Putnam Endorsed

EDUCATORS generally in Oregon favor retention of Rex Putnam in the office of superintendent of public instruction. By its very nature, the office of superintendent of public instruction is largely non-political, and it is unfortunate that partisan politics should enter into the selection of its administrator. Putnam happens to be the democratic nominee, but republican voters should consider his excellent service since appointment by Governor Martin to fill the vacancy left by resignation of Charles A. Howard. Putnam has shown no tendency to make partisan politics in any way a qualification for filling positions of subordinates. He is a trained educator, progressive (educationally), alert and active. There appears little need for a change.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness, and also for the beautiful floral offerings in the illness and death of our loved one.
Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Stout,
Roderick French,
Mrs. Jeff French and family.

Facts for Drivers

From the office of Earl W. Snell, Secretary of State.

Frequently we read newspaper accounts of automobile accidents in which a driver or an occupant of an automobile has been pinned in or beneath the wreckage for several hours, often dying later because of the continued exposure, shock or bleeding.

Death might be averted in many cases if relief for the victim were speedy enough. The first thing to do is to see that men equipped to move the wreck or cut away tangled masses of steel are summoned immediately. Bare hands make a poor substitute for blowtorches and wrecking bars when quick removal of an accident victim is involved.

The second thing is to see that the victim is given proper care after he has been taken from the wreckage. If his injuries are at all serious, he should be kept lying down, warmly covered with coats or blankets, until an ambulance or truck arrives to move him.

Something which few persons realize is the extent to which most accident victims suffer from shock. Their apparent injuries may be slight yet they may develop serious ailments if, after undergoing the shock of an accident, they are carelessly handled or allowed to walk around. One should be on the safe side and keep the injured person as quiet as possible until he has been examined by a doctor.

Farm Bureau Meet Set for Hood River

Oregon Farm Bureau federation will hold its annual convention at Hood River, November 9 and 10, announces Mac Hoke of Pendleton, president. Edward O'Neal, president of the national federation, is expected to be present and an excellent array of speakers is being arranged for.

The committee organization in the Farm Bureau is similar to that of the Eastern Oregon Wheat league, Hoke says, except that separate committees function for various commodities, livestock, wool and sheep, fruit, dairy, nutgrowers and vegetables. Reports will be heard from these committees.

Morrow County Boys Place Wool at P. I.

Morrow county boys showing wool at the recent Pacific International Livestock exposition took the majority of places in the fine wool division of the grade show.
Guy Moore of Heppner placed first in this class Dick Wilkinson, Heppner, third and fifth, and Alex Thompson, Heppner, fourth.

HOMECOMING SET AT OSC

Oregon State College—November 12, the date of the Stanford-Oregon State football game on Bell field, will be homecoming time on the OSC campus this fall. John Ansley of Portland has been appointed general chairman of the homecoming weekend by Bob Walker, student body president.

Features already issued for the entertainment of visitors will be the competitive interfraternity sing established a few years ago, the big noise parade and rally the night before the game, and the colorful animated house signs which always attract thousands on a circuit of the living groups.

BUYS PUREBRED STOCK

O. W. Cutsforth, large wheat operator of the Lexington section, attended an auction sale of purebred dairy cattle near Joseph last week end where he purchased four heifers and a yearling bull. He reported that prices were generally high with demand at this time considerably exceeding the supply. He also purchased a young Morgan horse at the sale.

Reclamation Congress To Learn of Progress

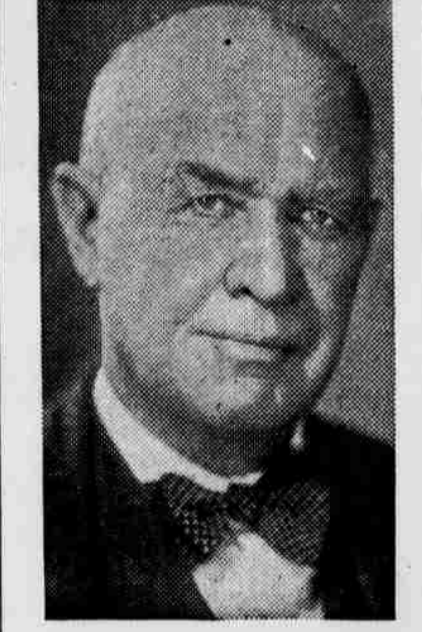

Redmond—Excellent progress with reclamation work during 1938 will be reported to the twenty-eighth annual session of the Oregon Reclamation congress to be held here October 21 and 22, according to an advance summary issued by Dr. W. L. Powers, secretary of the congress and head of the soils department at Oregon State college.

Listed among advancements made this year are dike construction along the lower Willamette and Columbia rivers, surveys and right-of-way clearance on the Deschutes project, additional drains and dike construction in South Warner valley, and a $40,000 drainage cleaning project in the Chewaucan marsh.

Standing committees in charge of the 11-point program of conservation and development of soil and water resources in Oregon will make progress reports at the session. President Frank T. Morgan of Nyssa will present an annual report in which the reclamation situation in Oregon will be summarized. Out-of-state speakers to be heard will include John W. Haw of St. Paul, agricultural and industrial agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad company; W. W. McLaughlin of Berkeley, associate chief of the U. S. bureau of agricultural engineering, and F. O. Hagie, executive secretary of the National Reclamation association.

REWARD Efficient and Faithful Service

RETURN Walter M. Pierce TO CONGRESS

ACTIVITY: Pierce has actively supported Oregon Agriculture and has maintained the same 42c tariff on milling wheat and 43c tariff on wool in effect under former administrations. He has supported every claim for protection of our products when reciprocal tariffs were argued.

SUPPORTED: Irrigation extension, Columbia River Development, Government support for wheat, wool and other agricultural products. Prevented reoccurrence of fatal 1932 prices, in spite of tremendous surpluses.

COMMITTEES: Only Oregon representative on Agricultural committee. On Joint Senate-House Special Forestry Committee. Pacific Coast Representative on Steering Committee.

It takes years of service to get this representation. Do not lose that prestige in Washington.
