

JUNIOR CLASS TO PRESENT PLAY

Friday, March 17, Date Set for Presentation of "The Lucky Accident," at Gym-Auditorium

Just one week from tomorrow on Friday, March 17, in the high school gym-auditorium, the junior class will present the three-act farcical comedy, "The Lucky Accident." Curtain is promptly at 8 and the length of the play will not interfere with plans of those wishing to go to the St. Patrick's dance.

A summary of the play is as follows: Leslie Noyes, played by Don Jones, is in love with Fern Hunter (Norma Prock) and is anxious to marry her. Fern favors his suit, but Mrs. Hunter (Carolyn Vaughn), her mother, claims that Leslie is much too stupid to marry into the Hunter family. So when Walton Knox (Harry Tamblin), a former resident of the town they live in, returns home and is obviously a great financial success in the business world, Mrs. Hunter gives a party in Walton's honor and does all she can to further his suit. It happens that Walton, too, is enamored of Fern's charms.

Then Les Noyes meets with an accident! Stopping to tie his shoelace under a falling ladder, he receives a head injury. Doctors are summoned and the forehead is bandaged. From the moment that Les receives his blow on the head, his entire demeanor changes, in fact, he becomes an entirely different person. He engages a loft and leases it for a year, using it to manufacture one of his inventions. However, when his friends hear what the invention is, they immediately think his senses have taken another vacation.

When the bandage is removed, it is discovered that the bump that everyone thought was responsible for Les's newly acquired brilliance has healed, and the accident that he suffered was in reality a lucky one. To show the effects are permanent, he puts over a smart business coup and becomes one of the town's most enterprising business men.

Other talent displayed will be: Nellie Lawson, Jeanette Blakely, who collects magazine coupons; Grace Pike, Cora Scott, who collects evidence; Lotta Noyes, Margaret Doolittle, a society matron; Homer Migniness, Harold Armstrong, a wealthy business man; Amelda Ames, Lois Jones, a housemaid who cannot collect her salary; Honey Hunter, Shirley Wilson, their youngest daughter, who collects secrets; Humbird Hunter, Kemp Dick, the husband, who cannot collect anything.

With J. Logie Richardson, Arnold Sharp and John Skuzeski taking the lead, a delegation appeared before the council asking that peddlers competing with local business houses be made to pay something for the privilege to partly offset the money local business firms pay for taxes and other purposes that tend to make Heppner grow. While it was cited that Heppner has the "Green River" ordinance which, in other places has effectively prevented peddlers from trespassing upon private property, there does not appear sufficient regulation of all types of competition, the delegation said. Mr. Richardson proposed that a privilege license be placed upon every business in the city to assist in protecting all business against the transient competition.

Following the delegation's hearing, Mayor Bleakman appointed Councilmen Mahoney, Ferguson and Tibbles as a committee to investigate what procedure might be taken to satisfy the delegation's desires.

Council voted unanimously to contribute $100 to the box factory site fund, with those speaking on the subject expressing the belief that all property within the city will benefit, hence is entitled to stand part of the cost. Mr. Mahoney, speaking for the solicitation committee, reported that the county court had likewise contributed $100 because of the favorable reflection upon property values the box factory would make generally over the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kleinfeldt have accepted a call to the church at Burley, Idaho, so this will be their last Sunday in Heppner. Farewell messages will be given Sunday morning and evening in this church. This will come as a surprise to many of our dear friends. Some feel it will be a set-back to the church. We have never thought it would or we would have never made the decision to leave. Often we have felt that another minister would be able to help those whom we have failed to reach. In a short time another minister will be here and the work will continue and grow. Through all of these days of decision we have sought the Master's guidance and have tried to follow His will.

Throughout the past four years and two months we have been happy here among many loyal and sacrificing Christians and with little exception the work has been pleasant. This length of time is over the average for our smaller churches and is the average for the last four ministers who served this church. The prospects at Burley indicate a long and happy ministry there.

We regret to part from the fine supporters of the church and the splendid young people who have worked with us. It is also hard to say good-bye to friends in other churches and some who have belonged to no church and to fellow ministers. Our hope is that the community will respond immediately to the support of our successors so that they may carry on from where we leave off.

Grange Sets Vote On Building Site

By MRS. E. M. BAKER

The building committee of Willows grange has been working for some time to obtain a suitable site for a new hall. We have tried to obtain a site on the Seymour Wilson property on Willow creek but since we have been unable to do so, we have had to look elsewhere for a site. Several people have offered to donate sites and after looking at all these we have chosen the best two. Ralph Akers will donate a site on the north side of the highway and at the east end of his property. This is at the east end of the flat across from the Akers house.

Elmer Griffith will donate a site on his property, which joins the Morgan school grounds on the north. At the next regular meeting of Willows grange on March 11 these two sites will be discussed and voted upon. All members are urged to be present to vote on this question. This is a question which is of vital importance to every member and to the future of our grange, so be present to cast your vote.

As soon as the question of a site is settled, plans will go forward in preparation for building the hall which we plan to build later this spring.

The meeting on March 11 will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and following the meeting there will be a dance to which the public is invited.

STUDY TSCHAIKOVSKY

The life and works of Peter Illyitch Tschaikevsky was the theme of Heppner Music club's meeting at the home of Mrs. Russell McNeill, Tuesday evening with Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers as program leader. Program numbers included Andante Cantabile, violin solo by Margaret McDaid accompanied by Virginia Dix; vocal trio, Rachel Forsythe, Coramae Ferguson, Margaret McNeill, accompanied by Virginia Dix; vocal solo, "None But the Lonely Heart," Lucy Peterson accompanied by Elizabeth Blankenship. Neva Cochell played the theme of the 4th symphony, and Margaret McNeill that of the 6th symphony. Mrs. Lilian Turner discussed the famous "Nutcracker Suite," after which records were played by means of the new phonographic pick-up device.

IS FORD SERVICE MAN

Recent newcomers to Heppner are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Walker and son who have taken residence in the Kenny house on Center street. Mr. Walker is Ford service man at Rosewall-Gentry Motor company. Schooled as a boy at Waitsburg,

Wash., he had long service with both General Motors and Ford in factory and as travelling service man for many years, operated Chevrolet garage at Waitsburg in 1927. Misfortune caused Mr. and Mrs. Walker to lose one boy and a girl within a year's time. The youngest son was born at the Tom Boylen farm near Pine City, this county, when Mr. Walker was a service man on the road and duty called him there. The Walkers have a farm adjoining that of Emerson Wheeler, newspaperman, at Waitsburg. Just for oddity's sake, Mr. Walker says that while he and his family lived at Waitsburg at widely spaced intervals, residence in the Washington town was so spaced that himself and each of his boys started to school in the same primary and the same room in the Waitsburg school.

Mission Society to Observe 70th Year
