Birthday Club Meets With Mrs. Hams

By OPAL HASTINGS
The Birthday club met on Tuesday, June 14, at the home ranch of Mrs. Jim Hams. A number of ladies from Reed's mill were present. A delicious lunch was served, consisting of ice cream, angel food cake, chicken sandwiches and punch. The next party will be for Mrs. B. H. Bleakman on June 21st.

Scott Brown from Condon was in town Wednesday. He and Jim Hams have been cutting and hauling poles on Bear creek.

Mrs. Katherine McIntyre and daughters were here Saturday. They reported a fine rain out their way, in fact they had to use chains to get home.

Ralph Craber is visiting at the home of Edwin Craber near Hardman.

The high school group who are at summer camp at Cove report grand times in spite of cold and rainy conditions. Rita Robinson, Frances Inskip, Vern McDaniel and Mildred and Irl Clary put on a one-act play Tuesday evening. On Wednesday Irl was in a play put on by another group. Every day there is swimming and all of our young people are taking lessons. In fact they are in on all that is going on and are enjoying every moment.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Buschke and family were in town Saturday and again Sunday from Long prairie. Mr. Buschke went to Heppner. He reported rain in all parts of this district and snow at several points.

Mrs. Owen Leathers, Owen, Jr., Mrs. Carey Hastings and Elwood Hastings were in Heppner Thursday.

Fan Miller, Ed McDaniel, Irl Clary, Forest Adams, Roy Robinson, Owen Leathers and Donald Robinson were in Heppner for court last week.

The grade school held its annual school meeting Monday with a very good attendance. Harlan Adams was elected to serve three years and Elsa M. Leathers was re-elected to serve one year.

Mrs. Sam McDaniel, Jr., and daughter Maxine visited several days last week at the home of Mrs. Ada Cannon.

Mrs. Mary Scott was visiting in town, coming from Heppner with Mr. and Mrs. Victor Johnson. Mrs. Scott lives in Portland and expects to return Monday to that city.

Mrs. McCutcheon and Miss Smith were in Hardman Tuesday for a few minutes. They were on their way to Ontario.

Mrs. Ada Cannon and children motored to The Dalles and Hood River where they picked cherries and strawberries for their own use.

Kinnard McDaniel visited in town Sunday.

Many of those working on farms had to lay off because of the continued rain and are back home. Among them are Leon Chapin, Marvin Brannon and Guy Chapin.

Mrs. Ethel McDaniel and children, Vera and Cecil, and Miss Muri Farnes returned Saturday from a very pleasant week at Union. Baker, Enterprise, La Grande and other places. Several days were spent with Mrs. McDaniel's sister, Mrs. Harlan Weeks at Enterprise. As they returned they visited camp at Cove and had tea and a very happy visit with the Hardman young people. Mrs. Anson Rugg of Rhea creek went up and back with them and during the week visited her folks at Wallowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyndal Robison had dinner at the Lawrence Redding home Sunday.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lutkins were in Hardman from their mountain home, for a little shopping and visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Duff McKittrick and son moved back to town this week from Arbuckle mountain where they have been building fence. The boys are going to cut logs for Bill Greener for a while.

Miss Ilo Merrill went to Eugene Saturday to enroll in summer school. She will return in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burnside, Marjorie Swift and Ray Thomas went to Dillon, Mont., to see Mrs. Burnside's and Mrs. Swift's sister, Mrs. Bert Ward. They expect to stay a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Batty are adding another room to their living quarters at the store.

Charlotte Cannon is visiting at the home of Mrs. Ethel McDaniel.

John Allen came home from Toppenish, Wash., where he has been working. He was planning on leaving for Bear valley Tuesday.

Miss Marjorie Thomas of Portland was visiting the L. C. Batty home last Wednesday.

Harlan Adams and Buster Bleakman were in Heppner Wednesday.

ARE WE GOVERNED TOO MUCH?

The other day a square-jawed old farmer came in with a complaint. He said: "I have lived a long time in Kansas and never before have I seen so many inspectors running about investigating so many different kind of things and butting into everybody's private business as are infesting the country now."

There is a reason in the old man's complaint. One of the greatest curses of the world is too much and too expensive government. As has always been the case the constant tendency of those in control of government is to multiply their authority and powers.

Jefferson was right, if he said what he was accredited with saying, "That government is best which governs least."

The primary and almost the sole legitimate function of government is to maintain order, to see that every citizen, who behaves himself, is protected in his rights of person and property. That means that the weak shall not be abused by the strong; and, so far as is humanly possible, the shrewd and unscrupulous shall not despoil the simple-minded and the ignorant. In short, the government is, or ought to be, a supreme policeman acting with perfect impartiality, strong and incorruptible. Protected by this all pervading and altogether just and impartial police power, the citizen should have the opportunity to work out his own destiny. That kind of an ideal government, so far as we can learn from history, has never existed and perhaps never will, but certainly it is an ideal to be wished for.

In the United States the average producer is carrying on his back one-eighth of an office holder who is in some form or another directing his movements. In other words, abstracting his salary from the pockets of this human beast of burden on whose back he is riding.—Greenleaf, Kan., Sentinel.

Dr. Gilfillan to Head OSC School of Science

Oregon State College—Dr. F. A. Gilfillan, at present head of a department in the school of pharmacy, will become acting dean of the school of science July 1, as a result of a shift made by the state board of higher education at the request of Dr. E. L. Packard, retiring dean.

Dr. Packard asked to be relieved of his administrative duties in connection with the school of science in order to devote more time to his other positions. He retains the rank of dean and director of the general research division of the state system. He also will continue as director of the Institute of Marine Biology at Coos Head, which is administered through the school of science, and will remain head of the department of geology and professor of paleontology.

Dr. Gilfillan is a graduate of Oregon State college and Yale university, with more than 20 years of teaching experience in Oregon and Florida. He served for many years as western regional secretary for the national scholastic honor society of Phi Kappa Phi.

Mumford New Head Farm Management

Oregon State College—Appointment of D. C. Mumford as new head of the farm management department at OSC, succeeding the late A. S. Burrier, will bring to the staff a man already well known to many Oregon farmers through his connection with the AAA and other government programs, says Wm. A. Schoenfeldt, dean and director of agriculture.

Mumford was for several years an assistant to George E. Farrell, director of the western region of the AAA. In that capacity he spent considerable time in Oregon, where he became familiar with the educational research and service program of the college in the field of agriculture. He is the son of Dean H. W. Mumford, for many years head of the agricultural school at the University of Illinois.
