Mack Smith Gave Name to Channel

"Mack" Smith, 62, life-long resident of this section who as caretaker of the Ditch creek-Willow creek diversion channel gave his name to this project by virtue of recent resolution of the county court, died at his home in this city last Saturday. Mr. Smith lost a fight of several months duration against a malignant illness in the course of which he underwent a major operation in The Dalles two months ago. Funeral services were conducted from the Christian church Monday afternoon in charge of Phelps Funeral home, with Rev. R. C. Young officiating. Many relatives and friends joined in paying final respects and the many flowers added to the tribute of affection.

Matthew Clay Smith, always familiarly known as "Mack," was born to pioneer parents at Echo, Sept. 26, 1875. His parents having crossed the plains with early day pioneers were among the early settlers at Echo. Coming to Heppner early in life, he wedded Miss Letha Devin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Devin, in this city, December 31, 1902. He worked with stock for a number of years and at one time was city marshal for three years. For several years he held the position of straw boss with county road crews and always held the friendship of all with whom he came in contact. He was in charge of construction work on the Ditch creek-Willow creek diversion channel from the beginning, and after completion was in charge as maintenance man until his illness forced retirement. His exceptional interest and capable work on this project inspired the county court to cause the ditch to be known by his name.

Besides the widow, Mr. Smith is survived by a son, Austin I. Smith, of Portland; daughter, Mrs. James L. Leach of Lexington; one grandchild, and the following brothers and sisters: Tom of Echo, Ivan of California, Martin of Monse, Wash., Mrs. Lewis Scholl of Wasco, Mrs. Scott Churchill of Shell, Mrs. Otto Burson of Aumsville, Mrs. Ethel Powell of Eugene.

Among out-of-town relatives attending the funeral were Tom Smith of Echo, Mrs. Lewis Scholl of Wasco, Mr. and Mrs. Austin I. Smith of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Leach of Lexington, and all of Mrs. Smith's family except a sister, Mrs. V'ella Walton of Walla Walla, who had visited at the Smith home last week.

Bailey-Parsons Nuptials Tied

A beautiful wedding ceremony was performed at the Lucas Place at 10 o'clock Sunday morning when Rev. R. Carl Young united in marriage Miss Doris Bailey and Mr. Jack Parsons in the presence of relatives and invited friends. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Bailey of this city and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parsons of Elgin.

The bride wore blue chiffon frock with plaited swing skirt and corsage of gardenias. Miss Maxine McCurdy, maid of honor, wore rose colored print and corsage of pink rosebuds and blue delphinium. Howard Bryant was best man.

Mrs. Clarence C. Carmichael played the wedding march, and Miss Kathryn Parker sang "Because" preceding the ceremony.

At the reception following the ceremony the two grandmothers of the bridegroom, Mrs. A. H. Parsons of Elgin and Mrs. Everett Breshears of Independence, poured. A three-tier wedding cake, white tapers and roses adorned the bride's table.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Parsons, parents of the bridegroom Mrs. A. H. Parsons, his grandmother; Mrs. Harold Hug, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, all of Elgin, and Mrs. Everett Breshears, bridegroom's grandmother, of Independence.

Mr. Parsons now has a travelling position and their location following the honeymoon had not yet been definitely decided.

Additional jobs for young men in the Civilian Conservation Corps will be available early in July, it has been announced by the Morrow county relief committee which is the CCC selecting agency for this county.

Mrs. Ridings Enjoys Kindergarten Work In New York Church

Reflecting the cosmopolitan nature of New York is the kindergarten class taught by Mrs. Gordon Ridings, nee Marjorie Clark, at Riverside Memorial church there last year. Mrs. Ridings has just completed her year of teaching work there and is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Clark, while Mr. Ridings who taught in Columbia university junior college service at the same time, went on to the home of his parents at Eugene.

Mrs. Ridings said her smartest pupil was a Chinese boy while she had one negro pupil. Scandinavians, Italians, Irish and other nationalities were included along with a liberal number of real Americans. She said she found the work extremely interesting, being impressed with the reaction of parents to world happenings.

New York evidenced a strong influence by the boycott on Japanese made goods, with the wearing of cotton clothing extremely popular among all classes. Well-to-do ladies did not hesitate to don cotton stockings, she said. Some interest in cotton was lost, however, when word spread that many of the cotton articles were manufactured in Japan.

Specialist Gives Hints on Choice Of New Curtains

New curtains will do the same things for a room that a newly-leaved tree does for the garden, or a new dress for one's personality, says Miss Joan Patterson, extension specialist in home furnishings at Oregon State college. They can make an individual seem to be living in an entirely different environment, she feels.

Curtains can be simple or elaborate, according to the taste of the homemaker, but it is wise to remember that curtains have special duties to perform, Miss Patterson says. They soften the structural lines of the window, soften otherwise glaring light, and help to tie together all the colors and patterns in the room.

In addition to these important reasons for their existence, curtains also serve as a part of the background along with the walls, to set off the furnishings rather than fighting with them for attention in the room, says Miss Patterson. If the upholstered furniture and the rugs are of figured designs, it is unwise to have figured draperies, elaborate net curtains and flowery wallpaper, she believes. Plain, simple backgrounds will set off the figures in the furniture.

Among curtain materials that Miss Patterson recommends for this purpose, because they will wear well, wash well and remain good looking for several years, are plain scrim, marquisette, theatrical gauze, rayon net, simple cotton nets and voile. It is wise to select good quality materials that will hold up under the testing strain of jerking the fabric and sliding a finger nail across the weave.

Color fastness is important too, and it is well to select curtains of neutral tones such as white, cream or ecru, because they hold up well against the light, she says. Colored curtains, though pretty and somewhat of a fad at the time they are bought, do not have the lifetime wearing quality that the homemaker plans for a pair of curtains, and in the end are a poor investment, she believes. It is better to express the desire for color in the wallpaper and other furnishings of the room, she feels, and points out that the house looks better from the exterior too if all the windows, on the front of the house at least, display curtains of the same color.

U.-O. Student Party Here on Field Tour

A University of Oregon student archaeological reconnaissance party passed through Heppner yesterday on the way to the south Hardman district to map out such evidences of prehistoric relics as may exist there. The party had been working at the mouths of the John Day and Deschutes rivers and is continuing the survey in the upper John Day country. Arrangements were made through Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers, county school superintendent, and F. F. Wehmeyer, local forest ranger, to have Indian pictographs on Rock creek and the "Pat Shea mine" viewed.

This party is doing no recovery work. They are simply mapping out sites for future development. Those visiting here included Alex Krieger, in charge; Fred Voget, Jerry Lance, Robin Drews, Carl Huffaker, Dale Shuey. They are working under direction of Prof. L. S.
