Rev. W. W. Head made Heppner a call Saturday while in the county to conduct baccalaureate services at Lexington and Ione on Sunday, from his home at Ilwaco, Wash. Mr. Head formerly resided at Ione where he was pastor and editor of the Ione paper for several years. He preached his fourteenth consecutive baccalaureate to graduates of the Ione high school on this visit, and looked forward to addressing two more classes so that he might have the distinction of addressing every graduating class for one complete generation of the school.

J. H. Parker of Birmingham, Ala., is visiting at the home of his half-brother, Frank S. Parker, having been met by the latter at Pendleton Tuesday on his arrival from the southland. The visiting Mr. Parker has disposed of his property in Alabama and may decide to stay in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hayes arrived yesterday from their home at Corvallis for a two-weeks' visit with friends and relatives in Morrow county. Mr. Hayes is employed in a grocery store, and Mrs. Hayes holds a position with Oregon State college in the college town.

M. R. Morgan and son, Milton, Jr., were visitors in town yesterday from Ione. Early wheat is starting into the head in the fields about Ione and yesterday's cool damp weather was believed to be a sample of what is needed to make the heads fill good.

All members of the Episcopal Auxiliary who wish to attend the meeting at the Percy Hughes ranch please meet at the Parish house promptly at 2 p. m., Thursday, May 26. Cars will be available.—Ruth McMurdo, President.

Victor Rietmann was in town Monday from the north Ione farm, calling at the county agent's office. He inspected the showing of bulbous blue grass at the Wightman farm and was interested in it.

Mrs. Otto Metschan and Miss Juanita Matlock, sisters and early-day Heppner residents, were guests Saturday and Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Patterson, coming up from their homes at Portland.

Dr. A. D. McMurdo and P. W. Mahoney attended the invitational trapshoot at La Grande Sunday and hung up the good scores of 96 and 98 respectively in the 100-target, 16-yard event.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buschke and family were visiting Morrow county relatives and friends the end of the week from their farm near Elgin. Mr. Buschke reported prospects very favorable for his new wheat crop.

Tom Boylen, Jr., was contacting local wool men here again the first of the week, from his ranching operations on Butter creek, making a bid for the purchase of their clips.

Mrs. Elsie Smith, sister of Mrs. Glen Hayes, is reported to be quite ill at a hospital in The Dalles. Mrs. Hayes expected to go to The Dalles tomorrow to see her.

Henry Robertson was out to the ball game Sunday afternoon, enjoying getting out for the first time in two months, having been confined at home by illness.

J. W. Stevens was in town Monday from the Hardman section. He was getting information from the county agent on control of white top.

J. O. Kincaid was a caller at the county agent's office Monday from the farm in the Ione section, checking up on his new AAA compliance.

Wm. Instone was in town Monday from the ranch near Lena. He expected to start shearing his sheep Tuesday at the Kilkenny ranch.

Dr. J. P. Stewart, Eye-Sight Specialist of Pendleton, will be at the HEPNER HOTEL on WEDNESDAY, MAY 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Devin and children were visiting relatives and friends here Sunday from their home at Condon.
