Clary Children
Cast in Radio Play

By OPAL HASTINGS

Mildred and Irl Clary, who have been visiting in Portland for some time, tried out on July 2 for parts in the radio play, "Cinderella," and both were lucky to get parts as there are only two boys and seven girls in the cast. Irl is to be the Lord Chamberlain and Mildred the fairy godmother. The play will be given on July 29 over KEX. Both Mildred and Irl are having great times. They spent the Fourth at Molalla and report a good time.

Irl Clary, who has been at the veterans' hospital in Walla Walla has returned, although his condition is no better. He is now under the care of a Heppner physician and may return to the hospital.

Mrs. Roy Robinson visited briefly in Hardman on Sunday of last week.

Miss Vera McDaniel and Cecil are visiting at the Kinnard McDaniel home in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Knighten and Mr. and Mrs. Lew Knighten were attending to business and shopping in Heppner Thursday of last week.

On Saturday a call came for men to fight fire near Tupper. A. D. Inskeep, Carey Hastings and Harlan Adams were some of those responding.

Miss Vern McDaniel is spending the week visiting Miss Rita Robinson. The two girls are cooking at the lower ranch while the hay is being put up there.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McDaniel, Jr., are cooking at the mill. Mrs. McFerrin had to quit because of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McDaniel were enjoying their stay at their old home in the mountains where Mrs. McDaniel has been unable to live for a number of years, but had to return suddenly Monday because Mr. McDaniel was very ill.

Duff McKittrick is working in the harvest fields at the Myles Martin ranch.

Miss Nona Inskeep is visiting at the Jones ranch where her brother Osel works.

Ed McDaniel and his grandson, Glenn Merritt, have been cutting wood in the mountains and came in for a little rest and also to stock up on "eats."

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Leathers and Junior went to their lookout post Friday, and likely will not be back until school opens in the fall. On Sunday James Stevens left for his station, although he has been under the doctor's care for several weeks because of a very bad carbuncle.

Miss Rose Cunningham and her little brother Bobby visited during the week at the James Brannon home. About the middle of the week Bobby became quite ill and they took him to Heppner so his mother could care for him.

Miss Dolly Farrens and Roland Farrens visited friends in Hardman Sunday. Roland is making plans for his second year at the junior college in La Gande, from which he plans to go to one of the smaller colleges for his other two years. He is secretary-treasurer of his honorary fraternity for next year and has made quite a record in scholarship.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Steers and sons Gus and Elmer were in Hardman from their mountain home Sunday.

King Returns to OSC as White Takes SCS Job

Arthur King, soils specialist in the Oregon State college extension service, will be able to return to full time work in that capacity as a result of the recently announced appointment of Solon T. White, present director of the state department of agriculture, as acting state coordinator of the soil conservation service in Oregon. King has served in the dual capacity following the resignation about a year ago of Ed Hill from this position.

White is a native of Oregon, and a graduate of Oregon State college, with 13 years of agricultural service in this state. He was for eight years county agent in Yamhill county, and for the past three years has been state director of agriculture in Salem. In his new position, White will coordinate the field activities of the soil conservation service and other agricultural agencies.

Wm. A. Schoenfeld, dean of agriculture at OSC has endorsed the appointment as a most fortunate one in view of White's "long experience, organizing ability and dynamic character." White has served on the state coordinating committee several years.

20 Counties to Hold Homemaker
Summer Outing

Women of 20 Oregon counties will have an opportunity this year to attend the annual homemakers' vacation camps to be held in eight different locations throughout the state, according to the schedule just issued by Mrs. Azalea Sager, state leader of home economics extension at Oregon State college.

In addition, Mrs. Sager's staff is taking charge of six of the 4-H club camps to be conducted this year in Oregon, principally for the benefit of those clubbers who were unable to attend the annual club summer school at Corvallis in June.

Hundreds of women are enrolling for the homemakers camps, according to home demonstration agents and county agents who are taking the registrations. The camps are, as usual, designed to offer women who are kept busy throughout the rest of the year with families and household tasks, a few days of rest and recreation, with opportunities for new interests, new friendships and new inspiration. The camps are completely staffed with paid helpers, so that the women have no task but to make up their own cots, yet costs are kept to the minimum and can be paid partly in farm produce. The women's camps cost an average of $1 a day per person and the club camps slightly less.

The first homemakers' camp this year will be the Josephine county camp at Oak Flats, July 24 to 27. This will be followed by a camp at Long Bow for women of Benton, Linn, Yamhill and Marion counties, July 27 to 31; the Klamath-Jackson camp at Lake of the Woods, July 31 to August 6; the Lane, Coos, Curry and Douglas county camp, with women from Polk and Lincoln counties participating, at Lake Clewax, August 2 to 7; the Waco-Hood River camp, with a few women also from Columbia county, at Lost Lake, August 3 to 7; Clackamas and Columbia counties at Camp Onhalee August 10 to 14; Malheur county at Payette lakes, August 10 to 14, and Multnomah county at Rock Creek, August 14 to 19.

The schedule of 4-H club camps under Mrs. Sager's direction includes Klamath county girls, Lake of the woods, July 24 to 30; Josephine county girls at Oak Flats, July 28 to 30; Deschutes county boys and girls, two camps at Suttle lake from July 25 to August 1; Waco-Hood River, boys and girls, Lost Lake, August 7 to 11; Malheur county boys and girls, Payette lakes, August 14 to 17.

Local Rosicrucian
Appointment Made

The Rosicrucians of this community will be represented in their extension activities by Agnes W. Frederick of Lexington. A certificate of appointment as commissioner was received by Mrs. Frederick from the headquarters of the Rosicrucian order (AMORC) in San Jose, Cal., recently.

"The California headquarters of the organization is for the North American jurisdiction. Each country has its various sectional lodges, chapters and extension commissioners," says Mrs. Frederick. "The duties of the commissioners of the extension department are varied. They require the placing of paid advertisements in the various newspapers of the community in conjunction with the national advertising campaign of the Rosicrucian order. The commissioner is also required to analyze the Rosicrucian radio programs if and when broadcast over local stations," states Mrs. Frederick. "The commissioner of this organization donates his service and receives no compensation, for the Rosicrucian order is a fraternity devoted to the dissemination of knowledge of the natural laws of life and the teaching of a philosophy. It is neither a commercial nor a religious organization."

Hundreds Glean
New Crop Ideas
At Branch Farm

Union—A rare new creeping alfalfa, plants suitable for alkali growing, and various grasses seeded with alfalfa were among the new crop possibilities which interested some 500 visitors in three parties that inspected the livestock branch experiment station at Union in July.

Three consecutive field days were devoted to Union county grangers under the leadership of Frank Wright and Clarence Carter; to Baker county farmers led by County Agent P. T. Fortner, and to a Walla Walla county party led by County Agent Garnet Best.

The new creeping alfalfa is expected to be of most value in pastures, if it proves as suitable as early tests indicate. The best alkali plants observed are strawberry clover and Canada wild rye. Both of these have shown more tolerance to alkali than most any other useable forage plant.

The plan of seeding a certain amount of grass with alfalfa in order to prevent wild grasses such as cheat getting a foothold continues to show excellent possibilities in station trials. The best grasses for this purpose appear to be tall oat grass, fairway crested wheat grass, and meadow fescue.

Fertilizer tests observed on the rotation plots indicated best results from manure and phosphorus, with the latter showing distinct increases in yields on grain. Weed control plots drew a great deal of attention from the visitors. Superintendent D. E. Richards has plots where morning glories were killed out by the cultivation method, and others where they have been held in check successfully by alfalfa.

Seed flax plots were of special interest to Union county farmers, many of whom are raising considerable acreages this year. It is estimated that from 1000 to 1200 acres of seed flax will be harvested in the county, some of which will yield as high as 18 bushels to the acre.

F. W. Turner returned home Tuesday night from a business trip to Portland.
