Alumnus Pledges

Word has been received from Whitman college that Jackson Gilliam, a former graduate of Heppner high, became affiliated with Tau Kappa Epsilon, which is a men's social fraternity. It took place last week, when formal pledging was closed.

Home Economic Club Meets

On Thursday, October 6, the Home Economics club held their first meeting of the year. It was held for the purpose of reorganizing, electing officers, and discussing the activities to be carried out during the year.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Helen Egan; vice-president, Dorothy Howell; secretary-treasurer, Edna Stephens.

It was decided that a candy sale be held at the Heppner-Condon game on Oct. 15. An advertising committee was appointed to give publicity to the activities undertaken by the club. This consisted of Lorraine Bothwell and Isabel McFerrin.

Another suggestion was made that a fancy work sale be held some time before Christmas. All of the girls are to bring some article which they have made and wish to donate to the club. All of the business at hand taken care of, the meeting was adjourned.

Boardman Principal Lost

The most interesting faculty news this week seems to be the hunting trip of Mr. Bennett, Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Corwin.

They were hunting deer at Potamus and camping at Hunter's camp. They went out hunting Saturday morning and Mr. Corwin, principal of the Boardman high school, became lost. Although they hunted the rest of the day for him, when night came they still had found no trace of him. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Sullivan searched in the woods with a flashlight for him until late Saturday night, but were unable to find him. Sunday morning Mr. Bennett got the CCC boys to search along the rims for him where they feared he had fallen and injured himself.

He returned to camp about five o'clock Sunday afternoon, after being put on the right trail by Dr. Tibbles.

Student Opinion on Social Hour

John Crawford—Take it or leave it.
 John Skuzeski—They're a lot of fun.

Emery Coxen—Fine, but need more of them.

Helen Egan—Takes too long to get started.

Milton Morgan—Can stay out longer if on Friday night.

Dorothy Howell—Not long enough.

Harold Armstrong—Too clicky.

Mutterings

Odds are 2 to 1 that a new flame is going to cause an explosion between Applegate and Vaughn. How about it, Jeanette?

Advice to Coxen (and other one-armed drivers): You can't pay attention to your brakes when your mind is on your clutch.

The following consists of a few excerpts from the diary of Dorothy

Howell for the past week: Monday, Milton Morgan; Thursday, Don Bennett; Friday, Lester Taylor, Saturday, Bill Blake; Sunday, Jack Merrill, Monday, Open date; also ran, Bob Applegate.

A revival of last year's senior-freshman love affairs: Willy Stone and Birdine Vance.

A bribe from Sibyl Howell leaves this space vacant.

Frances Egan, will you please accept Harry O'Donnell's invitation to the show Saturday night?

Poem

A silly young fellow name Godfreid In a funeral procession was spied; When asked, "who is dead?" He giggled and said, "I don't know; I just came for the ride."

Have You Ever Wondered—

Why Bill Blake didn't go to Hood River over the week end? (A certain party?)

Why Mr. Peavy bought a pair of square-toed shoes?

Why the football boys aren't wearing their beards again?

Why everyone has been saying, "WHY SURE?"

Why teachers go hunting?

When Art McAtee's next saying will appear—(why sure?)

Why English IV grades have dropped?—(Journalism)

Humor

If a boy is a lad and has a step-father, would the boy be a step-ladder.

Famous Characters—

Robert Taylor—Art McAtee
 Tarzan—Dickie Ferguson
 Martha Raye—Edna Stephens
 Kate Smith—Juanita Phelps
 Snow White—Jeanette Blakely
 Maggie and Jiggs—Frances and Bill

Queen of the Hula—Carolyn Vaughn

Little Henry—Bob Applegate

Harold Teen—Milton Morgan

Mr. Peavy (Finishing a long Algebra problem): "And so we find that x equals zero."

John Crawford: "That's a lot of work for nothing."

Mr. Knox: "Bethal, if we take two comparison graphs, and show rainfall for San Francisco and New Orleans, what is the difference?"

Bethal: "I think it's a lot of baloney, too."

"You'll be very careful on my polished floor, won't you?"

"That'll be all right, ma'am," rejoined the plumber. "We 'as nails in our boots."

One Paris doctor has challenged another to a duel. It has been suggested that instead of using the customary pistols they prescribe for each other.

Billy Padberg: "Where do the bugs go in winter?"

John Lane: "Search me."

Harold Armstrong: "How would you like an ice cream soda?"

Cora Scott: "Fine; I haven't had one in a month of sundaes."

Ten Years From Now

Mr. Peavy will be time-keeper for the Oregon State football games.

We will be going to school in airplanes.

Willow creek road will be paved.

Omer McCaleb will own the Humphrey Drug store.

Robert Scrivner will own a dentist office in our fair city.

Emery Coxen's car will be sparking again.

Betty Jean and Helen Egan will be shooting bottles at the junk pile again.

Sibyl Howell and Dick Bogoger will still be on a scavenger hunt.

Mr. Bennett will have killed his first deer.

GAS HOUSE GOSSIP

By JOE AIKEN

Many people wonder what happened to the local boys when they journeyed to Arlington and lost to the latter. Over-confidence and a sand field did as much to lose the game as any other factor.

The Honkers ran the ball down to the four-yard line, after gaining the ball following a poor kick by Heppner, and completing a long pass, as the whistle blew to end the initial quarter. The Honkers scored upon the fourth down but failed to make the conversion. That was the last time that Arlington pushed the pigskin past the Heppner forty-yard line. After the score, the Honkers went on the defensive, punting on the second down and taking no chances. The Mustangs marched down to the river lads' ten and four, respectively, but failed to score.

The boys, along with plenty of townspeople support, demanded another game with the Arlington lads. This game has been made possible, and will be played Monday, Oct. 31. This date was named at Arlington's convenience, with Heppner having the option to take it or leave it. The local lads have a game with Condon Friday, Oct. 28, at Condon. The boys will have two days' rest until they meet the Honkers on the local field.

In regard to the grade school six-man team, they will definitely play today at Heppner. A probable starting line-up for the Colts will be the following: Quarterback, Barratt; fullback, Kenny; the powerhouse halfback, Batty; center, Cohn; left end, Schunk; right end, O'Donnell. This will be the first official six-man game held at Heppner, and promises to be a good, hard and fast skirmish.

The "So and So" gym classes held an unofficial six-man game. As a result the boys have been nursing sore and stiff muscles for the past week. This was between the Greenway Panthers, managed by Floyd Williams, and the Detroit Tigers, managed by Omer McCaleb. The victors were the Detroit Tigers, by a score of 6 to 0. Johnston proved to be the benefactor, by intercepting a pass and running it over for the only touchdown of the game.

A suggestion has been made that a more orderly conduct be practiced at rallies, and that the participants must stop immediately after the activity has been disbanded.

The original object of a rally is to promote a more universal support toward student activities, but it seems to have failed in its method, and the purpose defeated. The students realize their error and steps will be taken to correct it, but lack of support still prevails.

Here and Yonder

Before the pigskin season is over, Jack Merrill should look the part of a wrestler. He has a new cauliflower ear to start with.

LaVerne Van Marter, Jr., is a promising candidate for the University of Oregon Frosh team. He stated that competition is keen, as there are 28 men out for backfield alone.

Bowman, who was supposed to have appendicitis, recovered very rapidly, and proved to be a great factor in Arlington's victory last Friday.

Now that tennis season is over and the weather isn't in the frame of mind it was this summer, the suggestion has been made that some one take it upon himself to take in the other tennis net. The courts have done much to provide activity and enjoyment among the townspeople and students.

Another Heppner athlete to break into the spotlight again is Len Gilman, who was a big threat last Saturday. This is Len's second year at Pacific university, and one of his biggest. While Len is bagging the pigskin for P. U., his younger brother is lugging it for Heppner now.

Potato Tags to Guide Users of Oregon Spuds

Oregon potato growers are not going to sit idly by and see potatoes from other states crowd the home product off the Portland market, says E. R. Jackman, extension crops specialist at OSC.

The latest move to hold the favor of Oregon consumers is a decision of central Oregon growers to tag Deschutes gems with a distinctive advertising card. These cards will be used only on highest quality potatoes, and will be made available only to reputable growers, says Jackman.

The growers believe the tag idea will aid consumers by insuring them a high quality product.
