

Oregon Cropping Practices Aided In 1939 Program

Allotment Details By Counties Will be Released Soon

Minor changes made in the 1939 agricultural conservation program compared with 1938 are in line with recommendations made by growers and should further simplify the program, reports N. C. Donaldson, executive secretary of the state AAA committee who attended the conference on proposed changes in Washington. D. C. Other Oregon representatives were William Enschede, Hillsboro, member of the state committee, and W. L. Teutsch, representing the OSC extension service.

Certain changes affecting crop classifications, such as the use of nurse crops with legumes and the growth of winter legumes with grain, are in line with best Oregon cropping practices, Donaldson points out. Changes in regard to orchard cover crops and maintenance of crested wheat grass plantings were also advocated by Oregon representatives.

Of prime interest to Oregon was the announcement of wheat payments for the coming year. Because of the smaller national allotment for 1939, the payment per bushel for compliance is increased above the 12 cents prevailing in 1938. It is now estimated that this regular payment will amount to 16 to 18 cents per bushel, to which will be added a price adjustment payment of from 10 to 12 cents per bushel, making a total of 26 to 30 cents per bushel for those who cooperate in the program.

This total payment is figured on the normal yield of the allotted wheat acreage for next year, it is explained. These allotments will average about 12 per cent smaller than the 1938 allotments in order to bring the total acreage for the United States down to around 55,000,000 acres. As in the past, there is nothing to compel any grower to stay within his allotment, but only those who do may benefit from these adjustment payments, loan features and related provisions of the farm act.

Detailed county allotments for 1939, prepared by the state committee, have been approved in Washington and will be distributed to the counties in the near future. Soon afterwards the individual farm allotments will be announced so that each grower will know before seeding time what he can plan on if he cooperates.

4-H CLUB BOYS AND GIRLS

exhibits will be shown. A large display of excellent quality will be of interest to everyone. Miss Irene Etter, graduate of Oregon state college and formerly outstanding 4-H club girl for Oregon, will judge this portion of the fair. Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, county school superintendent and county club leader for girls' 4-H club work, is enthusiastic about the quality of work being shown this year.

On all sides 4-H clubs have received splendid cooperation in preparing for their fair. A great deal of credit should be given the Rodeo association and directors, according to Joe Belanger, county agent, for their assistance in making the 4-H club fair a success. The refreshment booth which the club has maintained for the past three years outside the dance pavilion was formerly a source of considerable revenue to the Rodeo association. Since the 4-H clubs have been using this as a means for a fund for sending club members to the state fair, the Rodeo directors have not only donated this location to the club members but have been of material assistance in the actual preparation for this important activity. It is impossible, according to Belanger, to give everyone credit for their assistance for this booth. Ranchers in the country are donating their time to cut expenses for revenue to defray their expenses to the state fair. Many persons may think the county court a dignified, hard boaled trio

Harry Jayne Was Noted First Baseman

Funeral services were held at Boardman Sunday afternoon for Harry H. Jayne, 49, native of Morrow county and long-time Heppner resident before going to Boardman eight years ago, who died at The Dalles hospital last Thursday. Rev. W. O. Miller of Umatilla officiated and the services were largely attended by relatives and friends. Phelps Funeral home of this city was in charge of arrangements. Interment was in Boardman cemetery.

Harry H. Jayne was born at Ione, April 11, 1889, to Daniel R. and Sarah E. (Hathaway) Jayne, natives of New York and Illinois respectively. His childhood days were largely spent in Heppner and he attended the public schools here. As a young man he was especially prominent as a baseball player, and while playing with the Heppner town team gained the reputation of being one of the best first basemen in the "bushes." Many familiar with his ball playing career have remarked that "Jenks," as he was familiarly known, could have made good in the big leagues. Mr. Jayne married Annie A. Shaw at Boardman, November 18, 1931. The family home has been made there since where Mr. Jayne was prominent in civic affairs, serving as a director of the school board at time of death.

Besides the widow, Mr. Jayne is survived by two brothers, Oscar D. and Leroy A., both of Wyoming; two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Elder of this city and Mrs. Gertrude Vance of Oregon City; and three stepdaughters, Edith Heffner, Boise, Idaho; Freda Christopherson, Banks, and Bertie Seeber, Spokane, Wash.

VISIT LONG CREEK

E. O. Ferguson, Luke Bibby, Len L. Gilliam, Rod Thomson and Jap Crawford comprised a party that took in the fight card at Long Creek Saturday night and extended an invitation to attend the Rodeo this week end. Long Creek people, always prominent participants in Heppner's annual show, were most cordial and many folks expressed intention of coming.

School Office to Be Open Next Week

Supt. A. H. Blankenship, who with his family arrived home from summer's vacation Monday evening, announces that the office at the school will be open each morning until noon next week for the convenience of parents who wish to make any arrangements for starting pupils or making up schedules.

He announced that work of putting the school plant in shape for the opening September 6 was progressing nicely. The new lunch room in the girls' basement, with new concrete floor, is undergoing finishing by T. Babb, contractor. N. D. Bailey has completed installation of kitchen cabinet in the domestic science department. Complete renovation and modernization of the boys' lavatory, with concrete construction replacing all former woodwork, is a major item of improvement completed by Babb who also has the new Smith-Hughes building well started and expects to rush it to completion in the next three weeks. The new building will be of wood and stucco construction.

Child Health Clinic Set Here Sept. 2

A child health conference for Heppner and vicinity will be held in Heppner, Friday, Sept. 2, announces Miss Althea Stoneman, county health nurse. All children expecting to enter school this year and younger will be taken at this time for general health check-up including weighing, measuring and complete physical examination. Drs. A. D. McMurdo and R. M. Rice will be the attending physicians.

The clinic will be held at the Christian church.

A second health conference for children of the same age will be held later in the north end of the county, either at Boardman or Irrigon. While both conferences will be open to children from any part of the county, parents are advised to take advantage of the conference most accessible to their homes.

Miss Stoneman is also assisting in arranging for crippled children of the county to take advantage of the free clinic at Pendleton on Tuesday, Sept. 27. This is a sectional clinic, as told in an article in another place, and Morrow county people are expected to report as near 10 o'clock in the morning as possible.

It's 122 days until Xmas but you could never hope to find a better holiday than HOLIDAY showing at the Star Theater, Wed.-Thu., August 31-September 1.
