Calendar of Events
 April 29—May Day Festival and Grade School Track Meet.
 May 4—High school tennis match at Hermiston.
 May 6—Public Speaking Plays and Band Concert.
 —H.H.S.—

May Festival Tomorrow
 Tomorrow, Friday, the elementary and high school students of Morrow county will gather in Heppner for the fifth annual music festival and track meet.

The music festival and track meet are of great value to both students and teachers. Students become acquainted with other children throughout the county, and teachers become acquainted with methods used by others, and thus help themselves and the children.

The May Day event begins at nine o'clock in the morning with rehearsals. At 1:30 the track meet commences, and at 7:30 the music festival is scheduled to start. Juanita Leathers Carmichael is chairman of the music festival committee, Helen Ralph of Ione is director, and Mary Alice Reed of Lexington is to be accompanist.

Fifth Grade News
 During Open House we had a "Guest Book" which 209 guests signed.

Raymond French returned after having the chickenpox.

We are leaving our Open House exhibits up for the people of the spring festival to see.

Years Ago
 Ten Years Ago . . . The Heppner high school baseball team added another victory to their league standing by beating Ione 5 to 1 on the local field. The winning of this game will practically make the championship a sure thing for Heppner. . . . The new ediphone was put into use for the first time since its addition to the superintendent's office. . . . An enthusiastic ticket selling campaign was launched to aid in putting over the coming operetta, "Tulip Time."

Five Years Ago . . . With the exception of a flat tire, a barrage of mosquitoes, and three teachers, the seniors report a very enjoyable weiner roast at the artesian well. Morrow county track and field meet is to be held here Monday with 300 contestants entering. Morrow county spelling contest is to be held at the same time.

One Year Ago . . . The school band returns from Corvallis with undisputed first honors. . . . For the purpose of raising funds for the purchasing of athletic letters, the members of the "H" club will compete with Hermiston in a fistic meet at the local gymnasium this Friday.
 —H.H.S.—

Banquet Given to Band
 Last Friday a very enjoyable dinner was given by the mothers to the band members and their parents. Following the dinner Mr. Blankenship was asked to act as an informal toastmaster for an impromptu program. Interesting versions of the bands' winning the contest were given by Judge Johnson, Spencer Crawford, Harry Tamblin, Mark Merrill and Joe Aiken. This was a fitting climax to a successful band year.

Open House Successful
 The annual open house program was attended by a full house last Friday. The grade room exhibits were apparently much enjoyed by all with the home economics exhibit stealing the show for the high school. The whole evening was quite a success due to the interest and cooperation of the parents, the students and the teachers.

Did You Know That—
 The scientist defines soap as the "metallic salt of a fatty acid"?
 Life cycles of flies vary with different species?
 Celery is bleached by banking the earth around the stalks?
 Rayon thread can be woven into practically any kind of fabrics?
 A grown man in good health cannot survive the lack of food for more than forty days?

Students' Opinion of Girls Who Wear Lipstick—
 Dick W.—"They look better without it."
 Clayton W.—"Okay, if it's kiss-proof, and they are so ugly they have to use it."
 Douglas D.—"I don't."
 Wilbur W.—"Not by the gallon."
 Vernon K.—"When you look at a girl, you should look for true beauty and not a bunch of dope smeared on her face."
 Bob S.—"Too much makes one form the opinion of boisterousness."
 Harry O.—"Okay, if it isn't plastered on too thick."
 John C.—"Okay, if not over done."

Gossip
 It seems that Van couldn't keep his women entertained and the baseball score accurate at Hermiston Friday.
 It seems that Irena McFerrin and our baseball catcher have been hitting it off pretty good lately.
 Dean Spinkel must have had a good time Saturday night. He didn't get home until Sunday morning.
 Paul McCarty has taken up spending his week ends in the country.
 It is noticed that B. Blake has taken to wearing zippers.
 The "pajama top" experiment seems to have developed into a fad, as the boys can't get up in time for school.
 Harold Armstrong tries very hard, but Cora always turns her back.
 Lloyd Burkenbine stated that he was married but later denied being married. Which are we to believe?
 Bill seems to have forgiven Laura as to her escapade in Eugene.
 Out of ten pretty girls, John has picked the red-head. It Dub mad!
 Bill Barratt has a habit of dropping hot notes around school, and they are not the kind that come out from his horn, either.

Humor
 —H.H.S.—
 "Take your typewriter with you on your vacation," says an ad. It gave me a shock till I remembered they call them stenographers or secretaries these days.
 Keeping Junior in college so he won't take dad's job away from him seems like a very unnecessary precaution.
 Bob: "Listen, John, if you would just take your girl-friend into your confidence and tell her everything, you'd get some place."
 John: "I know it—I'd get to the place they take you in an ambulance."
 Floyd: I see they have barred camels from the streets of Jerusalem because of the hazard of traffic."
 Vernon: "Well, maybe they know their business, but over here we could use some traffic that could go seven days without a drink."
 Alan: "What, my suit is not ready? You said you'd finish it if you worked all night."
 Laborer: "Very true, sir, but I didn't work all night."
 Mrs. Smith: "Your husband is a manufacturer. Has he had any trouble with sit-down strikes?"
 Mrs. Brown: "None whatever—he runs a tack factory."

DON DRAKE NAMED
 Don Drake was one of four new appointees to the O. S. C. Barometer editorial board, named this week by Edward Burchell of Lexington, editor. Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Drake of this city and a graduate of Heppner high school. He has been active with work on the Barometer the last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hams were business visitors in the city Monday from the farm near Hardman.

Summer Session At Oregon State Has 200 Courses

Students attending the main summer session at Oregon State college from June 20 to July 29 this year will find some 200 courses offered in 31 different departments, according to the preliminary announcement issued by Dean M. Ellwood Smith, director. A second session offered this year from August 1 to September 2 will offer 57 courses in nine departments.

Characterizing the program this year as the strongest and most varied since the depression, Dean Smith emphasizes the fact that students in education and certain courses in science can now obtain 18 credits, or a full term's work, during the summer. Special needs created by new requirements for teachers are provided for in courses in Oregon law school and the Oregon system of education, Oregon history, and health education, and an amplification of courses in secretarial sciences and allied subjects will serve teachers in this field hitherto forced to seek advanced professional summer training outside the state, Dean Smith says.

Many nationally-known educators will be on the list of visiting staff members this year, and in addition Dean Smith points out that a number of prominent OSC faculty members, who have been engaged in out-of-state summer session for the past several years, will be retained this summer.

Living quarters for women students this year will be in Snell hall, one of the women's dormitories, and assistance will be given men students in finding suitable accommodations near the campus.

The O. S. C. summer session will, as usual, live up to its slogan, "Education in a Vacation Setting," by providing numerous organized hikes, trips to the nearby beaches and other excursions, and assisting with arrangements for longer trips, with Ralph O. Coleman, director of recreational activities, in charge.

The summer session catalog will be off the press about May 1 and ready for distribution, Dean Smith says.

Parent Understanding Best for Child Health

Parents may give their children all of the physical comforts, providing a physical environment which knows no lack, but if they do not first establish a relationship with them of mutual confidence, love and respect, all of the physical environment and training is as nothing, says Mrs. Maud Morse, OSC extension specialist in child development and parent education, in connection with observance of Child Health Day, proclaimed by President Roosevelt for May 1.

"Happy and harmonious relationships between members of the family come not only from knowledge and application of knowledge of child development, but also from feeling and a sympathetic understanding that makes the application of knowledge and information more worthwhile and effective," Mrs. Morse says.

Information as to child feeding, child clothing, and child health are necessary and important, Mrs. Morse points out, but as such, they are not the goal toward which parent education leaders are striving. What parents really need, she says, is information that will prepare them to meet their problems when they arise, to give them confidence in their ability, to give them a feeling of balance and poise to meet the needs and demands of their children.

MISS HOFSTETTER HONORED

Friends of Miss Otillia Hofstetter will be interested to learn that she was recently elected to membership in Sigma Lambda, national high school honorary society. Selection into this society is based on scholarship, leadership, service and character. She was one of seven seniors chosen from the graduating class of approximately 500. Miss Hofstetter will be graduated from Salem high school in June and will then join her mother who is Malheur county librarian. Otillia is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Devin.
