Unfortunate Oversight

The director of the operetta wishes to explain that the omitting of Dorothy Howell's name from the program was by no means intentional, but a careless oversight. Perhaps no one person worked harder and more unselfishly than did Dorothy, and she is well deserving of public recognition. A good accompanist, such as she has proved to be, is an asset to any high school.

Operetta a Success

The operetta, "Ask the Professor," presented by the high school student body last Friday was both a dramatic and financial success. The total receipts were $96.20; the total expenses, $37.86; total profits $58.34. It is to be noted that this year's profits exceed those of last year by $35.00.

To the junior class go the honors of selling more tickets than any other class in high school. To Mary Emma Curran goes the honor of selling more tickets than any other person and also the cash award of $3.00.

The Meaning of Christmas

If Christmas meant no more than a vacation period from school and work, a time of exchanging gifts and visits, a time of feasting, it would be worth while. If this was Christmas, we would hail it with joy.

Christmas means more than that; at least it should, and does. The real Christmas spirit is the spirit of unselfishness, of sympathy, of good will, and of devotion to Him in whose name the festival is celebrated.

So let us remember this in the coming week, and try to keep in mind the true meaning of Christmas.

Peering Into the Past

Five Years Ago . . . Our local band held a concert in the gymnasium; a large crowd was present. . . . The high school students entertained the grades with a program. It consisted of a quartet and two solos, plus a short skit.

Ten Years Ago . . . The student body held an assembly, discussing their plans for Christmas. . . . The juniors put on their annual junior play. It proved to be very successful.

Philandering Philosophies

If men and money are not kept busy, they lose interest.

An optimist is a guy who writes his chemistry equations in ink.

When in Rome, do as Mussolini says.

It is not wise to be wiser than is necessary.

Even a fool may shine in high places, if he refrains from talking.

Always do right. This will gratify some people and astonish the rest.

It is better to give than to lend—and it costs about the same.

Let us be thankful for the fools. But for them, the rest of us could not succeed.

Following lines of least resistance is what makes rivers—and men—crooked.

A really gifted man is one who can ride on the handlebars of a bicycle and still look important.

GAS HOUSE GOSSIP

By JOE AIKEN

The locals neatly tucked a loss under their belts, suffered at the hands of the Hermiston Bulldogs. Heppner has never won a game in the new Hermiston gym, which has been in operation for three years.

Many excuses may be offered; however, the facts reveal that Heppner played a game unbecoming to an experienced team like the Mustangs. Even the best of teams cannot win all their games. Possibly after we have been upon the road for a week or two, the lads will be over the early-season jitters.

Heppner stepped into an early lead over Hermiston, as the score was 6 to 2 at the end of the initial quarter, and 9 to 6 at the half. The first half featured little floor play but plenty of jump balls and fouls, as you might have guessed by the score.

The second half showed neither team better as far as jitters was concerned. From the third period on, it was Hermiston's ball game, hands down. Heppner had 12 gift shots to Hermiston's 19 gift shots.

Heppner played Pendleton B squad Monday night upon Pendleton's home court, defeating the latter 34 to 22. The Mustangs jumped to an early lead, leading the Baby Bucks 10 to 6 at the half. Drake for Heppner and Smith for Pendleton were high point men.

When one goes to Hermiston, he hardly fails to notice the townspeople's support of the high school functions. To two games played in one night, the crowd was almost three hundred—unbelievable, but true. All the entertainment consisted of one girls' game, a boys' game, and a snappy drill team during the half of the boys' game. The band furnished the music. This band was just organized this year, and is getting better as it goes along.

We sincerely congratulate the local people upon their support at the recent operetta. A record crowd attended, which made it a financial success.

The thing which held the eye of the crowd at the Hermiston game was the snappy drill team which went on display during half period. It was composed of three drummers, dressed in white satin skirts and hats, and twelve girls, dressed in white skirts and yellow blouses. All these were led by a cute and snappy drum majorette.

Another highlight was the girl basketball game between Hermiston and Stanfield. The interest shown in the girls' game was very high.

Several students have said from time to time that this school should sponsor a boxing team. This is a novel idea, as the only way one can box is to join the F. F. A. or belong to the "H" club. This eliminates several lads who are fairly good, who otherwise could enter in the activity. When, if it were a major sport, as it is in Portland and Mac Hi, letters should be awarded and an interschool competition be established. It might mean in due time that some fairly good men would be developed by just such steps.

Here and Yon

The most outstanding example of true sportsmanship was the time when number one school was playing number two. Number 2 was upon number 1's two-yard line and fourth down. The play was a line smash, and it looked as though the ball was over, but the ball was number 1's, first and ten upon their own one-foot line. No. 1 took time out. In the huddle the lad who stopped the last play told the captain that the No. 2 lad was over but he pushed him back. The captain called a punt and stood in his own end zone. He received the pass from center but instead of kicking, he set the ball upon the ground and fell upon it, making the score No. 1, 0, and No. 2, 2. The final gun sounded, ending the game.

A lad in some Washington school was high point man for both teams. He made 18 points for his own team, and two for the opposing. The final score was 24 to 2.

Hither and Thither

Do you suppose that one reason we lost the game could have been that Milton's thoughts were with a certain Oregon State girl?

Don't look now, but the other day in school I heard Pete Stone murmuring "Fall in Love" over and over again to Caroline McRoberts. You had better take care of Pete, Connit. He might go astray.

We never thought that it would get to the point where Bill Barratt had to use the rear entrance to evade all his feminine admirers.

This affair of Shirley and Wilbur's seems to be quite serious. Of course, Shirley, it is interesting to delve into unknown and unexplored fields.

Dubby doesn't mind the cold. He has a red-head to keep him warm.

The editor seems to be playing cupid this week by pairing up certain well-known love teams.

Now that the college boys are all home, the girls are all sitting around waiting for that Saturday night invitation.

Well, well, another freshman and senior romance. Congratulations, Dick; we all think Lucille is pretty nice.

It's reminiscing time for Floyd Williams. He is bringing out all of his old souvenirs from Pendleton days.

Lee Pettyjohn's face is still red from Saturday night.

What's the matter, Laura. Don't you like butcher boys?

Jack Healy only lives one block from Caroline, yet it takes him an awfully long time to get home.

Humor

To the carpenter: Let us emulate his plane living, his square dealing, and his level headedness.

Mr. Blankenship, in Economics: "Let's jump back to when I was in school."

Art McAtee: "I can't jump that far."

John Crawford: "I would like to have a globe of the earth."

Thomas Gonty: "What size, sir?"

John: "Life size, of course."

Be a Booster

If you think your school the best, Tell 'em so.

If you'd have it lead the rest, Help it grow.

When there's anything to do, Let them always count on you—

You'll feel good when it is through Don't you know?

If you are used to giving knocks, Change your style.

Throw bouquets instead of rocks For a while.

Let the other fellow roast, Shun him as you would a ghost;

Meet his banter with a boast And a smile.
