

Four Adventuresses See Canadian Wilds On Three-Week Trip

Photographer and Accountant Report Experiences to Lions

Miss Rose Leibbrand, protographer, and Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers, accountant for a vacation party that included Miss Leta Humphreys and Mrs. Agnes Wilcox, reported their angles of a three-week trip through the Canadian Rockies before the Monday Lions luncheon. Most disconcerting experience was a mosquito raid at Bonners Ferry, Idaho, going. Among most pleasurable incidents were an evening launch ride on Lake Louise, and tea at the famous lake hotel, though a night at Timberline lodge on Mt. Hood on the return was just about equal in nicety to anything experienced on the entire trip.

Miss Leibbrand told of "shooting" moose in the Canadian park, taking shots at Hazelton—farthest point north touched and the present northern end of Three Flags highway—in a heavy downpour, and again photographing clear views in the dense forest fire smoke encountered on the Olympic peninsula. They were completely equipped, photographically, for shooting anything, said Miss Leibbrand, and the rain feat was accomplished by means of periscope finder and protection of an umbrella. The smoke pictures were made with filter and infra-red film.

The ladies stopped at auto camps, travelling in Miss Humphreys' car, and pooled expenses. The money was put in Mrs. Rodger's hands as cashier. Final tabulation after arrival home showed that 3518 miles had been travelled at a total cost for car operation of $138.60, or $34.67 each. The largest amount paid for a cabin was at Banff, where luxurious accommodations were obtained at $5 for one night.

Among points of interest stressed was Fort St. James, original capital of Canada, where the large rambling hotel was equipped with fireplace faced in ore, reduction of which would yield $1000 in gold, it was said.

Most of the Canadian road thru the mountains was washboardly macadam. Generator trouble at intervals caused some grief, and a few storms were gone through that made prospects dark at times. So virgin was most of the country visited that Miss Leibbrand said she felt that Roy Chapman Andrews had nothing on them when it came to exploration.

An oddity of the trip was the purchase of a small original Indian totem pole by Miss Humphreys at Hazelton. Bargaining for it, as real Indian totem poles were not easily had, she purchased it for $2. She then expressed it home. On her return she found that it was still lying at the border awaiting payment of $1.60 duty.

Miss Humphreys is slated to appear before the club next Monday to exhibit pictures which had not been printed when Miss Leibbrand spoke last Monday.

Guests for the day included Mrs. F. W. Turner and Mrs. D. M. Ward. Frank C. Alfred was introduced as a new member.

coach at Pacific university, hit Heppner last Friday afternoon on a scouting trip for football talent . . . he was looking specifically for Johnny Hayes and La Verne Van Marter, guard and halfback respectively on last fall's Mustang eleven. Folgate, a basketball referee of note, is of the opinion that the Oregon-Oregon State series is the toughest working of any in the northern division.

Strange as it may seem, this little ditty is intended to be humorous not sarcastic . . . Henry Aiken, Lee Beckner and Harlan McCurdy, the boys who control the say-so in all Rodeo affairs, have ordered new saddles from Gene Noble . . . using the Noble production while astride rambulating, four-footed Strawberry Roans, this trio of gentlemen, according to secret dispatches, are said to be physically able of sitting in a saddle only once a year, that during Rodeo . . . that's why Aiken, Beckner and McCurdy are called the "three-day cowboys." Yipee!

Political items . . . The state convention of Oregon Republican club will be held at Salem, Sept. 16-17-18 . . . all G. O. P.'s are strongly invited. Since no party members from the 22nd district were nominated in the primaries as candidates for the house of representatives in the state legislature, the Democrats are planning to put a couple of names on the ballot this November . . . the would-be state congressmen, according to Hanson Hughes, will probably be selected from Morrow or Sherman counties.

Those on the inside seem to think that the unannounced queen candidate from Lena will be the girl who went to school in Heppner three years, stayed out one, then finished this spring at Lexington.

Town talk . . . A few counterfeit dollars have been floating around town the last few days, so keep your eyes open; your riches may be laden with illegal money. If the remaining grange dances are as good as the one at Rhea creek last week, then it's a well-known fact that the Saturday night fun-seekers are in for some glee at Lena and Ione. A check-up will probably be made in the near future on autos with inadequate lighting facilities, namely, those with only one light.

Notice . . . Watch for the girls with the ruffled skirts, bustles, and closely allied fittings!!!

QUALIFIES FOR NAVAL WORK

Relatives here have received word that Cecil Espy, son-in-law of Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, recently completed examinations qualifying him for entrance into the naval engineering corps. Should Mr. Espy accept the position, he would be stationed as a staff officer at Bremerton, Wash., for the first two years. With Mrs. Espy, nee Patricia Mahoney, he is now located at Bonners Ferry, Idaho, on government flood control work. Mr. Espy is a graduate of both University of Oregon and Oregon State college and was among the first ten passing the recent examinations.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wilson of Huntington Beach, Cal., are visiting relatives and old-time friends in the county. They spent last week at the mountain camp of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bauernfeind. On the way up they came through southern Oregon just as the coast fires were starting and encountered heavy smoke. Having farmed in the Ione section for many years before going to southern California, they counted as friends many former residents who are now gone, and the absence of whom was noted.
