Now to Vote

WHEN an enlightened public makes its will known at the polls the greatest safeguard of personal liberty and free democratic government is employed. Without a general expression from such an electorate the door is opened to suppression of liberties and the approach of dictatorship.

Thus it is that every citizen has not only the privilege but the obligation of informing himself on men and issues, and exercising the sacred right of franchise.

It is the duty of every qualified voter to cast his ballot at next Tuesday's general election, if at all possible. Whatever the outcome may be, if the general will is expressed, all departments of government will move forward under the principles of democracy, with all bowing to the majority will.

Only one admonition does this paper wish to make in its last appeal to the electorate before election: A man's past record is the best gauge of future performance. Campaign promises mean little. Men who have been tried and proved are the men who can best be relied upon after they are in office.

Gamble Store Agency Opens Saturday

Heppner's new authorized Gamble Store agency located in the Peters building will be opened Saturday, Nov. 5. Tom Hagerman, owner and manager, has been busily engaged for some time getting the store set up for the opening. New, modern fixtures are being installed.

Everything will be in readiness Saturday, when the people of this community will have their first opportunity to inspect the extensive lines of merchandise handled by this new store. This merchandise consists of automotive supplies, featuring tires and batteries, paints, radios and household necessities.

All stores bearing the "Authorized Agency Gamble Stores" sign are owned by the man operating the store. These merchants are in business for themselves. The investment is theirs—they do their own ordering—they place their own advertising. It is their business. Yet the vast resources of Gamble Stores are behind them.

A Gamble Store agency sells Gamble's merchandise at Gamble's regular low prices. Thus, even a store in a small town can meet mail order and big city prices, rendering a time- and money-saving service. The agency operator's warehouse (or wholesale house) is the nearest Gamble Store, which, because of its nearness, practically eliminates delay and transportation costs. Here he obtains as much merchandise as is necessary to answer the needs of his community. Every item handled in a regular Gamble Store is available to the consumer through Gamble Store agencies.

This new Gamble Store agency is one of 1580 Gamble Stores and Gamble Store agencies now operating in the west and middlewest.

"Monastery" to Have Two Showings Nov. 5

"Monastery," a simple and sincere picturization of the daily ways of activity in the monastery, comes to the Star theater on Saturday afternoon, November 5th, sponsored by St. Patrick's Catholic church. There will be but two showings, one at 1 p. m. and another at 3 p. m.; admission is 40c and 15c for children under 14. Designed to illustrate the contrasting plans of consecrating the monk's days to the realization of the spiritual ideal, and dramatically comparing this modus vivendi with modern man's mania for speed and greed, the film portrays with eloquent effect the active and contemplative sides of a vowed plan of monastery life. The result of this unusual and illuminating revelation is a work of strange and mystical beauty.

The production has been invested with a tender and reverent style of study. The work has been edited with scholarly thoroughness by Rev. Michael J. Ahern, S. J., who also during the unfolding of the film, speaks intelligently concise and lucid lines of commentation. Dedication is made to his Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston and dean of the American hierarchy. A thematic poem, "The Monks," has been translated by the Rev. Thomas B. Feeney, S. J.

The first portion describes the world famed philanthropic work of the Augustinian monks of the Great and Little St. Bernard monasteries in Switzerland, who have devoted their lives to the rescue and care of snow-trapped travelers in the dangerous, mountainous regions. The second section is extremely effective in contrast and illustrates the universal work of the church. From the frigid and barren mountainsides of the Alps, the camera moves down to the fruitful, pleasantly sunned lands of a Trappist monastery in France. In natural and unarranged settings, the arduous existence of this religious congregation, one of the strictest orders in the Catholic church, is presented in austere yet glowingly alive revelations. The monks are pictured at their prayers, recreation and work in the

Would You Want to Go Back?

There has been much said lately about a comparison of 1932 and 1937 farm imports.

HERE IS THE REST OF THE STORY:

Item	1932 price	1937
Wheat	25c	47c
Hay	4.00	10.00
Lambs	3.00	7.00
Cattle	2.75	8.00
Hogs	2.75	7.75
Eggs	.05	.40
Wool	.08	.16

The farm income of the United States in 1937 was $4,272,000,000 more than in 1932. That doesn't look like the farmer has been sold down the river.

Imports of farm products in 1929 exceeded those of 1937 by more than a billion dollars.

kitchen, shop and farm.

Naturally, the work carries chief call for Catholic consumption. However, the production is of such a high level of distinctive entertainment and educational worth that persons of other religious beliefs may well be interested in seeing the film.
