KOAC PROGRAM LEAFLETS OUT

Corvallis—Leaflets outlining programs over radio KOAC for the months of January, February and March have now been issued and are available for free distribution. In addition to the regular daily listings, five conference basketball games will also be broadcast from Oregon State college, the dates being February 3, 4, 13, 14 and 18. The outline of programs not only includes an hour-by-hour schedule for each day but also provides a brief description of regular features as sent from the main studio at Oregon State college and the branch studio at University of Oregon where programs now originate daily except Saturday and Sunday.

Establishment of school safety patrols, to guard school crossings at opening and closing hours and at noon, is a project of the Hood River Lions club. Similar patrols have established a long record of service and success in many other Oregon communities. The Hood River patrol members will have the regulation white Sam Browne belts and other insignia.

HARDMAN NEWS

Church Meetings On at Hardman

By Hardman High School
Special church services have been held each evening except Wednesday since January 7, when Frank Moon and Alvin Kleinfeldt held the first one. Mr. Moon is assisted by Mrs. Moon, Miss Anna O'Sanders and Mrs. Neal Knighten. They will continue for some time. On Monday evening eight persons came out from Heppner, two of whom, Mr. Barlow and Mr. Kleinfeldt, sang a duet.

Mrs. Tyndal Robison spent the week end at their mountain home.

Carey Hastings was not able to return to work at Greener's Monday because he is ill with the flu.

Mrs. Neal Knighten taught Wednesday while Mrs. McCutcheon went to the doctor. She has a bad cough, the after effects of flu. Neal Knighten took her in.

Henry and Tommy Graham were visitors in Condon Friday and Saturday.

The Hardman high school gave a party in the auditorium Saturday evening. Everybody had a good time for the attendance was good, with a number of persons coming from Eight Mile and other neighboring places. A pot luck supper was served at 11 o'clock. The musicians were Jim Stevens, Ed McDaniel, Irl Clary, Marvin Saddler, Tommy Graham, Herbert McDaniel, Harry Owens and Vera McDaniel.

Mrs. Lucy Rodgers came out Monday to give semester tests to the pupils in Mrs. Brannon's room.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Knighten, Mrs. Lewis Knighten and A. D. Inskeep attended the funeral of Howard Lane Tuesday.

Buddy Batty was in town Monday and spent the night at the Lewis Batty home.

Miss Creth Craber visited the high school and friends here Thursday.

What was undoubtedly the most thrilling basketball game ever held on the Fossil floor was witnessed when the Heppner Mustangs ventured across country to tangle with the league-leading Falcons, Saturday evening.

The Mustangs overcame a six-point lead in the last three minutes of play to beat the Fossil quint, 26 to 25.

A first-quarter score of 13 to 13 made the superiority of either team all the more questionable, although the score at the half showed the Falcons leading by 15 to 18.

Two fighting teams, one struggling to hold the coveted top bracket of the league and the other resolved to acquire the position, returned to the floor to boost the third quarter score 17 to 21, still favoring Fossil.

Fossil drew a good lead in the first minutes of the last quarter, but with three minutes remaining in the ball game, a re-enlivened crew of Mustangs took up where Fossil's scoring left off. The score board showed Fossil leading, 25 to 24, with one minute to go. While Fossil proceeded to stall, Heppner fought for the ball and got it and after dodging between over-excited spectators lining the floor, Drake let go for a basket just as the referee blew the whistle ending the game; however, the battle was not over. The game had been ended by the official time-keeper, whose whistle was not heard above the roar of the crowd, prior to the referee, ending the game. Basket did not count—Fossil wins, 25 to 24—the battle rages—a check-up on the score board revealed a slight error; it had failed to tab a Heppner basket. The official score book gave the final score—Heppner wins, 26 to 25.

The Heppner B squad also supplied a thrill or two by overcoming a distinct lead to total 22 points to Fossil's 17, making their 4th straight win.

Drivers who are leaving parking places at the curb must be careful to yield the right of way to closely approaching automobiles, and wait until they can safely pull into the traffic stream, Secretary of State Earl Snell declares. Many persons mistakenly think it is up to the driver in the street to watch for cars pulling out of parking places, and give way to them.

The lowering of the traffic accident rate in Oregon has been strongly felt by insurance companies in this state, many of which have operated with reduced premiums because of the smaller amount of claims being paid out. One large general insurance firm in Salem reports adjusting but a single motor vehicle accident claim of any size during 1938.
