Condon Cagers Win

Continued from First Page squad was evidently thought of as not having a great honor attached to it, and the boys of both teams, seemingly aware of that fact, failed to play as hard as they did in the afternoon, although they put up a good game. The outcome of the fray was never in doubt, with Partlow and Wilson, Boardmans' stellar players, leading the scoring attack for their team. Skoubo and Wilson both went out on fouls in this contest. The semi-final games displayed more exciting basketball than did the finals, although the championship Condon-Umatilla tangle did provide more thrills than were expected; for it was predicted Condon would run away from the Vikings. Saturday afternoon's first game between Heppner and Umatilla took all prizes for the best game of the tournament. Heppner was not even conceded an outside chance of winning a tournament game, but such basketball melees seem to provide that extra push so necessary to a winning team, and this was the case with Heppner. Although they won from Irrigon, Heppner was supposedly a push-over for the smooth-working Umatilla outfit. Before the game was over, everyone had changed his or her mind. This game won by Umatilla, 31-38, went into an over-time period, the only one of the tournament. Although Montgobere, Umatilla's all-star, put his team in the lead with an early basket, Aiken quickly retaliated with a field goal, and shortly thereafter Coxen sank one from just inside the double line. Following that, Coxen netted two more beautiful baskets, one on a beautiful whirling one-handed shot from the outer edge of the foul circle, and one under the net to put Heppner in the scoring lead by a 8 to 2 score. Bray made a lay-in shot for Umatilla that brought his squad's score up to 4, while Heppner hung on to its 8 points. The boys from the Umatilla river area started clicking in the second quarter and ran up 13 points while holding the Mustangs to three tallies. This quarter was marked by innumerable scrambles under the basket. The half-time score was 17 to 11 for Umatilla. Umatilla hung onto its lead in the third quarter, with the height advantage of the Vikings a deciding factor in their favor. Brown and Bray scored for Umatilla, while Drake, Barratt and Coxen did the same for Heppner. With the score 25 to 17, Umatilla on the long end of the third quarter final, the probable encouraging thought of playing for the championship raised the Heppner boys to scoring moods. The Mustangs put on an offensive drive in the last quarter of 10 points, while Umatilla was barely able to push in one basket, that by Gene Hiatt, the lanky center with the high-scoring record. Drake, bespectacled freshman center for Heppner, hooped a corner shot and a free throw, with Aiken also making a foul toss, but Hiatt countered with a set-up. With the scoreboard displaying large red numbers of 27 on the Umatilla side and 21 on the Heppner, Barratt looped a beautiful one-hander over his guard. Again Drake gained offensive notions and slapped one in from under the basket. One minute to go and Morgan, Heppner forward, took the ball away from a Umatilla ball-handler and on a solo dash, made a lay-in shot that tied things up at 27-all. Gene Hiatt had a chance to give his team a victory with a free throw, as did Brown, who was fouled by Morgan almost simultaneously as the final whistle blew, but both muffed, thereby sending the game into an over-time period. The extra three minutes, however, worked to the advantage of Umatilla, although it looked like Heppner when O'Donnell made a free throw that rosied things up for the Mustangs. Hiatt and Bray each posted field goals that gave Umatilla a 31 to 28 win and the right to play for the sub-district title. The remaining semi-final tilt, a scrapping game between the slightly bewhiskered Condon team and the showy Boardman club, started out as though it was Condons in a walk, with the latter in the lead at half time, 17-7; however, Boardman opened up with a basket barrage that had Condon digging down to keep ahead in the ball game. Condon lost two men, Young and Simmonds, on fouls in the last few minutes, but Boardman was unable to make the opportunity advantageous. Schoolmasters Will Meet at Boardman Schoolmasters, school madams, wives and sweethearts are invited to the mixed banquet held by the school masters club at Boardman on March 21 at 6:30.

The women teachers and wives of school men have been wondering just what happens on these monthly occasions when the school men meet and seemingly have such a good time, and so that curiosity will be appeased. Men are cautioned to be on their best behavior at this meeting which will be rather a change from previous meetings. However, the schoolmasters are looking forward to this meeting when the pedagogues can get better acquainted with their teaching neighbors. An appropriate program will be arranged and a banquet served by Boardman P. T. A.

LEATHERS-SHERMAN

Mr. Kunsman at his parsonage in the presence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Golda Leathers, and aunt, Mrs. C. C. Carmichael. Both newlyweds are teachers in the Lexington school.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Spurlock were week-end visitors from Ukiah at the home of Mrs. Spurlock's mother, Mrs. Ada Cason.
