Vaughn. The chairman was Paul Doolittle. The judges, other members of the Pep club, could not reach their decision, so will refer to Congress for their answer.

Eighth Grade News

Philip Cohn, who has just returned from a trip East, gave an interesting report of his travels to the eighth grade class Monday morning.

A movie was shown to the grade school Monday morning. It was the story of Boulder Dam from the time it was begun until it was finished. It went into every detail of construction and was very interesting. Another short reel called "Heritage" was also shown.

Guess Who?

He's a two year vet.
He takes part in all sports;
He wears clothes of all sorts.
He goes with a select set.
He's a swell fellow, you bet!
If you don't know this man,
Visit room three, and soon you can.

PINTO POINTS

Reviving remnants of recent rovinings over gridiron realms . . . The roughest, toughest player with the most envious ability of being able to take it as well as dish it out: Oscar, the tackling dummy. The flashiest team, Arlington . . . also to that team goes the honor of possessing the most intricate play seen this season . . . a triple reverse lateral and forward pass, six men handling the ball before the completion of the play. The school claiming the most uncertain schedule, Heppner. The surprise team of the year, both as to fighting spirit and weight, Fossil . . . boasting an aggregation averaging 137 pounds that held Heppner to a 6 to 6 tie. The most ghastly rumor concerning a member of the Heppner football squad . . . that Dean Gilman, frosh bullback, was residing in the local county jail as the result of a Hallowe'en prank. The player whose absence from the Mustang line-up proved to be a bad luck jinx, Jackson Gilliam . . . his attendance was required elsewhere on the dates of two Heppner games, and the results of that duo of battles were a defeat and a tie for the local team. Potentially, one of the greatest teams in this section of the country, guess? the most forgetful and over anxious player, a member of the Hermiston contingent . . . after having played football for four years, this footballer, on entering the game, failed to report to the proper official . . . this act cost his team a five yard penalty that was most advantageous to the opposing team. The shiekkest appearing eleven, Fossil . . . with the numerous razor-thin strips of bristles adorning the upper lips of several members of that outfit. Season's bone-head play, ??? . . . guess again. Closest punting average between two teams, Heppner-Hermiston . . . 27 yards, one and one-fifth feet for the Mustangs, and an even 27 yards for the Bulldogs. The team that will probably, within a short time, closely resemble an eleven man mountaineer unit, Condon . . . the Gilliam county boys started the cultivation of beards several weeks prior to their game with Arlington, and swore never to shave them off until they stepped on Arlington's neck . . . the soon-to-appear hill-billy boys lost that battle, meaning that the two schools will not meet again on the gridiron until next fall. Most tense moment in a game, so far as Heppner was concerned . . . the attempt by Heppner to make the conversion after pushing over the tying touchdown in the Hermiston contest . . . however, the kick was low and left the score standing at 6 all. The most upright, outstanding object of the year, the lone erect goalpost that still remained in place after part of the Hermiston student body, wishing to save the local athletic managers some unnecessary labor, removed the others from their rather unstable positions in terra firma . . . perhaps this may also be properly termed the biggest pushover of the season. The team most greatly handicapped, Touchet . . . this school sent on its trips, a traveling squad of only 12 players. The deep dark question of the recent Hermiston skirmish . . . what would have been the outcome of that game if, on the try for point, Heppner had attempted an end run instead of kicking for the conversion, after Van Marter's touchdown tied the score? The man who produced the attendance-drawing football team that drew the largest athletic crowds to the Rodeo grounds in many years, Robert Knox.

into his car and drove like fury to the police station.

Maybe the nation would feel a bit more optimistic if the girls would get their fingernails out of the red.

Hugh Crawford (Tuesday, 8:00 p. m., at band practice) with yawn: "Ho-hum, gosh! I wish this was Saturday morning and I was in bed."

Doctor: "Have you got any organic troubles?"
Andy Davidson: "I think I have. I can't even carry a tune."

Jeanette Blakely (at busy street corner): "I shall certainly cross, officer. I've as much right on this street as that truck has."
Officer: "Sure you have, lady—but leave your name and address before you start."

Don Bennett: "How tall is that native hunter?"
Norval Osborn: "About six feet two in his stalking feet."

Diner: "Do you serve crabs here?"
Jack Merrill: "We serve anyone; sit down."

Coach: "Suppose it was the fourth down, on their 14-yard line, with the score tied and three minutes to go. What would you do?"
Harry O'Donnell: "I'd slide down farther on the bench to get a better look at the next play."
Friend: "What is your son taking up in college this year?"
Dad: "Space! Nothing but space!"

Lond-winded lecturer: "If I have talked too long, it's because I have not my watch with me, and there's no clock in this hall."
Voice from audience: "There's a calendar behind you."

More advice to the Freshmen—wise and otherwise:
Never get your English, depend on the teacher for a speech.
Skip gym when possible.
Don't buy typing paper; borrow it.
Don't walk down the steps; it isn't necessary.
If you must study, study in General Science.
Don't pay your class tax; it isn't proper.
Always be like the sophomores; mind the juniors.

The Question Box—for the lovelorn, dumb-bells, etc:
Dean Sprinkel: "Do small cows give condensed milk?" "No, Dean, condensed milk is made by trying to get a quart of milk in a pint bottle, a very rare occurrence."
Joe Aiken: "I am in love with a very homely girl, but she doesn't seem to care for me, while a pretty girl with a swell car is deeply in love with me. What shall I do?" "Dear Joe, marry the girl you love, and send me the name and address of the other."
Bob S.: "After graduation from high school, I plan on buying a small ranch and taking a wife. What would you advise?" "Dear Bob, I would advise you to be careful whose wife you take."
Don Bennett: "Help ! ! ! I am stranded in the middle of the Pacific with not a boat in sight. What shall I do?" "Dear Don, our space is up, but don't go away; we'll be back again next week."

When all my thoughts in vain are thunk,
And all my winks in vain are wunk,
What saves me from a rocky flunk?
My ability to study! (Ruth Green)

HUMOR

You Wouldn't Believe It
A backwoods mountaineer one day found a mirror which a tourist had lost.
"Well, if it ain't my old dad," he said, a she looked in the mirror. "I never knowed he had his pitcher took."
He carried the mirror home and, being rather ashamed of his dad's "pitcher," he stole into the attic and hid it. But his actions didn't escape his suspicious wife. That night while he slept, she slipped up to the attic and found the mirror.
"Hum-um," she said, looking into it, "so that's the old hag he's been chasin'!"

It Wasn't There!
The absent - minded professor drove up to his garage door, looked inside, and blinked. Then he leaped

QUINTS "IDENTICAL"
Corvallis—Scientists have concluded that the Dionne quintuplets are monozygotic, that is, developed from a single egg, and thus correspond to identical twins, reports Mrs. Sara Prentiss, professor of child development at Oregon State college. Mrs. Prentiss, while doing graduate work in the east, was recently invited to attend a special conference of scientists who visited the quintts and heard detailed reports on their progress. The percentage of difference among the five famous sisters is no greater than that expected between twins known to be identical, the scientists reported after many tests and measurements.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burnside were shopping in town Tuesday from the ranch in the Hardman district.
