OSC Has Staff Men In Science Who's Who

Oregon State College—That this institution is the "scientific center" of the state of Oregon is indicated by the fact that current "who's who" of the scientific world, "American Men of Science," includes biographical sketches of 83 members of the staff of Oregon State college.

Other colleges and universities in Oregon are well represented, however, University of Oregon being second with 22, mostly in the social science fields.
