Birthday Club At Knighten Home

By OPAL HASTINGS

Mrs. Neal Knighten was hostess to the Birthday club at her home on July 7. There was a good attendance in spite of the fact that so many of the members are in the mountains with their husbands. Mrs. Knighten received a big assortment of lovely gifts. As soon as Mrs. Knighten's gifts had been opened those present adjourned to the dining room where there was a whole table full of gifts as a surprise shower for Mrs. Marvin Brannon who was recently married. Mrs. Knighten served delicious chicken salad, potato chips, cake, iced tea and punch. Mrs. Knighten's mother, Mrs. Roy Neill of Pine City, was present as were Miss Erma Scott and Billy Scott of Lexington, and Miss Clarice Moore of Heppner, nieces and nephew of Mrs. Knighten. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Robinson and Doris were in Heppner Thursday.

The high school board met Saturday evening. The old outdoor toilets were sold to the highest bidder, Carey Hastings and Lewis Batty buying them. Floyd N. Adams was retained as clerk.

Miss Alene Inskeep came home Sunday from the Jones ranch where she had been visiting. Miss Nona Inskeep returned for a short time.

Henry Graham who has been visiting at the A. D. Inskeep home has gone to work during haying at the Kincaid ranch.

Billy Scott is visiting Mrs. Neal Knighten, his aunt, this week. He came over with Mrs. Neill to Mrs. Knighten's birthday party.

Visitors at Heppner last week were Delsie Bleakman and Murl Farrans, Ethel Adams, Delsie Chapel, Marie Clary, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burnside, Louis Batty, Ethel Knighten and Mrs. Marvin Brannon, Ethel McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Duffrin McKittrick and Harlan Adams.

Maude and Richard Robinson returned to Hardman for a few days from Portland where they both have work. They expect to return to Portland Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Leathers and son Junior spent two days on Eight Mile visiting at the home of Victor Lovgren.

Mrs. Irene Horton and two sons of Delano, Cal., returned to their home Wednesday after being called to Oregon by the death of her mother, Hannah Marie Lovgren.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Adams and family and Mr. and Mrs. Duff McKittrick and so spent the Fourth at the Jim Burnside ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McDaniel, Sr., went to their mountain home in Burton Valley to spend a few days. Poor health has kept them from going for several summers.

Eddie McDaniel and Fan Miller went to Boardman and Hermiston Friday to get a load of apricots.

Carey Hastings returned Friday from near Browning, Mont., where he has been the past month shearing sheep. He reports a very wet season. He was in that county when they had the floods and when the train was wrecked near Billings. Mrs. Hastings met him in Heppner Friday evening.

Fred Cox of Long Creek was visiting in Hardman Saturday.

Jim Stevens who has been working for Ray Wright had to consult a doctor for a terrible carbuncle on his neck. He is staying at the home of Ethel McDaniel.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fries from Opal ranger station were in Hardman Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey Hastings spent Sunday at Tamarack with Mr. and Mrs. Max Buschke.

Donald and Creston Robinson were in town Sunday. They said their dad had just returned from Portland where he had taken a car load of cattle. He hit the market just right as prices had advanced 25c per hundred.

Jim Hams and Joe Batty disposed of their lambs last week. It was reported they received 6c.

Oscel Inskeep was in town Sunday for a short time.

Elma Harshman went to work in harvest down by Lexington. She left Sunday.

Everett Hadley and Zoe Fisk and husband came to Hardman Sunday

Coleridge says in The Ancient Mariner:

Oh sweeter than the marriage feast,
'Tis sweeter far to me,
To walk together to the kirk,
With goodly company.
To walk together to the kirk,
And altogether pray,
While each to the great Father bands
—Old men, and babes and loving friends,
And youths and maidens gay.

Cards on Infant Care and Feeding Prepared at OSC

A series of six cards, giving complete directions for care and feeding of infants, and arranged to be hung up for daily reference, has just been prepared for distribution by the home economics extension office at Oregon State college. Much of the material included has been adapted from recommendations of the U. S. bureau of home economics, and put in convenient form for the use of young mothers by Miss Lucy Case, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at OSC.

Emphasis is placed on the fact that these cards are intended only as guides, as all babies are not alike and a mother is wise to consult a competent physician as to the particular feeding needs of her own child.

The cards begin with the first four months and give detailed daily schedules for the complete care of the baby during each period up to two years of age. The schedules are printed on one side of the cards and on the other suggestions and pointers on training the baby, teaching him to take solid foods, weaning him, and developing desirable habits of health and character.

Some of the points most important to the baby's welfare, it is pointed out, are to give him protective foods, to feed him at regular hours, to give new foods in very small amounts at first, and to give him boiled water to drink. It is also essential that his sleep and exercise be regular, and that he sleeps in a separate bed.

The card prepared for the period from one year to 15 months suggests that the baby is now entering childhood, and parents must help him to become more and more independent. He may now learn to hold his cup and spoon, to play by himself, and the average child will learn to walk. It is best to furnish his room simply so that he may touch and investigate anything within reach. It is important to be consistent in what he is allowed to handle or do, so that there will be no confusion in his mind as to what he may or may not do.

These cards may be obtained free on request at any county extension office or direct from the college at Corvallis.

Labor Survey to Assist Agriculture

The state planning board report, "Agricultural Labor Demands," is proving to be of great value to school boards and others concerned with opening and closing of educational institutions, according to reports reaching the board's office, it is stated by V. B. Stanberry, executive secretary and consultant.

Since complete details of all kinds of labor needed for Oregon, by sections of the state, are included in the report, officials can determine whether or not boys and girls of school age who are old enough to work in harvest or at spring planting are needed in the fields. The report also gives seasonal demands, types of labor needed, and other data.

The state employment service and unemployment commission are also finding the data in the report of great value, it is declared. By studying it they are able to direct transient workers and others to areas where employment is available, and to avoid congestion of men and women where little work is available.

The study was prepared by H. H. White, in cooperation with the board's staff and WPA project. It is the second of a series of reports on employment and migration in Oregon. It has also won wide recognition nationally for its thoroughness, and for the technique used in preparing it.
