

Beautiful Homes Sought by Lions In New Campaign

Service vs. Exploitation Theme of Minister's Talk

Arousing public consciousness to civic betterment through beautiful lawns and gardens is the objective of a movement started at the Monday Lions luncheon when M. L. Case, B. C. Pinckney and C. J. D. Bauman were named on a committee to consider ways and means of promoting a widespread interest in making more attractive yards.

What others may hope to accomplish in raising lawns, flowers and shrubs has been seen in many instances in the past, the club discussion revealed, and if general appreciation of the home beautiful theme be instilled, the city's ensemble appearance and the citizens' pride in home and city will be greatly improved, it was believed.

While development of the competition among home owners was discussed by the club, the committee preferred creation more of a cooperative spirit in attaining the ends of the campaign, in discussing the matter later. They believed citizens generally would be receptive to helpful suggestions on how, what, when and where to plant; and other ideas and instructions, and it was believed the club could better serve in assisting with dissemination of such information than by offering prizes in a contest.

"Service, yes; exploitation, no," was the advice given Heppner's service club by Clifford Trout, Christian minister in the city from Waitsburg, in a short inspirational talk. The speaker gave the quoted words as the proper success formula for any business or profession.

The degree of success of any business or professional man depends upon his willingness and ability to serve. Every man's talents should be applied to service to his fellow man in his chosen field, Trout said, and let no man be ashamed of his work who is so using his talents. The business or profession which exploits will soon be found out, and the competitor who truly serves will endure in public respect and patronage.

Mr. Trout attended the club meeting with Alvin Kleinfeldt, local Church of Christ pastor who introduced the speaker as a school classmate and long-time friend holding pre-Easter evangelistic meetings at the local church.

Early Day Resident Passes at Son's Home

Funeral services are being held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from Phelps Funeral home for Maryetta Rasmus Johnson, who died Tuesday at the home of her son, J. O. Rasmus, in this city following a prolonged illness. Alvin Kleinfeldt, Christian minister, is officiating at the services, and interment will be in Masonic cemetery.

The death of Mrs. Johnson marks the passing of another early-day resident of this city. Born at Silverton, Oregon, October 6, 1860, the daughter of Elias and Lucia (Black) Cox, Maryetta Cox was married to John Willard Rasmus in Marion county, October 7, 1876, and the family came to Heppner in October, 1887, by wagon and team. The family home was first made in a house on the property now occupied by the C. W. McNamer residence. Mr. Rasmus was the city's first dentist, having offices in the then Dr. Fox building. Mrs. Rasmus herself became one of the city's first dress-makers and florists, and as the latter assisted in early development of home landscaping in the city. A lover of flowers, she grew many beautiful specimens in her own yard. She also assisted much in nursing at a time when this art was performed mostly as a neighborly act. To her union with Mr. Rasmus, five children were born, who were Bertie, deceased; Frank and Orville, both of this city; a twin sister of Orville who died in infancy, and Sunday is the closing day of the Revival Campaign led by Brother and Sister Trout. The morning sermon topic will be "The Life of Wisdom." There will be a basket dinner at noon in the church dining room. Let us make this a great fellowship gathering in honor of our evangelists. The evening sermon topic is "Bad Bargains." The church will be filled for this service.

Union Holy Week Services Cancelled

Because of the shortness of time which the combined choirs have had to prepare the Easter cantata, it was thought best to leave the week open for the cantata rehearsal and not to have the pre-Easter week services which had been tentatively announced.

METHODIST CHURCH

REV. R. C. YOUNG, Pastor

There will be a special observance of Palm Sunday in the morning worship service. In sermon and special music the significance of the day will be emphasized.

There will be no evening service in the Methodist church out of regard for the special meetings in the Christian church.

Lucia who died Jan. 3, 1919. Mr. Rasmus passed away April 6, 1917. Mrs. Rasmus was married to Wm. Johnson, Jr., of Portland at Vancouver, Wash., July 14, 1927, and resided at Portland until shortly before Mr. Johnson's death a few months ago. For the last few months Mrs. Johnson had been at the home of her son here.

survived by two sisters both of whom are confined by illness at Walla Walla, a brother and several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Johnson's father was a minister of the Christian church, in which she had held membership since 9 years of age. She was also a member of the Rebekahs.

Mrs. Whetstone Wife Of Two 'Boys in Blue'

After years of suffering, death released Mrs. N. S. Whetstone. She passed away peacefully at her home at 7 K street on Friday morning at 10:40 o'clock.

Funeral services were held from the Christian church of which she had been a life-long member, on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A choir of Mrs. A. L. Kleinfeldt, Mrs. Raymond Ferguson, Frank and Jesse Turner sang "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand" and "Shall We Gather at the River," the songs that were sung when she was baptized, and "No Disappointments in Heaven." Alvin Kleinfeldt, minister, officiated. Pallbearers were her grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Robinson, Ilo Merrill, Mrs. Percy Bleakman, Archie and Adrain Becholdt. She was laid to rest between the bodies of her two husbands in the Masonic cemetery. Phelps Funeral Home was in charge.

Susan Emma, daughter of L. D. and Sarah (Kelly) Clemens, was born near West Walworth, Wayne county, N. Y., on August 26, 1849. At the age of two years she went to live with her uncle and aunt, who were childless, and where she was loved and petted.

The family moved to Illinois where, on Dec. 22, 1867, she was married to Justus L. Simpson, a wearer of the blue in the late Civil war. Five children were born to them: Jennie, now the wife of W. W. Becholdt of Boardman; Cora Mae, now the wife of E. J. Merrill of Hardman, Romeo, who died in infancy; Ray of Monon, Ind., and Sherril of Medaryville, Indiana. Also resulting from the union were eleven grandchildren and ten great grandchildren.

Mr. Simpson died July 2, 1917. On September 2, 1920, Mrs. Simpson was again united in marriage, to Newton S. Whetstone, an old friend and comrade of Mr. Simpson in the war. Mr. Whetstone passed away Sept. 24, 1925. Mrs. Whetstone's last conscious thoughts were used to urge her loved ones to become Christians.
